PLOT TO KILL AMERICANS IS REPORTED

Passengers on Japanese Boat Declare Drunken Men in Crew Were Prevented From Murder By Ship's Officers

Reply to Toast By Dan Frawley, Veteran Theater Man, At Dinner on Birthday of Mikado Starts Row Brewing

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—A plot to kill Americans on board the Siberia Maru, which docked at San Francisco today from Honolulu, and the foiling of the plans by the Japanese ship's officers after the crew, intoxicated on sake, had armed themselves with revolvers and knives, was told today by passengers.

According to Dr. E. D. Tenney, for thirty-eight years in the United States diplomatic service in the east, and who was also a personal representative of Herbert Hoover during the war, the trouble started following a dinner held two days out of Honolulu in honor of the Japanese emperor.

Captain H. Nagano, in command of the ship, speaking at the dinner, declared Japan to be a country capable of taking care of herself. At the close of his speech, according to Tenney, Captain Nagano declared Japan to be the coming nation of the world.

At this juncture, Tim D. Frawley, theatrical man, rose from the table without invitation and made response.

FRAWLEY'S REPLY TO TOAST IS POINTED

Briefly, according to Tenney and others of the passengers, Frawley warned Captain Nagano that any effort on the part of Japan to "set a foothold in California would prove to him that the country which he had just praised was not all he had depicted it." This, according to passengers, brought silence. Everyone quietly left the table with polite bows to their host.

Following the dinner the crew heard of the remark passed by Frawley. At the time, officers later found, they were intoxicated and the news only served to further excite them. A steward learned of the danger that threatened and warned the passengers. The Americans quietly retired to their staterooms where they remained locked in during the night.

The reported attack was to have taken place at midnight, according to information received by the ship's officers. Some of them, it is said, opposed it, which caused trouble. A fight resulted in which several of the members, including one of the engineers, were injured by a knife. The officers rounded the men up below decks. After an hour they were quieted and the remainder of the trip was without disturbance.

APOLOGY TO CAPTAIN IS PEACE HARBINGER

According to Dr. Tenney, Frawley apologized to the captain of the ship the following day which served to establish friendly relations. Frawley told Captain Nagano that he had uttered the statement in anger and that after thinking it over he thought an apology was appropriate.

According to the passengers the ship's officers issued a statement the day following the trouble in which it was declared that the report was circulated by some of the drunken sailors and that no effort had been made to secure arms. According to Dr. Tenney, whose story is backed by many of the passengers, over fifty men were armed with knives and revolvers and prompt action of the officers, and failure of the entire crew to agree to the plot, prevented what might have resulted in the murder of several American passengers.

Wife of MacSwiney Will Continue Fight

By WEBB MILLER.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Muriel MacSwiney, still bedfast from an illness which threatened her life, planned today to continue her fight for Ireland.

Physicians feared for Mrs. MacSwiney life following her collapse, made especially dangerous by her condition. Much of the last conversations she had with the Lord Mayor in the long vigils in Brixton jail had dwelt on the expected arrival in the family. Her collapse, after testifying before the coroner's jury, robbed her of this hope.

Mrs. MacSwiney was taken to the home of friends, where she has been under the care of Miss Kathleen O'Brien.

No More Relief Workers Will Be Sent Near East

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Conditions in Asia Minor and Turkey in Europe are so serious that the Near East relief will not run the risk of sacrificing American lives by sending further relief workers to the war-torn areas.

This announcement was made today by the Near East relief following receipt of cables from Constantinople reporting that J. P. Coombs is held by Turkish nationalists at Samsoun. Coombs is director of the relief activities in the Samsoun region.

Fear for the safety of other members of Coombs' detachment was also expressed. Besides Melville Catter, a writer, who accompanies Coombs on all his tours of inspection through the war areas, the party consist of five Americans, three of them are women. At last advices these were quartered at Samsoun and reported safe for the immediate present.

The five Americans mentioned are Gertrude E. Knox of Providence, Rhode Island; George T. Pomorey of Burbank, Cal.; Marjorie D. Pfeifer and Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. McDowell of New York.

Growth of Bolshevik Groups Causes Government to Speed Troops

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—Frequent armed conflicts, resulting in many deaths, are occurring between Socialists and Liberals in Yucatan, and despatches declare the serious situation which developed last week continues.

After receiving a detailed report of disorders from General Mange, commander of the federal troops in Yucatan, Minister of War Calles ordered "all necessary measures" to be taken to give security to all inhabitants. General Calles directed that all members of political parties be disarmed.

General Mange declared he had been told by a group of men who had been captured carrying rifles and bombs that Socialists and Liberals engaged in a battle last Friday in the village of Tecanto. The Socialists were entrenched behind hemp bulwarks which they had thrown across all roads leading to the village, it was asserted.

150 LIVES LOST IN YUCATAN FIGHTING

By RALPH H. TURNER.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—One hundred and fifty lives have been lost to date in fighting between Socialists and Liberals in the state of Yucatan. The government has rushed 600 troops to quell the fighting by the Socialists, who are attacking Heredia, the capital, Motul and Tecato.

Socialist fighters, crudely organized and poorly outfitted, were said to rush to the attack shouting "Viva l'republica soviet."

Coincident with the Socialist fighting, agitation for a general strike in Mexico was pressed by Communist societies.

Government officials today admitted the strike situation had assumed serious proportions. A meeting called today by the "Mexican Communistic Federation of the Proletariat" was to vote on all workers in the federal district, including Mexico City, joining a general strike.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Charles Ervin, editor of the New York Call, Socialist daily, said today he had received from his correspondent in Yucatan the following explanation of the fighting there between Socialists and so-called Liberals.

"The Socialists of Yucatan two years ago were governing Yucatan and distributing the land to the people. The Carranzistas came in and drove out the Socialists, setting up a reign of terror. These Carranzistas of two years ago are the Liberals of today. Now Huerta is in power and the Socialists have arisen against the Liberals, who killed thousands of Socialists and were guilty of all sorts of cruelties. Under the Socialist regime Yucatan enjoyed peace and prosperity. The Socialists are fighting to re-establish those conditions."

Full Ranks Ordered For Army Division

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Telegraphic orders were sent today to the army recruiting service to recruit the Second Division to full strength. It was explained at the War Department that under the provisions of the National Defense Act one division of the army must be kept at full strength, and that the second division had been selected as the unit to be maintained at full strength.

The division, which is stationed at Camp Travis, Tex., is 6000 short of its full strength, and the War Department said that the recruiting service never before in time of peace had been given a similar task. Major-General James G. Harbord, who was General Pershing's first chief of staff in France, commands the division.

MORSE QUITS MAJORITY IN CITY COUNCIL

"I Have Been Chafing For Six Months and Am Now Willing to Let Others Go Alone," Says Commissioner

Refusal to Follow Soderberg's Lead on the Parr Lease Leads to Break: Davie and Baccus, Minority, Stand Pat

"I have been chafing for six months and am now willing to let the other four go alone."

With these words Commissioner F. F. Morse today took out of the realm of rumor the story that there had been a split in the so-called majority faction in the city council, and that the "Morse-Soderberg-Edwards" combination has lost one of the three units necessary to control.

Following yesterday's episode, when Morse refused to follow Soderberg's lead concerning the Parr waterfront transactions and voted with Baccus and Mayor Davie, the rumor sprang into the center of attention.

OPPOSITION TO PARR CAUSE OF REACTION

It has been said for some time that the three commissioners, who hold the majority of the council and therefore the power, do not see exactly alike in many things. In the case of the Parr lease, which was first handled by Morse when commissioner of public works, Soderberg's consistent opposition to Parr and all his works is causing, it is said, a serious reaction in the mind of Morse, under whose regime Parr came to the waterfront.

Political observers hint that the matter is deeper than this. They point out that Morse is coming up for re-election in the spring.

Commissioner Edwards said last evening that he knew of no defection by Morse, and does not believe there is any "combination" anyhow. He said:

"If Baccus or Mayor Davie are in the right on any subject, I am always willing to vote with Baccus and Davie."

Edwards commented that the Parr matter had caused Morse some irritation.

COUNCIL MINORITY "STANDING PAT"

Baccus and Mayor Davie, the "minority" of the council, are said to be "standing pat" and saying nothing. With Morse they would become the majority, unless Morse should play a lone hand.

Observers say that with an election coming up, they are prepared to see Morse standing aloof from all factions.

Rumors and whispers are rife in the city hall that the "combination" is near an end. In crossing Soderberg in one of his pet dislikes against Fred Parr, it is whispered by those supposed to be "in the know," that Morse has crossed his Rubicon.

Man Who Slew Wife's Suitor Under Arrest

Ran Out of Bullets Or He Would Have Killed Self. He Declares.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Antonius Frangos, wanted for the murder of George Prattis at a local hotel Sunday, was arrested at a Haight-street hotel today by police detectives. A murder charge was placed against him immediately.

"I couldn't kill myself because I ran out of bullets," Frangos told the police.

The gun with which Prattis is alleged to have been killed was found by the police in Lafayette Park, near the scene of the shooting.

Frangos told the police that he and his wife lived in Portland until a year ago.

"We left Portland in order to elude Prattis," Frangos declared. "We gave up our restaurant business there to get away from him.

"Sunday afternoon I decided to break up the relations between Prattis and my wife."

He said he took a revolver belonging to a cousin of his and went to a hotel where he believed he would find Prattis and his wife. He met them in the lobby, and the shooting followed. Frangos ran from the hotel and became lost in the crowds on the street. He said he had not left San Francisco since the shooting.

OAKLAND TO GAIN BIGGER INDUSTRIES

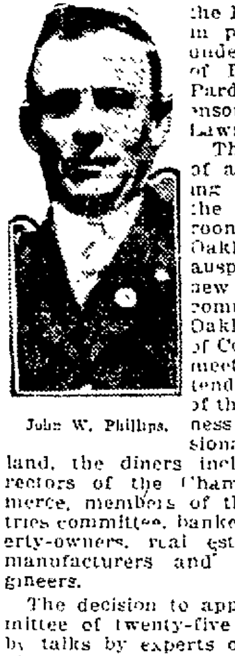
Committee of Twenty-Five is Being Formed, Under the Auspices of the Commerce Chamber, On New Plants

Advantages of City in Being Dividing Line of Population Shown; Plans Are Made For Selecting Needed Sites

Formation of a committee of twenty-five to make Oakland "realize its manifest destiny" as the greatest industrial city on the Pacific coast is in progress today, under the direction of Dr. George C. Pardee, A. S. Lavenson and V. O. Lawrence.



John W. Phillips.

This is the result of a dinner meeting last night in the south banquet room of the Hotel Oakland, under the auspices of the new industries committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was attended by eighty of the leading business and professional men of Oakland, the diners including the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the new industries committee, bankers, large property-owners, real estate operators, manufacturers and industrial engineers.

The decision to appoint the committee of twenty-five was preceded by talks by experts on the various phases of the industrial growth of the mainland. Ralph Merritt told the gathering that California was now the largest grower of long staple cotton in America, the San Joaquin valley having revived an industry that was prosperous in the late 60s, but died out for lack of labor.

Merritt also said that Orientals were poor cotton pickers, because their short fingers tore the cotton from the bolls.

OAKLAND HAS GREAT INDUSTRIAL ASSET

H. A. Lafler, industrial engineer, quoted from the 1920 census to show that Oakland is the dividing line of one-half of the population of the Pacific coast, 2,783,000 people living to the north and the same number to the south of the line. This, he said, was a great industrial asset, as manufacturers desired to locate their plants in the center of population.

John W. Phillips, chairman of the New Industries committee, who presided, brought forth a loud cheer when he announced:

"The New Industries committee is first for Oakland. If we can't land a new industry here, then we are for the San Francisco bay section. And if we can't place it there, then we are for California."

N. B. Campbell, assistant cashier of the First National bank, said that Oakland was favored as the location for a big eastern garment maker, an automobile accessory plant, an assembling plant and a truck body factory, but that floor space in already erected buildings, or buildings to be erected, was lacking. Oakland's greatest drawback in attracting new industries, he said, was the lack of available buildings.

PLAN IS PRESENTED FOR FACTORY BUILDINGS

Lafler followed with his figures on population, asserting that in view of that fact few manufacturers would seek to locate as far north as Seattle and Portland, or as far south as Los Angeles and San Diego, provided they could be assured of suitable buildings in Oakland.

Captain E. B. Field, industrial engineer with the Walter H. Leimert company, proposed that a stock company be organized to erect small factory buildings as they might be needed here. He presented a plan returning 6 per cent net to the stockholders and asserted that for every 1000 square feet leased the community would gain four or five workers with their families.

H. L. Perry, manager of the T. & D. theater, said that five big theaters were seeking to come to Oakland but had been unable to find suitable land.

Roy V. Woods, one of the original engineers for the Bush terminals in Brooklyn, proposed a large "factory incubator" building to be leased at terms which would return 6 per cent to the stockholders. His plan embraced a central heating and power plant, warehousing and freight terminals. Woods figured that the returns from handling the freight and the service departments would care for the entire overhead.

RAW MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE HERE

Fred W. LeBallister, industrial engineer, described the raw materials available for Oakland manufacturers, saying that a $40,000,000 cocoanut oil concern was planning to come to Oakland, and that large rubber manufacturers would follow if proper arrangements could be made.

J. J. McElroy, real estate operator and land owner, pointed out the lack of a wholesale district here, asserting that such goods were ferried across to San Francisco and then ferried back to the mainland for sale. He estimated that every dollar spent in this direction meant from $100 to $1000 additional to the community in merchandising.

President Walter D. Cole of the Chamber of Commerce suggested the formation of a committee of twenty-five to work with the New Industries committee in a joint campaign to bring new industries to Oakland, and Dr. Pardee, Lavenson and Lawrence were put in charge of the organization of such committee.

Duchess of Marlborough Granted Divorce; Duke Fails to Contest

Charges of Infidelity Win Decree; Courtroom Takes On Appearance of Scene of Brilliant Social Affair

Former Consuelo Vanderbilt, Ill At Nice, is Not Able to Attend Trial in London: Marital Troubles Reviewed

By EARLE C. REEVES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A decree of divorce was granted today to the Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt of New York. The Duke was charged with infidelity. Detectives gave evidence that he occupied a room at the Claridge hotel in Paris on February last with a woman and that he registered as "Charles Spencer."

Although the case was listed as "defended," the Duke offered no defense in court. The costs of action were imposed on the Duchess.

The Duchess was not in court. A certificate from her physician was read, stating that she was too ill to attend. She is now at Nice.

A large and fashionable crowd was on hand when the case was called for trial before Justice Horridge in the divorce court.

TRIAL LOOKS LIKE SOCIAL FUNCTION

A line of stately monogrammed limousines deposited their burdens of high society folk at the law courts building and the scene took on the appearance of a brilliant social function. But it was not an affair for the inner circles exclusively. Many women of humbler walks of life sought entrance to hear the details of mismated life among the rich aristocracy. They were deeply disappointed over the absence of the Duchess.

The Duchess is the daughter of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York and Newport. She has two sons, Lord Blanford and Lord Ivor Churchill. It is rumored in London and Paris that the Duchess will marry Jacques Balzan, a wealthy French sportsman, and live in Paris.

The domestic troubles of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough dates back nearly fourteen years. It was nearly 25 years since the Duchess fell a victim to the glamour of an ancient title. The Duke with vast but impoverished estates was on a visit to the United States. A wealthy marriage to him was a necessity.

TOOK NO INTEREST IN HOME AFFAIRS

"You can have your pick of the rich American heiresses," was the lesson that had been dinned in his ears since early youth, and marrying Miss Vanderbilt he was conscious of conferring a favor. The first child, Lord Blandford, was born in 1897, the second was born in 1898.

The Duke took but a passing interest in domestic affairs; his interests were mainly outside his home. In appearance the Duke is a slight, undersized figure, with a shambling gait and fast-thinning reddish hair. He speaks in a high-pitched voice, and like his cousin, Winston Churchill, the secretary of war, he has a decided lisp which he cannot overcome.

Friends of the Duchess declare that she never received any connubial comfort from him. They describe him as grasping and selfish and a strong believer in the divine right of nobility. The estrangement between the couple began shortly after their marriage and a divorce seemed imminent, but the late King Edward, who loved to dabble into affairs of high society as an arbiter, patched up the differences.

In 1907 the Duchess announced that she would no longer live with her husband.

A deed of separation was drawn up and it was arranged for the chil-

Reindeer Will Carry Food to Ice-Bound Ship

Sledges to Start From Nome To Relief of Crew of Stranded Polar Bear.

A sledging expedition in which reindeer will be used in place of dogs is to set out from Nome to rescue the crew of the power schooner Polar Bear caught in the ice off the Siberian coast, according to word brought down from Nome today by Captain Peterson of the power schooner Herman. The relief party will set out as soon as the ice sets in the Arctic straits and hopes to be able to bring the men back to Nome or at least to take them a fresh supply of provisions.

POLAR BEAR 225 MILES FROM NOME

The cargo of furs, on board the Polar Bear until a few weeks ago, has been brought to port in the schooner Fox which arrived here three weeks ago so that the trapped vessel with its crew and two months of rations is practically without cargo. The position of the Polar Bear is given by wireless as 225 miles north of Nome. She was on her way to Point Barrows at the end of a successful hunting season for her owners, H. Liebes & Co.

USE OF REINDEER IS INNOVATION

If the relief party is not able to reach the ice-bound vessel by the time the supply of food runs low, mariners point out, the crew can take to the ice and make their way to the Siberian coast as did the crew of the whaler Belvedere when she was crushed in the floes in the same vicinity. The use of reindeer in a relief expedition, it is said, will be the first of the kind in the Arctic Straits regions.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—A man hunt in southern California, participated in by authorities of four counties and government forest rangers, aided by seven airplanes and scores of automobiles, was in progress this afternoon in quest of one of two bandits who killed Constable G. H. Glidden at Lancaster this morning.

Glidden was shot when he attempted to question the desperadoes, believed from their descriptions to be ex-convicts. The men fled from Lancaster in an automobile. Two hours later the younger of the two criminals was cornered by a posse of officers in the desert country near Palmdale and was shot to death after an exchange of shots.

Sheriff John C. Cline of Los Angeles county left here in an airplane to direct the search for the missing bandit. In the same vicinity six airplanes ordered out by the United States forestry service are scouting over the desert country.

Another gun battle is expected when the desperado is located.

When they learned of the man hunt, Sheriffs Newell of Bakersfield, McMartin of Ventura, and Shay of San Bernardino all sent heavily armed forces in automobiles toward the Mojave section to aid the deputies from Los Angeles.

Supervisor Shirley Allen and Supervising Inspector R. H. Charlton of the government forestry service ordered by wireless all available rangers to watch the approaches to canyons.

Papers found upon the dead bandit carried the name of L. McCabe of Mingo, Ia., recently employed as boilermaker at Oakland. No positive identification was made, however.

The automobile the bandits used was found to have been stolen in San Francisco.

DALLES, Ore., Nov. 9.—Skeletons and relics uncovered at Big Eddy, Oregon, near here last week, are hundreds and perhaps thousands of years old, and are of such importance as to justify complete excavation of the site where they are being found, declared George H. Himes, curator and assistant secretary of the Oregon Historical Society, today after making a complete investigation of the entire "find."

EUROPE READY TO WAIVE TERMS ON U. S. CO-OPERATION

By L. C. MARTIN,
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Preliminary work on the plan for an "association of nations" promised by President-elect Harding is well along, it was learned here today.

"Conversations" now going on between certain influential Republicans and persons in foreign capitals have already developed interesting facts [illegible] wards an entirely new association.

These exchanges have been, of course, entirely unofficial and informal, and Harding has had nothing to do with them. The information thus obtained however is regarded as a much franker expression of foreign views than if it were official.

The whole of a considerable correspondence between certain Americans and their European friends in three countries, extending over many weeks, shows a distinct willingness to meet Harding at least half way. Through it all runs the same idea—that Europe must have American co-operation and is not disposed to stick at the terms.

While this information is being gathered abroad other agencies are preparing for Harding an analysis of the domestic situation with regard to the league. Harding regards the election as a popular vote against the Wilson league. But he has to reckon with Root, Taft and other influential Republicans who do not want to see the Wilson plan discarded entirely. There are some Republican Senators, too, who favor ratification of the Wilson league with strong reservations.

Indications are that Democrats are are preparing to negotiate with these Republicans, perhaps at the short session of Congress to ratify the treaty with the Lodge reservations, the Democrats agreeing to vote for them.

Young Girl Arrested As Narcotic Peddler

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Kathryn McAlpin, who according to the police is a 15-year-old Los Angeles schoolgirl, was arrested here today, charged with peddling narcotics and was turned over to the juvenile authorities. She was arrested when the police raided a hotel room occupied by W. H. Harvey and Maude Harvey. Narcotics, scales and papers worth $250 were seized.

COLLEGE CHANGES CHARTER

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 9.—Rutgers College has filed with the secretary of state a certificate of change in its charter, removing the provision that the president of the institution must be a member of the Reformed Church of America. This provision has been a part of the charter since it was issued by the state in 1766.

Woman Scares Burglar From House by Ruse

Cornered in her home today by a burglar, Mrs. G. W. Clark, 685 Fifty-eighth street, saved her property and possibly herself from attack by her courage and quick wit.

Answering a ring at the doorbell she found no one at the door. Within a few minutes she heard someone in the kitchen. When she went to investigate she discovered a man prowling about the place.

"What are you doing in my house?" she demanded.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said the stranger, "but I thought I was in Mrs. Cartwright's home."

"There is no such person in this neighborhood," was Mrs. Clark's reply. "Now get out, and get quick."

"Not so fast, lady," said the man. "I may want to talk with you." As he spoke he was advancing, menacingly.

Mrs. Clark seized a long bread knife.

"Oh, John," she called calmly. "Come and 'phone for the police while I keep this man waiting here."

The man looked at Mrs. Clark resolutely and dived through the kitchen door.

Mrs. Clark sank into a chair exhausted from fright.

She was alone in the house.

Harding Faces Grave Problem; Says Smoot

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—United States Senator Reed Smoot of Utah who has come to Southern California for a rest of several weeks, is of the belief that the Harding administration will face the gravest problems that ever confronted the United States.

Senator Smoot in an interview expressed the opinion that although Harding will have the united support of the whole country "it will be the greatest of modern miracles" if the nation gets back to a normal basis in the next four years.

Smoot feels a careful tariff revision will help to put America on a firmer business basis.

Lad Disappears On Way to Grocery Store

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—A posse of police, in command of Police Corporal Al Munn are searching San Francisco for 7-year-old Alan Lees who disappeared from his home at 259 Surrey street last night under circumstances that have caused the boy's parents considerable alarm.

According to the boy's father, James Lee, the lad, at 6 o'clock last night was given some money with which to purchase groceries at a store in the neighborhood. That was the last seen of him despite an all night's search by his parents and the police.

dren to live part of the time with their father and part with their mother.

After ten years apart there was a partial reconciliation and the couple agreed to live together at Crowhurst, Sussex, where the duke has a big estate.

BOTH NOTES LACK ENDEARING TERMS

The experiment was short-lived. After three weeks with his wife the duke arose early one morning and departed for London leaving the following blunt note behind him. "To the Duchess of Marlborough: I am convinced that it is impossible for us to live happily together."

Thtat same day the duchess wrote to her husband: "I have received your yetter. I wish you had spoken to me instead of writing. It seems a pity now that we ever came together only for everything to end like this. It is useless to say more. I must go away and rest for awhile."

Both documents were curt and formal. Neither contained any expression of endearment.

Immediately afterward the duchess instructed her counsel to begin action for restitution of conjugal rights—the first legal step in the British courts toward a divorce. The case was heard and the duke was ordered to return to his wife in fourteen days, but of course this order was ignored. The duke made some half-hearted effort toward defending the case, but finally decided not to. The action was postponed several times before its final adjudication today.

ONLY TWO WITNESSES ARE CALLED AT TRIAL

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The charge of desertion was based in the divorce suit of the Duchess of Marlborough on the Duke's disobedience of the order for the restitution of conjugal rights which the Duchess obtained last March. The case lasted only 20 minutes.

Only two witnesses were called—an English detective who watched Blenheim palace, the Duke's residence, and shadowed the Duke and a companion on a trip to Paris and a solicitor's clerk, who witnessed the service of the court papers on the defendant.

Unless other proceedings are instigated by the Duke, the decree awarded today automatically becomes absolute at the end of six months.

BARRERE CONSIDERED.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Cammille Barrere, French ambassador to Rome, is being considered by the government as the successor to Paul Cambon, French ambassador to Great Britain, whose resignation has been announced, says the Excelsior.

Women Settle Claims to Handley Estate

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—Dismissal of litigation over the estate of the late Lorin A. Handley was forecast today when it became known that Mrs. Handley and Mrs. Elizabeth Lamb had ended their dispute over leases of two apartment houses by making a cash settlement out of court.

While the former state prohibition director's widow declined to specify the amount paid to Mrs. Lamb for unconditional surrender of the two apartment houses, the sum was reported to exceed $2500.

Mrs. Lamb had refused to vacate, declaring she was Handley's business partner as well as his fiance.

An attorney representing Mrs. Handley said one of the buildings has been sold for $19,000 and the Handley estate has rejected an offer of $30,000 for the other.

For Just One Kiss She Asks $35,000

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—What's one kiss—a stolen one, planted on a fair cheek—worth?

Mrs. Amelia V. Enrico, from whom it was pilfered, places its value at $35,000. At least that's the amount of damages she seeks from John Robert Grey, elderly and wealthy rancher of Burbank.

Grey admitted the kiss but says it was given, or taken, "in a spirit of gallantry."

A jury in Judge Monroe's court will decide the case.

Alameda County Plays Big Part in New Farm Units

That great part which California and Alameda county is playing in the needed farm development is strikingly shown in the United States census report of the number of farms in the country this year as compared with 1910 and 1900.

While the number of farms has decreased in many of the states there has been a gain the country over in ten years of 88,496. Indicative of the decline in farming in the East and Middle West and of the extent to which the nation must look to the Pacific Coast and Northwest for its future food supply is the fact that the states of California, Montana and Idaho increased their number of farms by 72,022, or almost the entire increase of the country. Many of the largest farming states, such as Alabama, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia show large decreases and twenty-five states in all show fewer farms today than ten years ago.

CALIFORNIA SECOND

In the number of new farms California stands second in the list with 29,493. Montana, with 11,227 is first largely due to the development of new lands and irrigation projects. Minnesota, Louisiana, Kentucky, Idaho, North and South Carolina, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin are other states that have increased their totals. Montana's percentage of increase tops all others with 119 per cent. Wyoming with but 4624 new farms is second with a 42 per cent gain, and Idaho, with 11,302, is third with 36.7 per cent. California's gain of 33.4 per cent, or one-third, is fourth.

The figures show that the great corn and grain belts of the middle west and the great Empire State of New York, once a leader in farming, are losing in the number of farms and that the Pacific Coast, some states in the south and some in the northwest are the ones wherein new farming development is maintaining the total. They also show that while the country's farms gained by 624,130 from 1900 to 1910 they gained but 88,496 from 1910 to 1920, statistics which emphasize the importance to the country at large of the work that is being done in this state.

FARMS IN COUNTY

Within California the census figures show that Alameda county has 2778 farms against 2422 in 1910 and 2787 in 1900. There are not quite so many farms here today as there were in 1900, but a healthy gain is shown over ten years ago. Los Angeles county is first with 12,446 farms and a gain of 4530 in ten years. Fresno county with 8916 is second, and Tulare with 6373 is third. Santa Clara and Sonoma counties each have more than 5000 farms and Stanislaus falls but a little below that figure. In the list Alameda county stands fourteenth in number of farms.

Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Mono, Monterey, Napa, Nevada, Plumas, San Francisco, San Mateo, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou and Tuolumne counties are those which have fewer farms than in 1910. Most of these are in the mountain and mining counties, and those in which the total number of farms is comparatively low.

Japanese Going Home, Alien Law is Cause

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—Reports that the passage of the alien land bill is causing hordes of Southern California Japanese to seek transportation to Japan were given foundation today, when it was learned that 130 Japanese women and children will leave here tomorrowd for Yokohama on the steamer Panama Maru. It is said that some Japanese, unable to obtain bookings from Los Angeles and San Francisco, are seeking accommodations from northern Pacific coast ports.

HARDING GOES ON GULF OF MEXICO TO HUNT TARPON

By DAVID M. CHURCH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WITH PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING, POINT ISABEL, Texas, Nov. 9.—President-elect Warren G. Harding today went forth to give battle to tarpon in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico. The entire population of this quaint little fishing town in the southernmost point of the United States gathered on the fishing wharf to watch the party sail, and there was conjecture among the Mexican fishermen as to the possible fishing luck of the distinguished visitor.

Senator Harding is quartered in the cottage of R. B. Creagor. The remainder of the party, including Senator Elkins and Edward McLean are in the little hotel, taxing it to capacity.

MARVEL AT COOKING.

There is a constant scrambling for water, which is transported daily from Brownsville, 25 miles away. Meals are served in a Mexican dining hall where George Christian, probably the next secretary to the president, and other members of the party marvel at the cookery of the swarthy Mexican women, and the innumerable combinations in which they can serve fish and oysters.

Mexican school children swarmed the streets today, gaily garbed in novel costumes of red, white and blue and bearing arms full of flowers with which they pelted the president-elect at every turn.

STATE BOAT SENT.

The American flag is displayed from every cottage and fishing smack, and the colors of the Mexican republic but six miles distance are also prominently displayed. Rival fishermen have contended for the honor of loaning their boats to the president-elect, but Governor Hobby of Texas has despatched a state boat to Point Isabel for the use of the distinguished visitor.

A detachment of United States marines is stationed here, and is policing the town. It was announced today that Senator Harding will sail on a United States fruit steamer from New Orleans on November 16 for Panama.

Absolutely no business was the order Senator Harding gave, and he did not desire to have a newspaper article called to his attention, which which declared Elihu Root had cabled to Marion last August declaring the League of Nations could not be absolutely abandoned.

Witte Reveals Several Rasputins

Occult Influence on Czar Shown

"The Czar and the Czarina: Occultism at the Russian Court," will be the first of the sensational susbjects treated by Count Witte in his Memoirs, which will be published beginning with next Sunday's Oakland TRIBUNE.

For the first time the truth is told about the czar and czarina and their mysticism, their slavery to superstitions, their patronage of men like Rasputin. Long before Rasputin came into notice there was a "Dr. Philippe," of Lyons, who founded the Cult of the Supernatural at the Russian court. Count Witte, struggling to keep the ship of state off the rocks, was constantly baffled in his attempt by the doings of the mystics. In his Memoirs he tells the truth about what was going on. Little wonder that the czar tried to destroy these Memoirs. It was almost a miracle that enabled Countess Witte to keep the Memoirs safely hidden after the death of her illustrious husband.

Read the first installment of Count Witte's Memoirs in the Sunday TRIBUNE.

HOLLAND STOPS BOLSHEVIKI AT GERMAN BORDER

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 9.—Holland has established a great cordon along the German frontier to prevent the influx of large numbers of Russian Bolshevik agents from Germany. Heavy guards are maintained so that persons wishing to cross the boundary in either direction must pass through frontier posts and over recognized highways. Those who attempt surreptitiously to cross run the risk of being shot.

These precautions have failed, however, to check Soviet agents. Men whom the police would like to interview have been seen here and in Amsterdam, but when the police set their dragnet for their quary the men wanted have utterly vanished.

FOUND IN GERMANY

Later the information that the suspects have been found in Germany and are on their way to the Russian frontier. The system followed resembles the "underground railroad" by which fugitive slaves moved through northern states to Canada in the days before the American civil war.

The "underground railroad" is utilized by Soviet agents to bring into Holland Bolshevik "missionaries," who are to attempt to reach America. There appears to be a constant current of these men crossing and recrossing the frontier. Every means of getting them into Holland is used. During recent months many Poles have gone to America, including some deserters from General Pilsudski's armies.

ORGANIZED BUREAUS

It is said regular organized bureaus were established to help these men evade military duty and go forward into Holland and that among them were many Bolsheviki agents.

Reports have been received here that many Bolshevik sympathizers who were last year deported as undesirables from America are to be returned to that country. Police officials assert a special bureau has been created here to take care of this class of "emigrant" and carry out carefully laid plans for getting the agitators back into the United States.

UNKNOWN HERO TO HAVE FAMED RESTING PLACE

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The Arc de Tromphe will be the last resting place of "an unknown French soldier," the chamber of deputies has decided by unanimous vote.

The voice came after an acrimonious discussion of the government bill providing for the transfer of the body of an unknown soldier from the Verdun zone to a last resting place, either in the Pantheon or the Arc de Triomphe.

November 11, combining the second anniversary of the armistice with the fiftieth anniversary of the third French republic will be celebrated in Paris as was Victory Day, July 4, 1919, with the exception that allied troops will be missing from the parade.

The heart of "Gambetti" will represent the anniversary of the third French republic and will be deposited at the Pantheon, while the body of "an unknown soldier" will personify the victory of armistice day. Three marshals of France—Joffre, Foch and Petaine—will walk behind the gun carriage bearing the body of the unknown soldier from the Place Liot de Belfort to the Pantheon and thence to the Arc de Triomphe.

Thursday will be a civic holiday in Paris.

SEARCH FOR GIRL ENDS; SHE'S BRIDE

Mrs. Joseph F. Marks solved police difficulties yesterday. She ended the state-wide search for Miss Lita Poissant, 18-year-old Sacramento girl, who disappeared from her home October 18. She confessed to being a bride and perfectly happy. Moreover, she blushingly admitted that she was herself Lita Poissant.

"Here I am. Your troubles are over. I've just been married," she told Captain William Kyle in the Oakland police station last night. Mrs. Marks had been reading of the search for her and assisted in discovering herself.

According to Mrs. Marks she was married yesterday by Judge Mortimer Smith to the young shipyard worker from Ventura, whom she met a fortnight ago in one of the local dance halls. She liked the way he danced.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Poissant, 2215 N street, Sacramento, reported to the police on October 25 that their daughter was missing, believing that she had eloped.

Lita Poissant declares she came to the bay cities to visit Miss Edith Layer of San Francisco. The act was contrary to the wishes of her parents. She has been working in a department store in this city since her arrival.

Although Mrs. Marks gave her place of residence as the Hotel Touraine, the young couple is not registered there this morning. Marks gives his age as 21 years.

Navy to Get Fuel Oil At $2 Until Jan. 1

Naval ships will be supplied with fuel oil at $2 a barrel by all California oil companies until January 1, 1921, after which a new agreement will have to be made. This announcement is the result of a message from the General Petroleum Company at Los Angeles that it would supply naval ships from its San Pedro pipe line at that price. All other California companies previously had agreed to accept $2 instead of the $2.35 demanded when naval oil seizures were made. During the seizures $2 was offered by the navy with the understanding that the companies might litigate.

WILL NOT CHANGE LAW.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Premier Lloyd George yesterday declined to introduce a bill in the House of Commons to legalize marriages with a deceased husband's brother.

News of the Churches

Many of the churches of Oakland took the proximity of Armistice Day into consideration, and made some recognition of it in their services Sunday. Rev. Clarence Reed of the First Unitarian church chose for his morning subject Sunday, "The Glory of War and the Grandeur of Peace."

Speaking of the glory of war that was waged for an ideal, Dr. Reed defined the terms under which he believes a lasting peace can be established. He said:

"A permanent peace will be based not only on the events which have happened since 1914. All causes of the world war are not to be found in the notes of the diplomats that were published in the summer of that year. One hundred years hence the assassination of the Austrian archduke and his wife, the violation of the neutrality of Belgium by Germany, the desire for vengeance on the part of France, the commercial desires of Great Britain will be considered the secondary causes of the great war.

"In order to have a permanent peace we must root out the primary cause of war, which are national and racial prejudices and hatreds; the conflicting claims of nations; the desire to exploit backward races by the acquirement of colonies, and to attain trade supremacy."

SERMON ON "INVOICES"

"It is the spirit of the modern age to trust God with one's soul but not with one's money," declared the Rev. John Brown of Arkansas at the Union mass meeting in East Oakland Sunday.

"Invoices" was the subject of the morning meeting and Rev. Brown developed the idea that the trouble with the modern church was that its members failed in tithing and in observing Sunday.

"The church is the oldest of the old, the largest of the large and the most permanent of the permanent," he declared. "To protect the church God laid out a plan. Included in this plan was the keeping of the Sabbath Day.

"Also in the plan was included the system of tithing. If this were carried out today the church would not be the Lazarus on the door step of the world, the ministers of the gospel would not have to go out of the religious field to earn enough money to feed their families, educate their children and pay their debts. As the situation stands today without tithing the financial methods of the churches would bankrupt a peanut stand."

During the afternoon a Sunday school rally was staged with the pupils from the East Oakland Baptist Church, the Brooklyn Presbyterian Church and St. James' Presbyterian Church.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

In a sermon preached Sunday night in the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Frank M. Silsley, the pastor, declared that we have a divine right to pray for things social and temporal as well as spiritual.

"You have a divine grant to pray for a square meal, a new hat, a new suit, a position or a sweetheart," he said. "You have the divine right to pray for the coming of the Kingdom."

Carrying out the thought expressed in his sermon subject, "Why I believe prayer is real and not pantomime," Dr. Silsley said: "Belief in prayer is fundamental in the Christian life. It is true that many of our prayers are not answered, yet the fact that many of our prayers are answered should encourage greater faith in appeals unto the infinite.

"We should be great believers in prayer from the testimony of answered prayer in the lives of others. John Knox prayed all night and saved Scotland. John Wesley prayed and brought about the revival in England. The people of the Allied Nations prayed and forced the armistice upon the enemy."

ST. LEO'S CHURCH

Sunday night Father Robert Sesnon began a series of sermons at St. Leo's Catholic church on, "The Living Wage." To the grabbing spirit which he says is still noticeable among the nations, he attributes the chaotic condition of the world. He said:

"The world is still ill and upset and the reaching out and grabbing spirit is still rampant among the nations. Until they take up the teachings of the Divine Master there can be no adjudication, so settlement, no peace.

"The laborer's claim to a living wage is a personal right. It belongs to the individual, as an individual and not as a member of society. It is a natural and a positive right, for it is born with the individual, derived from his rational nature, and not conferred upon him by a positive enactment. The right to a living wage is individual, natural and absolute.

"The primary natural right from which the right to a living wage is deduced is the right to subsist on the bounty of the earth, for all people have given more or less definite adhesion to the truth that the earth is the common heritage of the children of men.

"A man must have means to support himself with dignity, if he is to attain to that exercise of his faculties and that development of his personality that makes his life worthy of a human being. When he is compelled to live in less than this minimum he is treated as somewhat less than a man."

PLYMOUTH CHURCH

A declaration that Japan now is at the parting of the ways and that the attitude of California and America toward her may have much bearing on the future of the world, and a demand that California spend less money on the punishment of criminals and more on the prevention of crime were included in a sermon by Rev. Charles L. Kloss, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, Sunday, from the words: "Wilt Thou Be Made Whole?"

"I do not ask for the admission of the Japanese," said Dr. Kloss. "I believe in their exclusion, because we cannot assimilate them, but I do ask that those who are here lawfully be given the rights and the just treatment guaranteed them in the treaties signed by our government. For 50 years we have been sending our missionaries to Japan. She now is on the dividing line. She will be either merely a civilized nation or a Christian civilized nation. The outcome will depend not on our missionaries but on the attitude of justice and fairness we assume here.

"The normal man is almost a rara avis. Physically, mentally or spiritually most of us are warped. Germany spent millions developing the Kaiser, but very little to develop that spirit of democracy which would make an impregnable defense against Kaiserism.

"California spends $36,000,000 annually on the arrest and punishment of criminals. If we spent a small fraction of that sum in preventive measures, in ten years we should have to expend very little for the aftermath of crime. The prohibition law will demonstrate that more and more as time goes on.

Lenine Leads Life of Czar As Death Hovers Near Him

By CAPT. FRANCIS McCULLAGH.

(First trained writer and unbiased observer to come out of Russia in many months).

(Special to The OAKLAND TRIBUNE and the New York Herald)
(Copyright, 1920, by the New York Herald.)

Article III.

LONDON, Nov. 9. — Cut off, like a leper, from all the governments of the world, Lenine is nevertheless in daily communication with the most desperate and dangerous section of every people. He receives ambassadors not accredited by kings or presidents, but, nevertheless, bringing terrible credentials from lawless associations which have sworn to carry out his policy of violence and blood. One day he signed an agreement with the American I. W. W. as King George might sign a treaty with France.

Another day he received a deputation of "the Russian Friends of American Freedom"—an association of expelled American anarchists who aim at smashing the government and the whole social system of the United States—as President Wilson might receive the heads of an interchurch movement. He died in an ancient palace of the Czars with a group of powerful and dangerous Mohammedans whose object is to create chaos from Alexandria to Khartoum and to deluge half of Asia with blood.

LOOKS HARMLESS

And yet he looks a most harmless, bourgeois person. At the ninth Communist convention, which was the only public function he attended during my stay in Moscow, he spoke freely, monotonously, without the faintest trace of hesitation or nervousness, like the chairman of a London tea house company reading out an unsensational annual report which most of his hearers knew already. Dressed in rusty black, with trousers which were somewhat baggy at the knees and a general appearance of reasonableness and respectability, he looked at first sight a safe, unpretentious, middle class person in fairly comfortable circumstances.

His head was bald, but with a dull, mottled and not a shiny, billiard ball hairlessness. His beard was scanty and reddish; his eyes far apart and with a cast in one of them; his cheek bones high; his face broad and with a dim, disturbing suggestion of Asia, which half prepared one for the monstrous theories he proceeded to set forth in his matter of fact voice and manner.

VERBAL EXPLOSIONS

For some reason or other very little of his speech on this occasion appeared in the newspapers. Perhaps because Rusisa was at that moment seeking recognition by "capitalist" governments. In one brilliant pasage, which was omitted, he declared himself unable to describe precisely the form which the Soviet Government would assume "until the volcanic explosions cease and the smoke clears away, and we can see the new shape into which the landscape has hardened."

According to Trotzky, the Red Czar often lights up a debate with unpremeditated remarks like this, remarks in which the Commissars discover profound and prophetic significance. But he discounts even his most terrible sayings by the businesslike evenness of his delivery and by his habit of handling pens and other objects on the table in front of him, and occasionally inserting his thumbs in the armholes of his waistcoat, a gesture which displays a comfortable and slightly protuberant abdomen. Looking at him on such occasions without knowing who he was or what he was talking about one would feel inclined to say, "Now this is a safe, reliable man saying reasonable things."

HIS POSSESSIONS FEW

Save that the sedentary life he has led during the last two years has made him somewhat stouter, Lenine has altered little in appearance since the day he presented himself at the Russian frontier near Toronto, tired, dishevelled, accompanied by a crowd of women and disreputable looking men, at one moment on the point of being refused admittance and the next moment frantically organizing an anti-war meeting about the Russian soldiers and winnig their applause by his fierce denunciations of militarism.

He takes so little care of himself in the Kremlin that a deputation of peasants which once came to see him insisted on sending him bread, butter and eggs from their village; and this is only a continuation of the life which he led in exile. An intimate friend of his told me that when Lenine left Paris for Switzerland his furniture fetched only forty francs at auction.

A little known side of Donine's life is the domestic side. The Red dictator is sincerely attached to his wife, whose health is, however, very bad; and he is pasisonately fond of children.

DEATH DRAWS NEAR

Despito his determination, when he entered Russia, of turning everything upside down, doing all the things that a "capitalist" government does not do, and not doing anything which a "capitalist" government does, he has found that the laws of humannature are too much for him, and that he is leading, outwardly, much the same kind of life as any conscientious, hard working and respectable Czar, and a very much more regular life than was led by Peter the Great. His whole day is spent receiving deputations, signing papers, presiding over cabinet meetings and doing all the routine business discharged by any king or president. Fanaticism in his case has cast out fear, but his entourage have as great and well grounded an anxiety for his personal safety as had ever the bodyguard of a czar.

The display of military force on the occasion of the convention I speak of was as great as when Nicholas II opened the first Duma in the Winter Palace. His future, too, is more uncertain than was ever the future of a Russian emperor. With a wilderness of blood and horror behind him, with a highly volcanic soil trembling beneath his feet, and with clouds of inky blackness veiling his future, few human beings have ever been enveloped in more tragic menace and mystery than this prosaic, common looking man. Outlawed by every government, anathematized by every church, cursed by his millions of victims, he can never leave Russia alive, he cannot stay in Rusisa and live.

Russian Embassy in Tokyo Out of Funds

TOKYO (By Mail.)—The Imperial Russian Embassy in Tokyo is said to be in financial difficulty as a result of the withdrawal last July of the payment of Boxer indemnity funds owed to Russia. The Embassy has state funds which will run it indefinitely according to the Embassy staff, but this does not keep frequent rumors regarding its condition back.

The recent rumors are due to the action of the Chinese government in closing the Russian Legation in Peking. These Russian representatives are the emissaries of Kerensky, or the "last legal Old-Russian government," their positions being more or less recognized in many of the world capitals. Here, where once they were the representatives of the Czar Nicholas, the present staff is not recognized by Japan, and is chiefly an embassy in name. The funds which have allowed the Embassy to continue here have come from the Russo-Asiatic bank in Shanghai, which now flies the French flag and has not for many months received the payments of Chinese indemnity money to Russia.

Coroner's Jury Absolves Slayer

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 9.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, minister - liquor sleuth, shot and killed Beverely Trumble, roadhouse keeper, in self-defense, a coroner's jury decided early today. The jury was out more than an hour. The minister was absolved of all blame. Trumble was shot during a raid on his place.

The crown attorney still must act in the case under the Canadian laws before the pastor is finally freed, or charged with the murder of Trumble.

Rev. Spracklin will continue his war on bootleggers and rum runners along the Canadian border, he said today, as soon as the case is finally disposed of. Many attempts have been made on the pastor's life because of his activities against the bootleggers.

Why Be Skinny?

It's Easy to Be Plump, Popular and Attractive

It's easy to be plump, popular and attractive instead of being thin, angular and scrawny. Almost invariably the trouble is due to weak nerves and consequent failure to assimilate your food. You may eat heartily, but owing to the lack of nervous energy and impoverished blood you don't get the benefit from the food you eat. All of this can be remedied very quickly by taking with each meal a five-grain tablet of Blood-Iron Phosphate. This quickly strengthens the nervous system, enriches the blood and increases its oxygen carrying power, and in a remarkably short time the average thin, weak, nervous man or woman begins not only to put on flesh, but also begins to look and feel better. Sleep, appetite, strength and endurance are improved, dull eyes become bright, and, unless afflicted with some organic complaint, there is no reason why, if you take Blood-Iron Phosphate regularly, you should not soon look and feel much better and many years younger. Deposit $1.50 today with the Owl Drug Co. or any other druggist for enough Blood-Iron Phosphate for a three weeks' treatment. Use as directed and if at the end of three weeks you aren't delighted go back and get your money. Your druggist, a man you know, is authorized to give it to you.—Advertisement.

SUPREME COURT RELEASES VAST STORE OF LIQUOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (by the Associated Press).—Storage of lawfully acquired liquors in commercial warehouses and the transportation of such stocks to the home of the owner is not prohibited by the Volstead act under a decision handed down by the Supreme Court.

In passing upon the appeal of William G. Street of New York from decisions of lower courts refusing to enjoin internal revenue officials from seizing liquors he had placed in a room rented from a safe deposit company, the Supreme Court reversed the lower court and held that the injunction should be granted.

FLOOD OF LIQUOR FREED

The effect of this ruling has not been fully appraised by internal revenue and prohibition enforcement officials. The belief is expressed that the result might be the release of some 10,000,000 gallons of intoxicating beverages stored in warehouses since January 16.

Records on file here show that, in addition to immense quantities of liquors purchased and stored by individual consumers, there were in storage when the Volstead act became effective large stocks held by hotels and restaurants as reserves. Whether these latter stocks came within the ruling has not been determined. It was anticipated that test cases would be filed soon on this and similar questions arising from the undetermined scope of the new interpretation of the Volstead act.

LAW IS INTERPRETED

Justice Clarke, who rendered the opinion, held that the transportation of liquor from warehouse storage to the owner's home would be legal if the liquor had been lawfully acquired and for a lawful purpose. He said:

"That transportation of the liquors * * * is not such as is prohibited by the section is too apparent to justify detailed consideration, of the many provisions of the act inconsistent with a construction which would render such removal unlawful, and that the act is understood by the officers charged with its execution as permitting such transportation is shown by the provision of the regulations of the bureau of internal revenue authorizing permits for the transportation of liquor from one permanent residence of an owner to another in the case of his removal, although no such transfer is provided for by the act."

The opinion pointed out, however, that internal revenue authorities undoubtedly had the administrative power to regulate the transfer of such liquors so as to prevent their use in violation of the law.

"An intention to confiscate private property," the opinion concluded, "even in intoxicating liquors, will not be raised by inference and construction from provisions of law which have ample field for their operation in effecting a purpose clearly indicated and declared."

Justice McReynolds, concurring in the judgment of the court, dissented as to the reasoning in which it was reached.

CONSTITUTION IS QUOTED

"I think the Volstead act was properly interpreted by the court below," he said, "but to enforce it as thus construed would result in virtual confiscation of lawfully acquired liquors by preventing or unduly interfering with their consumption by the owner. The Eighteenth amendment gave no such power to Congress. Manufacture, sale and transportation are the things prohibited—not personal use."

Prohibition enforcement officials began studying the decision immediately. The opinion was frankly expressed that many changes would have to be made in the enforcement regulations, but, pending detailed study of the case and the circumstances surrounding the litigation, no official statement was forthcoming.

A decision had not been reported last night as to whether the court's interpretation opens the way for unrestricted transportation in interstate commerce. That transfer can be made within a state apparently was specific, but the language of the court when analyzed may yet show, officials thought, means whereby interstate transportation can be stopped. In the particular case involved, it was pointed out, the owner's residence and the place of storage were within the same state and, in fact, in the same city.

Transportation Rates Before Convention

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The thirty-second annual convention of the National Association of Railway and Utility Commissioners began here today. The association embraces all the regulatory commissions of the country, every state being represented with the exception of Delaware.

Conflict between state and federal authority in the regulation of intrastate transportation rates is expected to play an important part in the deliberations. Efforts by the railroads to make effective on traffic within states the advance rates granted by the Federal commission of interstate traffic have been contested by a number of the state regulatory bodies.

Redwood Town Has Community Movies

SCOTIA, Cal., Nov. 9.—A community motion picture theater where patrons vote on plays to be presented and the profits are divided among the various civic enterprises is a feature of this little town tucked away in the redwood forests of Northern California.

There is nothing makeshift or temporary about this project. The architect who designed one of the most widely known theaters on the Pacific Coast was engaged to design this one, which is built entirely of redwood, with barked tree trunks for porch posts.

This One Was Real Blockhead Alright

PARIS, Nov. 9.—At a recent meeting of the French Academy of Medicine Professor Reynes, of Marseilles, recounted how he was once called in to attend to a madman, who, during a few hours' liberty, had driven three five-inch nails into his head, piercing the brain.

The fellow did not appear to be in pain and did not show the slightest interest when M. Reynes removed the nails. The man was haunted with thoughts of suicide and he was even more depressed when he realized the nails did not kill him. Kept under close observation, he was cured of his self-inflicted injuries and died many years later of a natural feverish disease.

It is difficult to determine which is the greater enemy of the institution of giving—the misfit gift or the postponed action, due to perplexities.

Ask Gift Granny to Ask

They'll tell her—(Secretly)— She'll tell you.

GIFT GRANNY is the sponsor of a new social practice in giving and receiving. She has extended to the whole community a service that for generations has existed only in the family circle. She is your "Granny" and my "Granny" and everybody's "Granny" popularized; the composite of centuries of "grannies" who as go-betweens have been the surest guides to would-be-givers.

Gift Granny comes to CAPWELLS to act as intermediary between those who want to give gifts and those who are to receive them. She brings the giver and receiver into actual communication with each other in a secret way. She asks those whom you wish to remember what they would like to receive and then shows you the answers in their own hand writing.

Her advent means the end of all gift guessing. She assures all givers pleasurable giving without worries, and all receivers delightful receiving with no embarrassments or disappointments—provided the givers have been thoughtful enough to use her service.

No doubt you would like to read from GIFT GRANNY how the GIFT GRANNY idea was conceived. Our next announcement will be written by Gift Granny herself. You'll observe the elements of delicacy, propriety, refinement and good sense mingled in her presentation of a new social idea and then you'll know how to

War Department Not To Loan Tents to L. A.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Officials at the War Department said today that the request of the municipal authorities of Los Angeles for a loan of 6000 army tents to relieve the housing situation in that city had not yet reached the department. It was said, however, that the request could not be granted owing to definite provisions in the law restricting the use of army tents and barracks to military purposes with the exception of loans of tents to veterans of the Civil War.

GUEST SLASHES WOMAN HOST, THEN HIMSELF

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—When Mrs. Maud Wilson gave a party last night in her home at 2422 Mission street, Joseph King, a painter, who is a lodger in Mrs. Wilson's home, was invited to participate.

While the festivities were at their height, King encountered Mrs. Wilson in the hallway. An argument arose.

The first intimation the other guests had of any dissension was when Mrs. Wilson dashed madly through the house pursued by King. When the guests got in the kitchen they found King armed with a butcher knife trying to slash Mrs. Wilson.

By the time the police had arrived, the kitchen was in chaos, Mrs. Wilson was severely slashed about the left arm and King bore several minor wounds inflicted by himself.

Mrs. Wilson and King were treated at the Mission Emergency Hospital. King later was charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

At the prison King said he had asked Mrs. Wilson where she kept the sugar as one of the guests wanted some for his coffee. Mrs. Wilson, however, says that King "got too fresh" and that the battle started when she punched him.

Now Brush Teeth

In the new way—Remove the film

Try this new way of teeth cleaning. The test is free. It has brought to millions whiter, safer teeth. Leading dentists everywhere advise it.

See the results, then learn what they mean to you.

What ruins teeth

Teeth are ruined by a film. You can feel it—that viscous coat. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. And most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

It is this film-coat that discolors—not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Brushed in the usual way, much of that film is left. And very few people have escaped the troubles that it causes.

Now we combat it

Dental science has in late years found a way to fight film, day by day. High authorities have proved it by many careful tests.

Millions of people have adopted it, largely by dental advice. To careful people it is bringing a new era in teeth cleaning.

These new methods are all embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And you are urged to prove it by a pleasant ten-day test.

Five important effects

Pepsodent has five effects, all of them essential to cleaner, safer teeth. One ingredient is pepsin. One multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to combat starch deposits that cling. One multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva to neutralize mouth acids.

In two ways it attacks the films directly. Then it keeps the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily cling.

It differs vastly from the old-time tooth pastes, which dentists now know were wrong.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

Within a week you will know that your teeth are protected as they never were before. And you will always want your teeth to look and feel like that. Cut out the coupon now.

SHE HAS STEADY PAIN ACROSS BACK

Los Angeles Woman Tells Others How to Save Themselves Much Misery

When women of middle age lose their strength and color, are filled with aches and pains and find it difficult to attend to their ordinary household work without extreme fatigue, they need a tonic. It is a time in their lives when the blood needs attention. To neglect it may mean years of subsequent misery.

In Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. S. T. Hawley of 1114 Lasalle avenue, is telling her friends how she found relief when many suggested remedies had failed.

"When I was about forty," she says, "there was a general decline in my health. I was not confined in bed for any length of time but my strength seemed to give out entirely, I lost color and was nervous. My sleep was not good, my appetite was fickle and I had severe pains in my stomach as if there was a lump in it. I had a steady pain across my back. Nothing that I tried seemed to do me any good for a long time.

"One day I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through a friend who had been benefited by them. After I had used one box I could see a decided improvement. I used four boxes in all at that time and my strength came back, my nervousness disappeared and the stomach trouble and pains in the back went away. I have used the pills since as a tonic and received immediate benefit. I am only too glad to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they are reliable and always do what is claimed for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic for the blood and nerves. They are for men and women but they are especially useful for growing girls and for women who suffer as Mrs. Hawley did because they build up the blood to meet the special demands made upon it.

A valuable booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free upon request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Cascarets

You are constipated, bilious, and what you need is one or two Cascarets tonight sure for your liver and bowels. Then you will wake up wondering what became of your dizziness, sick headache, bad cold, or upset, gassy stomach. No griping—no inconvenience. Children love Cascarets too. 10, 25, 50 cents.

Cosmetics Not Needed—Peel the Skin Instead

One reason mercolized wax is so strongly recommended is that it really takes the place of several different cosmetics, saving time, patience and expense. It is better than any cleansing cream, better than any massage cream, and better than any rouge, for accomplishing the results for which such articles are used. As the wax actually absorbs an old, faded or discolored cuticle, a little each day, the underlying skin which gradually appears, is clearer, softer, healthier-hued and more youthful than any cosmetic-made complexion. Spreading on a thin coat of this wax at night, washing it off mornings, in a week or so produces a marvelous transformation. Just one ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will do the work. There's nothing better to remove the freckles, moth patches, liver spots, sallowness, blotches, pimples or blackheads.

For wrinkles and loose, saggy skin, a face bath made by dissolving one ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half-pint of witch hazel, is the best thing that can be recommended. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties.—Advertisement.

NEW ARMY PLAN IS MADE PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. — The new tactical peace-time organization of the regular army, based on the army reorganization bill passed at the last session of Congress, announced Secretary Baker. It provides for one skeleton army in time of peace, with a paper strength of 337,221 men.

An army corps under the new organization will consist of 79,565 men; an infantry division of 19,385 men; a cavalry division of 8417 men; an artillery brigade of 3414 men, and an infantry brigade of 6153 men. The act providing for the new organization divides the country into nine corps areas, and in time of war or general mobilization this division would result in three armies, each of the tactical strength and organization announced today. Although peace-time strength of the regular army is only 280,000 men Baker explained that the National Guard and organized reserve would fill the gaps.

Bull Fight Tax May Kill Joy in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Nov. 9.—Fear is expressed that the jangle between the Mexican government and the city authorities here over the question of taxing bull fights may cause a temporary suspension of the bull-ring spectacles. This would be a big disappointment to thousands, who have been expecting the greatest season of bull fighting in ten years.

The government wishes to collect a tax of 50 per cent of the receipts at each bull fight. The city authorities are resisting this.

Women Will Discuss Brains, Beauty

By EDNA B KINARD

Brains or beauty—which is the more essential to women in business? It is a problem which has absorbed many a girl as she has stepped across the threshold of the economic world and many maids have found many answers. The Business Women's Forum, which finds its headquarters at the Young Woman's Christian Association, has set about to analyze this problem and with newer evidence and more comprehensive findings declares once and for all on behalf of the young workers of Oakland, the conclusion of the whole matter. The program in which the young women themselves will participate in open discussion is named for Wednesday evening, December 15. It is one in a series of symposiums to be inaugurated on November 17 in which subjects of practical interest to the forum members will be discussed.

"Is a College Education an Essential in the Best Business Success?" will give inspiration to the first of the new series. Other themes to be given attention will be: "Personnel and Educational Work in Stores"; "Efficient Use of Spare Time," etc.

FIVE PART PROGRAM

Clubwomen of Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, are looking forward to Saturday when five departments will launch their work with a mass meeting in Ebell clubhouse. The General Federation has grouped the departments of conservation, Public Health, Child Welfare, Civic and Social and Industrial Conditions. The district has adopted the rulings of the larger body. Saturday will afford the opportunity of presenting the programs which each of these groups proposes to acomplish before the close of the year.

The program will be divided into five parts with a department chairman in charge of each. Dr. Minora E. Kibbe, director of Public Health in Alameda district, will present Dr. Alvin Powell, of the Public Health center in an address on health and its relation to the playground. Ernest Hopkins, formerly of the University of Southern California, will represent the department on social and industrial conditions speaking on "News and Its Relation to Social and Industrial Affairs," at the invitation of Mrs. J. G. Kearney. A health play demonstrating the malnutrition class work will be put on by children in a West Oakland school, under the department of Child Welfare, of which Mrs. L. F. Helmond is chairman. The Conservation Department, with Mrs. Mary Crocker of Lodi, director, and Civic, with Mrs. E. S. Fenton, chairman, will contribute features.

All clubwomen are urged to participate in the symposium. Dr. Kibbe will preside as chairman of the day.

HIGHTS PILGRIMAGE

Pilgrimage to "The Hights," the Fruitvale estate of the late Joaquin Miller, poet of the Sierras, and now a public park, will be made on Thursday under the auspices of the Joaquin Miller Club, an interesting group of near neighbors and close friends of the East Oakland pioneer who have set for their purpose the keeping alive the memory and traditions of the western singer. It will be a simple ceremony, to be observed on Armistice Day, falling but 24 hours before Miller's birthday. All those who know his work or hold interest in that barren hillside spot where he planted his trees and builded his walls, are invited to join the company.

An al fresco luncheon with each pilgrim providing his own will precede the 2:30 program in which men and women who have known Joaquin Miller and his verse will participate. Mrs. Miller and Miss Juanita Miller will assist in receiving and recite from his poems. Mrs. Henry Wetherbee, Fruitvale pioneer, has been invited to speak. As chairman of the day Dr. Minora Kibbe, president of the club which has maintained the custom since the poet's death, will preside.

MEET ON WEDNESDAY

The November meeting of District No. 1, A. C. N. A., will be held on Wednesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. building. Oral Hygiene is the subject which Dr. Millberry will present.

FUND FOR GIRLS

Mrs Ann Ryan, whose social work takes her a welcomed friend into many a strange experience, has for months past been making a plea for a modest treasury which she might use as a loan fund for the young women to whom a small financial lift might spell all the difference between a safe life and a life of despair. It is the Big Sisters of the Public Welfare League which has come forward, pledging to Mrs. Ryan and her work moral and financial backing. Mrs. Ryan is connected with one of the clinics in the Public Health Center, under the state and city health departments.

HAD TERRIBLE COUGH AND NIGHT SWEATS

Cough about gone, eats and sleeps well, and gained 12 pounds.

"In December, 1913, I had a fearful cough, and my physician ordered me to change climate immediately. I went to San Antonio, Texas, and entered a sanatorium. Left there and came to Oklahoma City in October, 1915. Had no appetite, could not sleep, had night sweats and was losing from one to three pounds a week. I also had catarrh of the bowels, which the doctors had been unable to relieve.

"Relatives urged me to try Milks Emulsion. I did so and began to improve, slowly at first, but steadily. My weight has increased 12 pounds. I have no temperature, and my cough is about gone. I can eat heartily, sleep well, and am working at my trade again."—V. W. Neff, 610 No. Dewey St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Nature does wonders in fighting off disease, if given the chance. Milks Emulsion is a powerful help in providing strength and flesh. It costs nothing to try.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 75c and $1.50 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

Folks dear, here's a letter which I'm not even going to try to answer. But I'm printing it with a BIG HOPE that the reading of it may start some of the old home flowers growing again. I wish she had signed her name and given her address. I am sure there are many other lonely souls in Oakland who would gladly try to win her friendship. But won't YOU who read try to be a little kinder to the wayfarer because of this one's loneliness?

Dear Geraldine:

This is my problem and I believe it is the problem of many others situated as I am. I am no newcomer but have lived in Oakland several years. Through the day I am kept busy with a mixture of household duties and business problems so that I seldom have time or thought to give other matters. But with the shades of evening then does my spirit grow restless. Then do I long for the company of friends, the association of my fellows. A little play, I deem to be the 'leaven that leaveneth the whole.' Certainly the hours of relaxation in the company of congenial friends make the bright spot in our lives. I am not a movie fan. I do not care for continual racing about in an automobile, though I enjoy both those pleasures in a limited degree. But when I ask my few associates what has become of the hospitable home and the happy informal gathering of a few years ago, they declare them to be completely usurped by the aforementioned pastimes. Is this true?

Are there not others like myself who would willingly set the clock back a notch and enjoy those simple pleasures again? I enjoy more than all else to have a few friends gather under my roof tree. I enjoy cards, music, a little dancing, or an hour of conversation in my own home or the home of my friends. And with a little simple spread to end it all there are no more wholesome or enjoyable occasions. But I don't find others of the same mind, though there must be many. Would you suggest church, clubs, lodges? I have attended services in the city and have met in a few a certain degree of cordiality and welcome. But it does not extend beyond church doors.

I have no time for the exacting duties of club work and no particular leaning toward lodge activities. I have no husband, brother or man in the family to bring home his business associates and their wives.

When the day's duties are ended I go home, have my dinner, read the evening paper, wind the clock and go to bed at 8 o'clock, and while a glorious moon pours her effulgent rays through my bedroom window. Whose is the fault and where the remedy?

ONE OF MANY.

Another Lonesome One

Dear Geraldine:

I have been here only a couple of months and I'm awfully lonesome. I think this is an awfully hard place to get acquainted. If I had some jolly girl to pal around with I wouldn't mind so much. What would you suggest, Geraldine?

LONESOME.

I'd suggest signing my name and address to just that sort of a Friendship SOS and letting Jerry print it. Why should we all be so afraid of stating our need of friends? We all roosted in the same tree in the beginning of things.

TO COTTAGE, 14th st., Oakland. I can't answer your request by personal mail, Pal, as you did not send your name and the postal authorities do not wish letters under assumed names. I do not know who "Unclaimed Treasure" is and have no way of finding out. If you want a friend why not say so frankly. We all need them, and here's hoping you find yours.

Dear Geraldine:

Please tell me some way of fixing my hair. I tried curling it but it breaks the ends. My hair is getting short and uneven. Please tell me some way to fix it so that it covers my ears. I am 14.

SOMEBODY.

The fashion of covering the ears is going out little sister. Your hair needs FREEDOM AND BRUSHING if you wish it to grow thick and even again. Brush it until it is shiny-smooth every night. Do not coil it up yet as it needs the looseness to recover its strength. Divide the back and front now brush back the central portion of the front and tie at the top of the head. You might make a tiny bang. Roll the two side portions slightly so as to cover just the tops of the ears and tie up with the central portion. Cover tying with a smart black velvet bow. Braid the hair at the back of the neck or catch with a barette and let it hang loose.

Pretty and Eighteen

Dear Geraldine.

I am a girl of 18, said to be pretty, and go in for athletics—also play the violin and piano. Will you tell me why I cannot lay claim to anyone of the masculine sex? To be sure I have never tried as I don't really care very much about men, but it is annoying to know that you can't claim your own if you want to.

GOLDIE LOCKS.

I wouldn't worry, dear. I think that you are filling your years with very worth while things and that soon the most worth while of all—LOVE—will come to you. A good deal of this "claiming of one of the opposite sex" is merely conversation. The "claim" lacks stickum and I don't think it would satisfy a REAL girl for a minute. Stick to your violin, Goldie. Schubert's Serenade is a great deal more trustworthy than the warblings of the average young Betrousered One.

Dear Geraldine:

I am a girl of 17 and would like to make some spending money. I belong to a family comfortably well off and would not be allowed to go out to work. I make candy very well but that is all. What would you suggest for me to do?

CARMEL.

Nothing could be better than the candy-making. Why not make little gift boxes of candy for the Christmas time? Get some regulation size candy box—pound and half pounds. Paste gay chintz or cretonne neatly over the covers and attach quaint ribbons for tying. Fill them with daintily papered candles. Make a few samples first and take orders from your friends. Then deliver them promptly on the date specified. Here's luck to you, little girl!

Good Looks Again

Dear Geraldine.

My trouble will probably sound very trivial and foolish but it's a trouble, just the same. I am considered the most popular girl in our set and everyone says I'm the prettiest. I'm not vain—I wish I were not pretty. Whenever there is a dance or any other entertainment I get anywhere from three to seven invitations while some of my best girl chums stay at home. Many of my girl friends stay away from me and it makes me very unhappy. I am almost a stranger in Berkeley. I have traveled a great deal and I am considered a good musician. I'm not a vamp and I never allow the boys to kiss me or take any liberties with me as the other girls do. I told that to one of the girls, but she only said: "Oh, you're pretty enough to keep the fellows without that!"

Geraldine, do you really think that is the only reason the young men care to go with me?

I told two of the men that before I ever think of getting married I want to be able to earn my own living. They both laughed and told me that I mustn't bother "m little curly head" about such things. "Pretty girls don't need to worry!"

What can I do to win the constant friendship of the girls? I haven't driven my machine for two months and I don't dress conspicuously at all. I have the dearest mother in the world and I never go out with a young man until mother has met him and given her permission. I'm almost 19 and I'm studying music. Lots of love, Geraldine, dearest.

"BRIGHT EYES."

P. S.—That's the nickname Daddy gave me.

A Sincere Little Girl

Don't you love her, folks? I think you're sincere little girl, so I'm going to give you a Big Sister talk straight from my heart. It would be easy to say that the other girls are 'just jealous,' but they're not. There is a FUNDAMENTAL INJUSTICE about little girls like you and they're feeling it and you are, too—although none of you know how to analyze it or cure it. I couldn't say all this to a girl who lacked sense but I feel that you have sense a-plenty. Here's the situation: You deserve no credit for your pretty face and your curls—for the money and leisure that give you traveling and a car and a musical education—or for the love that is guiding and guarding you. Yet in a way you reap the reward of all these things which you did not earn. The reward is very sweet just now. But unless you get the right "slant" on life now the reward will be a bitter one later on. The laugh the men give to "the little curly head" now is charming. But the laugh they give to curly heads at forty ISN'T charming—unless the curly heads have managed to ship some cargo.

So here is what you must do dear. Build some charm that you DO deserve credit for. Get out that car and burn up the miles taking out less fortunate girls and tired souls who rarely know such joy. Think of the 'needs' of those plainer girls. Wouldn't that blue scarf of yours make Minnie's sallow face worlds' sweeter, dear? How about smuggling a few of your pretties to Dorothy so she can go to that next dance? And the old lady in the next block who can't get out—why don't you lead a bunch of the girls there some afternoon with a surprise of goodies and giggles? They won't stand off from you then, dear, for you'll be meeting them on a common ground where Fate has played no favorites. Try it and see.

YOUR COMPLEXION CAN BE MADE WHITE, SOFT AND YOUTHFUL

By the Use of the BLACK and WHITE Beauty Treatment.

Every woman wishes to appear beautiful. The savage maiden tattoos her skin, fixes rings in her nose and uses other crude ornaments to make herself more attractive. An example of present-day beauty among civilized women is a soft, velvety skin and a radiant complexion.

To improve your complexion, you should not use anything that hides your faded, pimply, blotchy skin. Such applications last only a few hours, and are injurious to the delicate skin tissue in many cases.

You can make your complexion beautiful by removing the faded, dark, sallow, blotchy skin with the BLACK and WHITE Beauty Treatment which consists of creamy ointment and soap. This beauty treatment will not injure the skin and is easy to apply. Before retiring you thoroughly cleanse the skin with BLACK and WHITE Soap, then mix and apply BLACK and WHITE Ointment according to directions.

The BLACK and WHITE Beauty Treatment will also remove pimples, sun-freckles, insect bites, skin blotches, liver spots and other unsightly blemishes of the skin. Remember that the BLACK and WHITE Beauty Treatment is different from other cosmetics in that it removes—does not cover or hide—the blemishes.

You can buy BLACK and WHITE Ointment and Soap at all good drug stores for 25c each a package, or the manufacturers will send both postpaid on receipt of 50c.

You can get a free sample, literature and a BLACK and WHITE Birthday and Dream Book, if you will clip and mail this advertisement to BLACK and WHITE, Box 1507 Memphis, Tenn.

HUMOR PATHOS ROMANCE An O. HENRY Story a Day

The Emancipation of Billy

(Concluded from yesterday.)

"And I am nearly seventy-eight. I am getting to be an old man. I can recall the names of but two or three who were in public life during my administration. What did you say is the nature of this position that is offered you, William?"

"A federal judgeship, father. I believe it is considered to be a somewhat flattering tender. It is outside of politics and wire-pulling, you know."

"No doubt, no doubt. Few of the Pembertons have engaged in professional life for nearly a century. None of them have ever held federal positions. They have been landholders, slave-owners and planters on a large scale. One or two of the Derwents—your mother's family—were in the law. Have you decided to accept this appointment, William?"

"I am thinking it over," said Billy, slowly regarding the ash of his cigar.

"You have been a good son to me," continued the Governor, stirring his pipe with the handle of a penholder.

Billy rose and laid his hand on the governor's shoulder.

"I've been your son all my life," said Billy, darkly.

"I am often gratified," piped the Governor, betraying a touch of complacency, "by being congratulated upon having a son with such sound and sterling qualities. Especially in this, our native town, is your name linked with mine in the talk of our citizens."

"I never knew anyone to forget the vinculum," murmured Billy, unintelligibly.

"Whatever prestige," pursued the parent, "I may be possessed of, by virtue of my name and services to the state, has been yours to draw upon freely. I have not hesitated to exert it in your behalf whenever opportunity offered. And you have deserved it, William. You've been the best of sons. And now this appointment comes to take you away from me. I have but a few years left to live. I am almost dependent upon others now, even in walking and dressing. What would I do without you, my son?"

The Governor's pipe dropped to the floor. A tear trickled from his eye. His voice had risen, and crumbled to a weakling falsetto, and ceased. He was an old, old man about to be bereft of the son that cherished him.

Billy rose, and laid his hand upon the Governor's shoulder.

"Don't worry, father," he said, cheerfully. "I'm not going to accept. Elmville is good enough for me. I'll write tonight and decline it."

At the next interchange of devoirs between the Governor and General Deffenbaugh on Lee avenue, His Excellency, with a comfortable air of self-satisfaction, spoke of the appointment that had been tendered to Billy.

The General whistled.

"That's a plum for Billy," he shouted. "Who'd have thought that Billy—but, confound it, it's been in him all the time. It's a boost for Elmville. It'll send real estate up. It's an honor to our state. It's a compliment to the South. We've all been blind about Billy. When does he leave? We must have a reception. Great Gatlings! that job's eight thousand a year! There's been a carload of lead pencils worn to stubs figuring on those appointments. Think of it! Our little, wood-sawing, mealy-mouthed Billy! Angel unawares doesn't begin to express it. Elmville is disgraced forever unless she lines up in a hurry for ratification and apology."

The venerable Moloch smiled fatuously. He carried the fire with which to consume all the tributes to Billy, the smoke of which would ascend as an incense to himself.

"William," said the Governor, with modest pride, "has declined the appointment. He refuses to leave me in my old age. He is a good son."

The General swung around, and laid a large forefinger upon the bosom of his friend. Much of the General's success had been due to his dexterity in establishing swift lines of communication between cause and effect.

"Governor," he said, with a keen look in his big, ox-like eyes, "you've been complaining to Billy about your rheumatism."

"My dear General," replied the Governor, stiffly, "my son is forty-two. He is quite capable of deciding such questions for himself. And I, as his parent, feel it my duty to state that your remark about—er—rheumatism is a mighty poor shot from a very small bore, sir, aimed at a purely personal and private affliction."

"If you will allow me," retorted the General, "you've afflicted the public with it for some time, and 'twas no small bore, at that."

This first tiff between the two old comrades might have grown into something more serious but for the fortunate interruption caused by the ostentatious approach of Colonel Titus and another one of the court retinue from the right county, to whom the General confided the coddled statesman and went his way.

After Billy had so effectually entombed his ambitions and taken the veil, so to speak, in a sonnery, he was surprised to discover how much lighter of heart and happier he felt. He realized what a long restless struggle he had maintained, and how much he had lost by failing to cull the simple but wholesome pleasures by the way. His heart warmed toward Elmville and the friends who had refused to set him upon a pedestal. It was better, he began to think, to be "Billy" and his father's son, and to be hailed familiarly by cheery neighbors and grown-up playmates than to be "Your Honor," and sit among strangers, hearing, maybe, through the arguments of learned counsel, that old man's feeble voice crying: "What would I do without you, my son?"

Billy began to surprise his acquaintances by whistling as he walked up the street, others he astounded by slapping them disrespectfully upon their backs and raking up old anecdotes he had not had the time to recollect for years. Though he hammered away at his law cases as thoroughly as ever, he found more time for relaxation and the company of his friends. Some of the younger set were actually after him to join the golf club. A striking proof of his abandonment to obscurity was his adoption of a most undignified rakish, little soft hat, reserving the "plug" for Sundays and state occasions. Billy was beginning to enjoy Elmville, though that irreverent burg had neglected to crown him with bay and myrtle.

All the while uneventful peace pervaded Elmville. The Governor continued to make his triumphal parades to the postoffice with the General as chief marshal, and the slight squall that had rippled their friendship had, to all indications, been forgotten by both.

But one day Elmville woke to sudden excitement. The news had come that a touring presidential party would honor Elmville by a twenty-minute stop. The Executive had promised a five-minute address from the balcony of the Palace Hotel.

Elmville arose as one man—that man being, of course, General Deffenbaugh—to receive becomingly the chieftain of all the clans. The train with the tiny Stars and Stripes fluttering from the engine pilot arrived. Elmville had done her best. There were bands, flowers, carriages, uniforms, banners, and committees without end. High-school girls in white frocks impeded the steps of the party with roses strewn nervously in bunches. The chieftain had seen it all before—scores of times. He could have pictured it exactly in advance, from the Blue-and-Gray speech down to the smallest rosebud. Yet his kindly smile of interest greeted Elmville's display as if it had been the only and original.

In the upper rotunda of the Palace Hotel the town's most illustrious were assembled for the honor of being presented to the distinguished guests previous to the expected address. Outside Elmville's inglorious but patriotic masses filled the streets.

Here, in the hotel, General Deffenbaugh was holding in reserve Elmville's trump card. Elmville knew; for the trump was a fixed one, and its lead consecrated by archaic custom.

At the proper moment Governor Pemberton, beautifully venerable, magnificently antique, tall, paramount, stepped forward upon the arm of the General.

Elmville watched and harked with bated breath. Never until now—when a Northern President of the United States should clasp hands with ex-war-Governor Pemberton—would the breach be entirely closed—would the country be made one and indivisible—no North, not much South, very little East, and no West to speak of. So Elmville excitedly scraped kalsomine from the walls of the Palace Hotel with its Sunday best, and waited for the Voice to speak.

And Billy! We had nearly forgotten Billy. He was cast for Son, and he waited patiently for his cue. He carried his "plug" in his hand, and felt serene. He admired his father's striking air and pose. After all, it was a great deal to be son of a man who could so gallantly hold the position of a cynosure for three generations.

General Deffenbaugh cleared his throat. Elmville opened its mouth, and squirmed. The chieftain with the kindly, fateful face was holding out his hand, smiling. Ex-war-Governor Pemberton extended his own across the chasm. But what was this the General was saying?

"Mr. President, allow me to present to you one who has the honor to be the father of our foremost, distinguished citizen, learned and honored jurist, beloved townsman, and model Southern gentleman—the Honorable William B. Pemberton."

(The End.)

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

AUDIENCE AGAIN WAITS IN VAIN TO SEE SCOVELL

Once more Ben Scovell, war lecturer, who claims relationship to Sir Henry Irving, has failed to keep a lecture date and 'set' a town a-buzzing.

This time it was Marysville, where Scovell was to have appeared last night and where he had promised to set right certain stories circulated against his claims of war record.

Scovell, who was scheduled to appear before the Adelphian Club of Alameda, the Overseas Club of Berkeley and other organizations in the Eastbay and who departed on a tour without notifying any of the committee members who expected him to appear, is this time more than ever in the center of discussion. He was to have spoken at the Marysville Y. M. C. A. last evening and to have had with him the proofs of his service overseas. Without those proofs, Secretary Frank Gates of the Marysville Y. M. C. A. had said the Berkeley man would not be allowed to take the platform.

DID NOT APPEAR

With the added interest of the test that was to be put to the speaker a large crowd gathered at Marysville to hear the address. They came early and they sat long, but Scovell did not appear. It is said that some waited as late as 12 o'clock.

It was F. A. Carne of Marysville, who saw service with the Canadians over seas, who first attacked the Scovell record and who called attention to what he believed discrepancies to Gates and others. Gates told Scovell over the telephone of the accusations of Carne and says that the Berkeley speaker replied that he had proofs and would bring them with him when he filled the Marysville engagement.

According to Carne, Scovell has claimed to be a member of the Los Angeles Rotary Club when a wire from that organization says there is no such name on the list. Carne also says that he has wired for war records and has received replies which would indicate that the 169th Battalion, in which Scovell has said he was a member, did not fight in the third battle of Ypres.

ANOTHER DIVERGENCE.

Another divergence in the Scovell accounts and those of record, according to Carne, is one concerning the burial place of the son of Harry Lauder.

Gates, the Y. M. C. A. secretary, has received a postal card dated November 5, in Oakland, which he says is from Scovell and which reads:

"Will explain on my return to Sacramento and Marysville."

He has also announced that he has received a telegram from Dr. James Francis, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Los Angeles, reading as follows:

"Ben Scovell dropped from this church for continued neglect, harmless, but cannot recommend him." Gates says that the answer came to one sent regarding Scovell's claims that he was a member of the church

Bank Officer Is Quizzed On Whisky Ring Finances

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Turning their attention to the financial end of the alleged "whisky ring" in this city, authorities handling the investigation today closely questioned George Panario, assistant cashier of a local bank and well known in financial circles in this city. Panario's possible connection with the so-called ring was made the basis of the interrogation, but at its conclusion the officials were not willing to make any statement of what they had learned.

Reports that recently reached the officials were told Panario, it is understood, and he was asked the truth of declarations that he had acted as custodian of the money against which members of the ring drew their checks. Panario, it is alleged, will be questioned again before the material the investigators are collecting goes to the grand jury.

ATTORNEY IS FACTOR

A prominent San Francisco attorney, whose identity has not been disclosed, it was rumored today, will be named as a principal factor in the operation of the ring, particularly in connection with cases of Charles Callaghan and Charles Daniels, who are accused of having attempted to bribe a revenue officer to bring about the illegal release of 8100 gallons of whisky from a government bonded warehouse.

The presence in the Federal building of Fred H. Anderson of Reno has given rise to the belief that the grand jury also may take action in the case of Harry Cooke, a private detective, who is charged with tampering with Anderson, who is a government witness.

Harry Marquard, cafe owner, today is to be given an opportunity to make good threats attributed to him to tell the government authorities all he knows about Harry Brolaski, Douglas Newton and others who are alleged to be the principals in the ring.

When the Federal grand jury went into session this afternoon, it was admitted by authoritative sources that Marquard was scheduled to appear before the jurors and tell what he knows, if anything, of the operations of the "booze ring."

It is known that the government has been in possession for several days of information submitted by Marquard.

COSTELLO TO TESTIFY

It also was disclosed at a late hour that John D. Costello, secretary to U. S. Senator James D. Phelan, in all likelihood will testify before the Grand Jury as the result of a statement credited to Marquard that he, Marquard, had been assured by Costello it would be permissible illegally to sell liquor with the understanding that 10 per cent of the gross proceeds would be turned over to the Democratic campaign fund. A subpoena has been prepared to bring Costello before the Federal investigators.

Costello has characterized Marquard's alleged statement as an "unmitigated lie," and charges that both he and Marquard are the victims of a plot whereby Marquard was to be led into a misapprehension that some sort of an understanding existed between Marquard and Costello. This purpose, according to Costello, was sought through the medium by having Marquard and Costello dine together in a downtown hotel.

Marquard had alternately declared that he has been made the "ggoat" in the ramifications of the booze ring and that he was prepared to confess, and then as strenuously has denied statements and "confessions" attributed to him.

This morning he absolutely refused to confirm or deny the charges he is said to have made against Costello.

Costello this morning said:

"The whole thing is an unmitigated lie. Several persons now under investigation for bootlegging are trying to involve other persons in trouble.

"At the outset of the present investigation it was publicly charged that politics was a factor in the booze ring. This unfounded accusation is being used as a loophole by Marquard and other persons to escape prosecution. It should be apparent to any one that they are trying desperately to clear themselves by involving others."

Asked if he had held any conversation whatever with Marquard, Costello answered:

"Absolutely none. I have never had a talk with Marquard on any matter."

United States Attorney Frank M. Silva, to whom it is reported Marquard made his alleged confession, this morning declined either to affirm or deny that Marquard had made the charges credited to him.

CHARGED TO POLITICS

"For reasons that ought to be apparent to anyone I am not in a position either to affirm or deny that Marquard made the confession he is supposed to have made to us. Of course it generally has been known that Marquard has put us in possession of certain facts in connection with the booze ring. What the facts are I cannot and will not disclose.

"The statement that he has made certain alleged confessions, did not come from my office, nor is it sanctioned by my office. This is all I care to say about the matter."

MARQUARD, RETICENT

Marquard, the central figure in the controversy, was even more reticent than Silva. He at first declined to admit that he knew anything about the alleged confession credited to him but finally, manifesting considerable exasperation, said:

"Yes, yes, I've heard about this and I have been bombarded with telephone and personal calls ever since. I don't know where they get that stuff and I am not going to discuss it. I don't know where it came from. I'm not going to say I have made any confessioin, nor will I say I haven't. I am sick and tired of the whole thing, and you can say for me that anything I have to say will be made at the proper time to the proper authorities. As far as my 'confession' is concerned, I absolutely won't say anything about it."

ANTIOCH WATER SUIT NEARS END

Closing the argument of the rice growers in the Antioch water case today, Attorney Albert Raymond quoted a large number of cases and authorities to show that Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure would not be justified in granting a temporary injunction.

Raymond declared that if the question of law was unsettled in the least that the judge should deny the injunction. He dilated further on the contention that Antioch has no riparian rights.

"The trial judge must have no doubt as to the law in the fact," Raymond declared, "otherwise there is but one thing to do—deny the injunction."

Raymond said that a preliminary injunction. He dilated further on to measure water rights in advance of trial and prior to the determination of the existing rights of the parties. He said there were no cases supporting Antioch's appropriation of water.

"The preliminary injunction is for the purpose of maintaining the status quo," said Raymond. "Otherwise it would be the equivalent of a judgment in advance of trial. Antioch is trying to take the water from the defendants clear back to 1903 on the grounds that its appropriation began in 1903."

Germans, Chinese Aid in War Upon Poland

WARSAW, Nov. 8, via London, Nov. 9.—Germans and Chinese are fighting with the Lithuanians against the Poles, according to a "communique" issued today by General Zellignowski, commander of the Polish forces that occupied the Lithuanian city of Vilna. The "communique" follows.

"Lithuanians answered our proposal for peace negotiations by attacking in the region of Giedroyce, north of Vilna, forcing us to retreat. We counter-attacked and captured prisoners, including Germans and Chinese."

OAKLAND'S AUTO SHOW WILL OPEN ON JANUARY 31

By JIM HOULIHAN

The date of the annual Oakland Automobile Show was set last night at a meeting of the motor car dealers affiliated with the Alameda County Automobile Trade Association. January 31 to February 6, inclusive, is the time named for the yearly combined exposition of motor vehicles, trucks and accessories.

If one is to judge from the expressions advanced by a number of the branch managers of larger local motor car institutions, the next automotive exhibition will hold first rank with leading national affairs from a decorative viewpoint as well as in the offering of special models. If any limitations prevail they will occur only because the floor space of the Auditorium is too small to accommodate the number of firms that would like to exhibit.

The success of last year's show will command a greater amount of assistance from automobile manufacturers and it is reasonable to expect that many of the cars which will be displayed here will duplicate models that make their appearance in New York and Chicago.

"Bob" Martland will again manage the Oakland exhibition and a show committee, to be named later, will work with him.

TRUCK DEALERS TO MEET

Motor truck dealers of Oakland will hold a special meeting Friday noon to discuss matters of immediate interest to their business.

HIGHWAY OFFICIAL LEAVES

Gail S. Hoag, acting field secretary of the Lincoln Highway Association, left Oakland this morning on a return trip to the association headquarters in Detroit. He will stop at Sacramento and Placerville to confer with local consuls of the national highway.

During his local visit he impressed automobile and newspaper men with the fact that the Lincoln highway officials have done a tremendous amount of work from ocean to ocean in getting road work started, in building object stretches of highway after which other routes could pattern. In Nevada and Utah, without any assistance from California, the Lincoln road in two years will become a well graveled or concreted section so that travel over that portion of the trans-continental motor path will have lost its hardships.

Greater Production On Farms is Urged

Cities will go hungry unless the farms are taken care of, according to Professor J. W. Gilmore of the Department of Agriculture, speaking yesterday before Oakland Chapter, California Federation of Housewives' Leagues. Professor Gilmore declared the bay cities must go farther and farther inland for foodstuffs, having no agricultural background of their own.

"More people are engaged in agriculture in California who know nothing about it than in any other business," the speaker asserted. "In California there is more bravery in sinking money into farming than any other state in the union."

The present average of crop production is one-fourth of what it might be under right conditions, the housewives were told. The narrowing of the ratio between the urban and rural communities, throwing the majority population into the cities was pronounced a serious question which the municipalities must face.

Mrs. Wilson Sends Gift to Local Fair

Receipt from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president, of a hand embroidered handkerchief with "best wishes for the success of their fair," has caused a flutter among women of the Ladies' Guild of St. Peter's church which is holding a bazaar at 591 Fifteenth street this week. The guild will put the handkerchief in the bazaar window Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday and on Saturday will sell it. Mrs. Wilson volunteered the gift when apprised of the fair by members of a Washington congregation who have friends at St. Peter's, Oakland.

Church Aid is Asked For Finch Orphanage

At the regular monthly meeting of the Fred Finch Orphanage held yesterday, J. W. Hagan, superintendent of the institution, reported that there were 80 children now in the institution and that several each week were being turned away for lack of accommodations. Present at the meeting were 22 members of the board of managers.

An appeal was made at the meeting yesterday to the Methodist Sunday schools in the Methodist Conference for a special offering to be taken on Thanksgiving Sunday, November 21, which will be used to benefit the institution.

School Girls to Aid Homeless Children

Oakland high school girls and community service girls will do their bit in financing the work of the Native Sons in taking care of the homeless children of the state, according to announcement made by Senator A. P. Anderson. The girls have volunteered to sell buttons on Saturday in the downtown streets. No price will be set upon the buttons and the purchaser may give whatever he sees fit. The money will go directly into the homeless children work.

The buttons will be used in connection with the benefit dance to be given by the united parlors of the Native Sons and Daughters at the Oakland Auditorium on Saturday evening.

LAUNCH AFIRE, NINE BURNED.

GALVESTON, Texas, Nov. 9.—Nine men employed on the Southern Pacific docks here are in the hospital suffering from burns received early today when a launch on which they were to go to the docks for their day's work caught fire at pier 22. Between thirty and forty men were on the launch when the flames broke out.

R. R. ELECTS PRESIDENT.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—William F. Turner of Portland, Ore., today was elected president of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroad at a meeting of executives of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways, which owns the road. He succeeds L. C. Gilman, who became vice president of the Great Northern road, with Seattle headquarters.

Mrs. Peete Is Seeking Speedy Murder Trial

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.— Seven women and twenty-eight men compose the venire from which the jury to try Mrs. Louise Peete, charged with the murder of Jacob C. Denton, will be chosen in Superior Judge Willis' court, it was learned today.

While numerically speaking the chances for the women to become jurors are one in four, it is understood that both the prosecution and defense favor having as many women as possible on the jury to try the accused "enigma woman."

Mrs. Peete has held her first conference with Public Defender Walton J. Wood, who will represent her, at the county jail. She is said to have urged Wood to rush the preparation of her defense, so that it will be certain that her trial will start November 29.

She is reported to be strongly against a continuance of the case for any reason.

Two More Seats Are Gained by G. O. P.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 9.—An official canvass in the Eighth Congressional district gives Lon A. Scott, Republican, a majority of 638 votes and the victory over his Democratic opponent, Gordon Browning. This fixes the political alignment of the next Tennessee delegation in the next House of Representatives on the face of the returns, as five Republicans and five Democrats—a net Republican gain of three members.

Representative Hull, Fourth Congressional district of Tennessee has been defeated for re-election by a majority of 390 by W. F. Clouse, Republican, according to the official count of the ballots.

U. S. DESTROYERS DEPART

VENICE, Nov. 9.—The United States destroyers Chandler and No. 208 left here today for Spalato, Dalmatia.

GIRL, 19, MISSING AT SAN LEANDRO

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 9.—Mildred Cottrell, 19 years old, telephone operator, who came here only a month ago from Cushing, Okla., disappeared last Monday morning with two friends who called on her Sunday, her grandfather told the San Leandro police officers today. He believes she may have gone to Los Angeles to try her fortunes in the movies.

C. F. Sellars, the grandfather, who lives at 262 Davis street, and who conducts a small ice cream stand here, says he and Mrs. Sellars have reared Mildred from infancy as her mother died when she was young. The grandparents are at a loss to account for her disappearance as she appeared contented with them.

Several months ago the Sellars came from Oklahoma and a month ago Mildred came to live with them.

Sunday Helen Reed, about 19, and A. S. Feavel, 24, who had been acquainted with Mildred in Oklahoma, came to visit her. They registered separately at the Estudillo house Sunday night. Monday afternoon the telephone office phoned to the Sellars home to find out why Mildred had not come to work. Mildred was gone.

She is a brunette and wore a wine colored suit. She took nothing with her.

Kiwanis Club Sings At Hotel Luncheon

The blue room of the Hotel Oakland at noon today vibrated with the voices of several score members of the Oakland Kiwanis club as the organization raised its voice in song. Robert Lloyd, leader of singing in American cantonments in the United States during the war, demonstrated his methods in teaching large numbers of men to sing in unison. The singing took place during the regular luncheon hour of the club.

Funeral of Late Judge Prowse of Hayward is Held

"Judge" Chas. Prowse

HAYWARD, Nov. 9.—The funeral of Judge Charles Prowse, who died at his home here Sunday morning, took place this afternoon, with notable public officials and others present from all over the Eastbay district. There was also a large number of Masons, Odd Fellows and Elks present. Judge Prowse was a member of all three organizations. Rev. C. W. Null officiated.

The Masonic services were held at the residence and the Odd Fellows' burial service at the grave. The casket was heaped with floral tributes from the fraternal orders and from the deceased's friends. Interment was at Lone Tree cemetery.

Christmas Seals to Be Offered For Sale

Christmas seals lacking the insignia of the Red Cross have arrived in Alameda county, ready for the annual distribution. According to George Filmer, director of the Pacific division, there is no direct connection between the Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis association, save a moral one. Recognition of the tuberculosis association has been given throughout the United States.

Funds from the sale of the Christmas seals, after a small appropriation to the national association, return directly to the community in which they are sold, to carry on the campaign against the white plague.

The local sale will be under the auspices of the Alameda County Anti-Tuberculosis society. Clubs and individuals are being recruited to the ranks of captains and aides, who will assist in the downtown distribution.

A. B. C. EXPLAINED AT AD. LUNCHEON

M. A. Vargo of Chicago, official of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, was the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Oakland Advertising Club at the Hotel Oakland today. He explained in detail the workings of the A. B. C., a trade organization which newspapers throughout the country employ to make an itemized account of the disposal of every copy of the paper with the object of protecting the advertiser who pays a rate based on the actual circulation of his advertising medium. He explained how the work of determining the actual circulation of a newspaper is accomplished.

B. A. Forsterer, general manager of The TRIBUNE, which is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, introduced the speaker.

He also gave a brief outline of the recent Audit Bureau of Circulation convention in Chicago, to which he was a delegate.

Following the address a ten-minute discusison of club politics was held, directed by George Cummings, president of the organization. The music for the luncheon was furnished by a phonograph.

Four Are Arrested in Bootleg Raids

Frank J. Daniels, 421 Tenth street, and Henry Hollman, 1732 Seventh street, Oakland, have been arrested on bench warrants from the court of Federal Judge Maurice T. Dooling, and are now on $1000 bail each, charged with violating the prohibition act by selling small quantities of liquor.

On a tip from Frank Tomalek of the Washington Hotel, Oakland, San Francisco police raided a lodging at 155 Third street, San Francisco, and arrested Michael Simmons and K. J. DeBoza. Tomalek charges that he bought liquor of the men which made him temporarily blind. Other liquor was found in their quarters, the police said.

LEAN BACK AND LISTEN to

HAROLD BAUER---THE ANGELUS

HAROLD BAUER, than whom no pianist is better known, more dearly loved for the magic of his art, has made a series of most delightful recordings exclusively for the Angelus---To hear his Ballade in A flat in the quiet of your own home is to hear Bauer at his very best; to know him as an intimate of your household.

It is to have the delightful privilege of calling forth at will the art of one of the chosen few. Then hear his delightful rendition of Mendelssohn's Rondo Capriccioso or the magnificent twelfth rhapsodie of Franz Liszt, the Rubinstein romance or a delightful Hungarian dance of Brahms and revel in the splendor of his interpretations and the facile beauty of his technique.

There is a subtle difference in ANGELUS REPRODUCTIONS. There is greater warmth and beauty; more truly and more naturally is recorded and reproduced the works of the master musician.

There is every mood, every characteristic of the individual artist, easily discerned, quickly recognized, giving the rendition a human quality known only to THE ANGELUS.

We invite a critical hearing of THE ANGELUS—a hearing of your favorite compositions played by your favorite artists and to musicians particularly is this invitation extended. Come, anytime, and THE ANGELUS will brush aside the skepticism of years and open the doors of the remote future to the greatest living pianists of today.

MY HEART and HUSBAND

FURTHER REVELATIONS OF A WIFE.

by ADELE GARRISON

How Alice Holcombe's Agitated Voice Over the Telephone Affected Madge.

I felt the old burden of fright and anxiety settle upon my shoulders with Katie's tidings of Alice Holcombe's message.

There must be some new and terrifying development in the Stockbridge case or she would not have been so insistent in her telephone calls. There had been an agreement between us that on account of the danger of our intercourse being spied upon we should communicate with each other only when there was urgent need, and then under the guise of friendly casual calls upon each other

Katie was watching me with wide-eyed contrition.

"I sorry I forget," she said

"I'm sorry, too, Katie," I replied, "although there is no harm done, because I asked you about it so soon. But if I had not happened to speak to you it might have caused me a great deal of trouble You will try to remember next time, won't you, Katie dear?"

A MESSAGE LEFT

"Oh, I sooch a fool!" she sighed so pathetically that I had hard work to keep back the amused laugh which would have effectually counteracted my appeal "But, you see, I try awful hard next time. I no forget me any more."

"I trust not, Katie," I said in my most serious manner, although I knew that it was practically impossible to change Katie's good-natured heedlessness. "Now I am going out for a little walk. If any one asks for me, say that I had an errand in the village and will be back in a few minutes."

"All right, I feex." Katie's voice as she caroled the familiar words which showed that she had already banished from her mind all compunction as to her memory, and as I turned away from her I permitted myself the rueful indulgent smile I had before suppressed.

I hurried out of the door, afraid lest some one should delay me. With Dicky in the house I did not wish to talk over the telephone to Alice Holcombe. The local drug store with a sound-proof booth, was only a few blocks away, and upon the receipt of Katie's message I had decided to call Alice Holcombe from there I knew that she had had a telephone installed in her own home during the summer, so I had no fear of the espionage of the friendly garrulous neighbor whose telephone Alice used to use.

With a sudden thought I retraced my steps from the gate, hurried around to the side driveway, where I had stopped the car, stepped into it and in another minute was out into the roadway. I am just getting used to the wonderful facility with which one can get errands accomplished when one has a purring engine answering the direction of one's fingers, and smiled at myself for almost forgetting that the car is ready for me at any minute.

It was Alice herself who answered the telephone when, inside the booth, I had finally secured the connection. Her voice would have betrayed her anxiety had not her words told me

"Oh, you at last!" she exclaimed with a catch in her voice

"Did you think I was going to stay all fall?" I asked with purposeful lightness. I didn't dare warn her to appear less agitated and hoped she would take the hint from my manner. "How is school getting along? Are you having that extra work you thought you would have, with which I told you I would help if you got swamped?"

"What—" she began in an astonished tone, cut the word short as my meaning dawned upon her and recovered herself in really credible fashion. "I should say I have," she said with just the right touch of irritation in her manner, "and I'm at my wits' end how to get everything done. If you could help me out I would be eternally grateful. Can't you run over this afternoon so I can tell you about it?"

I caught the stressed note of the word "this" and knew that to Alice the situation was urgent.

My mind flashed to the conditions at home, and I looked at my watch before answering Dinner would not be ready for another two hours, and there really was nothing to call me home, except the fact that every member of my household would speculate upon the reason which har called me away so suddenly. With rueful anticipation of Dicky's teasing I resolved to throw the blame upon the novice's enthusiasm for motoring, to let them think that I could not wait to try the car in the streets around my own home.

"I'l be at your house in ten minutes," I returned, "and you be ready to go out with me somewhee for a cup of tea. No excuses now. I have a thousand things to tell you about my trip, and there's nothing like a good cup of tea to make one's conversation flow easily. So be ready when I come."

I heard her little gasp of astonishment as I hung up the receiver without waiting for her assent or dissent. And as I started my car in the direction of Crest Haven I wondered fearfully what new complication of things I should find when I reached there.

Alice Holcombe must have been watching for me from her window, for as I drew my car up to the curb in front of her home the front door opened and she rushed down the walk. Her surprise at seeing me pilot a car evidently drove from her mind for the moment the things for which she had summoned me.

"Oh, what a surprise!" she exclaimed, her face and eyes showing a trace of the animation which had been hers when I first knew her, and which she seemed to have utterly lost since the tragedy which had fallen athwart Kenneth Stockbridge's life. "When did you learn? Is it your car?"

Letters of Tessie & Joe.

DEAR TESSIE:

I'm glad you found a girl to help you around the house and watch the baby. Not that I approve of too much watching for babies, as it tends to make them self conscious. Of course I realize it would hardly be wise to leave him all alone in the house. I like to think that any son of mine can take care of himself under all circumstances, but still at the same time we must remember that his age is still only a matter of months and we musn't expect too much of him in the way of judgment.

Anyway I hope the new girl will prove strong and willing. It's wonderful what a willing person can do without any particular strength to do it with, and it's almost more wonderful how much a strong person can leave undone if they really put their mind to it.

I've been noticing that on the street cars lately, Tessie. You wouldn't believe what a lot of trouble the conductors are taking to keep from being polite to any of the passengers. I've known them to stop the car in an emergency, but as for holding it there long enough for anybody to get on or off—with any degree of grace or safety, why that's a little bit too much to expect. And when it comes to daring to make so bold as to inquire the latitude and longitude of a certain street on a conductor's private route—well, if you've ever seen an impudent passenger squelched for brazenly asking questions, it simply don't come to that at all. But after all there's a code of honor attached to their actions, and you got to hand it to them for that. Their motto is: Treat the women and children worst.

The explanation is, Tessie, that since the war all classes are equal, and some of them are taking advantage of their equality to prove that they are not only equal but a darn sight better. Well, it's natural if not agreeable, Tessie. Before the days of labor unions a good many of our best citizens were knocked all over the lot and now that it's their turn at bat they're all out to be Babe Ruths. (Baseball stuff.)

Love to you and the young offspring.

JOE.

NO VALID COMPLAINT.

If the Japanese government does not blunder again, after the fashion of its contentions at the peace conference regarding race equality and the Shantung territory, it will make no formal protest against the enforcement of the anti-alien land law just enacted by the people of California, nor will it give any official sanction to Japanese residents in this State to test the law before the courts. Japan, nor any other foreign country, cannot gain anything by opposing a domestic law of the United States. She can only place herself in a position open to additional embarrassment.

Should the new California law be declared unconstitutional it will be because it conflicts with federal statutes and the freedom of the federal authority to fulfill its treaty obligations. And this is a domestic question in which the Japanese government has no occasion to show the smallest concern. So far as Japan and the Japanese are concerned the law will work no injustice. If it should be enforced to the absolute letter it will not deny to Japanese residents in this State any advantages that foreigners enjoy in Japan.

Alien ownership of land is prohibited in Japan and the immigration of laborers is not permitted. Regardless of all her pretentions of modernization and liberality Japan is the most exclusive nation in the world and takes ample care that foreigners are not permitted to engage in any operations which do not in the long run contribute to the advantage of Japan.

Secretary of State Colby and President Wilson should bear these facts in mind when they are discussing the settlement of the Asiatic problem with the Japanese representative at Washington. The spirit of the California law and the temper of the people of this State should be correctly interpreted by the State Department. Unless this is done the problem will not be settled; it will only be postponed until additional and more serious vexations develop.

ALSO WRONG ON POLITICS.

A few days before last Tuesday's election a group of Democratic campaign workers arrived on the Pacific Coast and held a series of public meetings. They came in what was known as the "Pro-League Special" to urge all in favor of the League of Nations to vote for Governor Cox and ratification regardless of party affiliations. This special train delegation was headed by Mr. Irving L. Fisher of Yale University, and "Go-to-Hell" Whittlesey was advertised as one of the star attractions.

Having carefully examined and analyzed conditions in the course of his transcontinental tour in the "Pro-League Special," Mr. Fisher felt it incumbent upon him when he arrived in San Francisco to wire the manager of the Democratic campaign a long list of predictions. He found the drift to Cox marked in every State and encouraging to the hope of Democratic victory. He did not claim Pennsylvania, but foresaw a Republican majority there much below normal. He claimed Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Kentucky and, by inference, California, safely in the Democratic column, both as to the presidential electors and the senatorships.

Mr. Fisher argued that the League of Nations supporters would vote for Cox in such force as to insure Democratic victory. But not a single one of Mr. Fisher's forecasts came true. There was not even the shadow of accuracy about any one of them. If there was a drift to Cox it was but the echo of a lost hope.

Mr. Fisher is widely known as a pamphleteer on economic and financial subjects and during the last three years has engaged in a much exploited discussion of the money and commodity price questions. His idea is to retire all gold coin from circulation, melt it up into bullion and issue paper certificates in lieu of gold, the amount of gold which these certificates would call for to be changed as the index price of commodities rise or fall. This changing of the face value of the gold certificates, he argues, would prevent the shifting of commodity prices.

It may be considered violent to compare Mr. Fisher's knowledge of currency systems and the laws that govern the exchange of commodities to his childish lack of comprehension of political conditions. But in truth one is just as wide the mark as the other. His proposals regarding gold and price indices inspired no more confidence than his political prophesies justified.

THE VANISHING TRADE BALANCE.

Figures made public by the Department of Commerce on the foreign trade of the United States for the month of September and for the nine months of the fiscal year ended September 30, show that during those nine months the exports of foodstuffs from this country exceeded the imports by only $2,506,747. For the first eight months of the year the imports of foodstuffs actually exceeded the imports, but the drop in raw sugar and coffee prices and an increase in the wheat and rye exports restored a slight credit balance for the nine-months period.

But the balance is very small. It is insignificant, merely nominal. Compare it with the first nine months of 1919, when the excess of food exports over food imports amounted to $594,816,571. Here is a loss in the favorable balance of trade in foodstuffs alone of $592,309,824.

There has been a lot of reckless talk about the ability of America to feed the world. But here is a showing that we are buying from abroad practically the same amount that we sell abroad. The uncomfortable showing is partly due to the speculative spree in sugar and the stimulation to buying by false scares of shortages, but it is plainly to be seen that our position as a feeder of the world is very insecure, when a little campaign of market profiteers can disarrange the balance of trade.

It is well that the country is awakening to the importance of the tariff question, and in general the economic problem of protection for American industries. The enormous balances of trade piled up during the war have shrunk to almost the vanishing point. One-half of one per cent of the 1919 balance in foodstuffs remains.

Electors of the "Hall of Fame" of New York University have chosen Mark Twain to occupy a niche in this imaginary temple to the memory of distinguished men. The famous humorist received the highest number of votes cast for any candidate for honor, of any classification, and Dr. William Thomas Green Morton, a physician, got the next highest. It is entirely according to their deserts of humanity that a humorist and a physician should be selected first among those who have rendered distinguished service, and it is not at all improper, nor ironic, that the humorist should of the two men come first.

The projected meeting between President-Elect Harding and General Obregon, president-elect of Mexico, has for the present been abandoned. The suggestion of a conference between these two gentlemen might be revived after both have been formally installed in office. One might visit the other either in Washington or Mexico City. Precedent against a chief executive leaving his country has been broken recently and if the public interest will be served by a conference between the heads of two neighboring republics there will be no considerable sentiment against such a visit.

THE CALIFORNIA'S CREW

When the great ship Tennessee was put in commission, her crew had already been recruited; and recruited from men of the State the ship was named after. A short, snappy drive and over a thousand men had been enlisted.

The superdreadnaught California is about to take the water and begin her career. This ship, the latest word in fighting efficiency and comfort for all hands, is to be for Californians. The drive is now on, and the youth of California are being called upon to do their bit. The men of Tennessee filled their quota in record time—from present indications California will go over the top in like manner.

As has been said before, in many articles concerning the California, it is the greatest ship in Uncle Sam's navy, and that is saying a great deal—for every U. S. ship is A-1. The men who are to go on this ship are to have every comfort that could be provided by naval experts, and none of the old so-called discomforts, such as the necessity for coaling ship, etc. The California is an electrically driven ship, and has the most wonderful kitchen "galley" in the world, including an ice cream plant and a refrigerator for meats and vegetables that could provide for all the needs of a fair-sized city. It is going to be a great ship, and every Californian will be mighty proud of her.

There are now over 200 men in training for this ship on the Island, and from a consensus of opinion they all like it and are anxious to get their billets on board the huge Queen of the Seas, the U. S. S. California.—From the Golden Gate Sentinel, published by the men of the Goat Island Training Station.

NOTES and COMMENT

The President-elect has intimated his desire for advice. It is likely that considerable of this commodity will be promptly forthcoming, but the President-elect, in evincing a willingness to receive, doesn't enter into an obligation to adopt—at least all that may be offered. The situation, anyhow, will be different from that which has existed during the eight previous years, when the sign has been so conspicuously displayed, "No Advice Wanted Here!"

McAdoo says "U. S. must bury hatreds arising from the war." Not so hard to do that as soon as it is fully realized that such hatreds as exist are due to this country's bungling after the war. And that realization is in a fair way now to be had.

The left wing of the Independent German Socialists has joined the communists in celebrating the anniversary of the Russian revolution, and at a demonstration the orators advocated a world revolution. There we see a close association, and also there we see where some of the anarchistic sentiment comes from. It may not be taken seriously at home, but when transplanted to this country, even in small sections it is potential with mischief.

A despatch states that Poland has concluded a secret treaty with Letvia with a view to partitioning Lithuania. It would seem that Poland, through being partitioned herself for one hundred and fifty years, has acquired the habit. No sooner is she freed from the several dominances resulting from her own partitioning than she gets busy partitioning another country.

There was a feeling before election, on the part of wets, that everything was not hopelessly over. Why they felt that way is more apparent after the colossal blizzard; for now it is admitted from an important wet quarter that beyond question the pig is up. Such an admission, it is hardly probable, would have been made had the election gone the other way, or had it been close.

Parley P. Christensen, late candidate for President on the Farmer-Labor ticket, is in the southern part of the State, and announces that his party is to keep right on, and to come again in 1924. He represents that it will embark in industrial enterprises—such as setting up tanneries, working up the product into shoes, and selling the same to the populace. The plan is commendable on general principles, but there may be doubts as to whether just that will get anybody very far toward the White House, four years hence, or at any time.

For more than fifty years a Republican has had as much show in Georgia as a snowball in that oft-mentioned region, but the results of the recent election were so far-reaching that three Republican Congressional candidates, whom the returns show to have been defeated, are going to appeal their cases to Congress, claiming frauds. Since the war no Republican has been sent to Congress from Georgia.

'Somebody has commenced to tell what a big job the Republicans will face when they take the reins of government. There is reason to think this fact is realized by the immense responsible element of the country. The business of repairing the inroads that have resulted from extravagance, political chicanery and the rankest incompetency, not to mention the correction of governmental policies that were leading the country into deeper dangers, is something that may earnestly engage the best talent of the land and bring forth a patriotic determination of the people to cooperate.

General Wood is saying the sort of thing that stamps him as the right kind of American, whether he goes into the cabinet or not. "Scrutinize immigration" says the General. And Americans who recall what has happened to the country from not scrutinizing it properly in the past are in full accord with him.

"Colorado miners vote to end coal strike." Another notable sign that the strike era is passing. It is believed the coming administration will have full consideration for honest industry and honest effort of every kind, but it is not expected, for political purposes and through socialistic proclivities, to create false conditions in the industrial world, or to foster unrest.

The Bakersfield Californian discusses a contingency: "A learned eastern professor declares that owing to the sharp-pointed shoes that we are wearing toes will eventually disappear and the human race will develop hoofs. ## SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

The northbound noon train was tied up for four hours Wednesday when engine No. 132 slipped a tire in Tunnel 10, north of Ukiah. The tire wedged itself between the wheel and fire box and could not be removed, owing to the danger of cutting through the fire box into the boiler and causing an explosion. The train crew was despatched to Willits for a welding outfit. In the meantime two freight trains, one on either side of the tunnel, also were tied up. The tracks were cleared for traffic at 4 o'clock.—Ukiah Press.

Between 400 and 500 Japanese of Fresno county are returning to their own land, according to County Clerk D. M. Barnwell. The sudden desire of the Japanese to leave the United States and return to their own land is a mystery, Barnwell says, but the fact remains that for the first time in history the movement of the Japanese is out of Fresno instead of into the county. They have recently sold their holdings for big prices.—Los Banos Enterprise.

OLD MAN WINTER PAYS US A VISIT

FINANCING FOREIGN TRADE

By DR. FRANK M. SURFACE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 1920.—A prominent business man of New York recently remarked to the writer that one of the corporations of which he is a director had seriously considered the advisability of moving their head office from New York to London. The corporation in question does several million dollars' worth of business a year, a very large portion of it with private firms in foreign countries. Since the corporation is concerned with American products it would seem strange that they should find an advantage in being located in London.

The point in the whole matter is the ease with which foreign financing can be handled in London compared with New York. He illustrated this by an example of a sale made to a firm in Australia. An acceptance drawn against this firm could be sold in an hour's time in as many as a score of different London banks and the proceeds could be used at once in the firm's business. The same instrument taken to a New York bank would be refused unless perhaps by chance it was drawn on a firm with which this particular bank had had dealings recently. Instead the New York bank would state that they would take the matter up through their Australian correspondent and if the report were favorable they would buy the acceptance. Such procedure requires weeks of delay.

In the meantime the American bank very gladly offers to loan the corporation any sum they may wish taking their individual security and exacting the current rate of discount. The corporation is thus forced to carry its perfectly good acceptance and in addition must borrow money at a high rate of interest.

There can be no doubt that the cash discount system is more profitable to the bank, but it is forcing an undue burden on the manufacturer and the exporter. Our present cash discount system arose as a by-product of the civil war, because of the great disorganization of credit throughout the country during the reconstruction period. If this country expects to grasp and hold the opportunity for foreign trade now before it, it will be necessary to revise its banking customs in accordance with the more finely developed systems in use in European countries.

That foreign trade is absolutely essential to our future prosperity is questioned by no one who has given the matter any thought. At the present time the great decline in the price of cotton is almost wholly due to the inability of foreign countries to purchase their usual amounts. Last year we exported more than $5,000,000,000 worth of material. European countries are fast recovering and are making a determined effort to recoup their finances by exportation. As an instance of the rapidity of this recovery the exports from France in the first nine months of this year were nearly three times her exports in the same months of last year. In another year or two there will be the keenest kind of competition for the world's markets. Unless American firms have the advantage of the best financial assistance they will fall behind.

There is an amazing lack of understanding and appreciation in this country of the advantages of acceptance usage. This is true not only of business men but of many bankers. Considerable confusion also arises because of a duplication of terms. There are two main classes of instruments under the term acceptance which should be carefully distinguished. One is the trade acceptance' which is used wholly for the settlement of domestic transactions. It is used in place of the old open book account and is always drawn by the seller of goods against the buyer. It is always evidence of a completed transaction in which the buyer desires credit for from thirty to ninety days. If the seller is in need of funds he can always discount such a trade acceptance at his bank and thus avoid the necessity of a loan.

The other form of acceptance is the bank acceptance in which a bank agrees to loan its credit to either the buyer or seller of goods. To illustrate a simple acceptance transaction and to show its advantages over the cash discount system, we may take the case of an American firm who receives an order for goods from a responsible company in Argentina. Presuming that American banks were really handling acceptances, it would be possible for the American manufacture to go to his bank armed with his firm order and sell to the bank an acceptance payable say in 90 days within which period the goods are to be shipped. The manufacturer has the use of this money to purchase perhaps the raw material, certainly to pay the labor that goes into the products for the Argentine firm. When the goods are shipped and the bills of lading delivered to the bank he has completed the transaction. He has used the banks credit instead of his own. He has saved the commission formerly paid to a foreign banker for collection. The accepting bank has sold the acceptance to an investor with the result that the whole matter is equitably adjusted.

In order to handle acceptances used in foreign trade it is necessary for a bank to have up to date information regarding the financial standing of firms in all parts of the world. The English bankers who have long specialized on this work have this kind of information. If this country expects to maintain its present hold on the world's commerce the same feature should be developed here.

DUTY

Could I but do one worthy deed,
Or write one living line
To fill the measure of my need—
Could I but sow one fruitful seed,
Then were contentment mine.
Could I but sing one living song
To banish formal pain,
Could I but right one crying wrong
Or help one weaker soul along,
I had not lived in vain

So vast the universe, so cold
The peaks to which we climb
So gray the skies, the stars so old!
So many sheep strayed from the fold
And so swift fleeting Time!
Strive as I may, somehow it seems
That each succeeding sun
Finds me yet distant from my Dream
On paths rock strewn, with swollen streams
And no day's journey gone

Yet must I carry on the fight,
Still I must do my best,
So, when I pass from out the Night
Into the Day, into the Light,
My weary Soul may rest!

COSTS OFFICER DAY'S PAY FOR USING HIS HEAD

Woman's Tears Opens Cell For Ex-Hubby; Commissioner Raps Subordinate.

Instead of being rewarded for voluntarily acting as judge and jury in the case of one intoxicated citizen, Patrolman H. T. Blakely was today fined one day's pay by Commissioner Morse.

Blakely is attached to the Melrose station. While on his beat he picked up a highly illuminated citizen and took him to a nice little cell.

Soon a taxicab drew up. The prisoner's divorce wife appeared with tears in her eyes. She pleaded with the policeman to let him go. She intimated that her attitude toward her husband was softening.

Recognizing the great fame gained by Judge Graham in San Francisco for reuniting forlorn couples, and sympathizing with this attitude, Patrolman Blakely is said to have decided to emulate Graham.

He opened the cell doors and the prisoner took the taxicab for home.

"I believe policemen should use their heads," says Commissioner Morse, "but not too much."

$30,000,000 Pool to Help Livestock Men

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Bankers of Chicago and other cities met here today to complete arrangements for a $30,000,000 pool to help finance the livestock industry. The conference is the outgrowth of the plea for aid to the Federal Reserve board at Washington recently by livestock producers, packers and bankers. The bankers said they had decided to proceed independently, since no material aid was obtained in Washington.

The corporation, it was said, will confine its operations to the extension of credit to livestock producers whose loans have been called by the banks, and who, as a consequence are threatened with the alternative of marketing immature stock.

Wall Around Lake Nears Completion

A rock wall around Lake Merritt, under construction for a long time, is now near completion, according to Secretary Henry Vogt of the park board, who has been utilizing old street paving, concrete blocks and bricks to build this barricade around the waters and protect the lawns.

The north end of the lake has been walled in for years, the new work being done between the boathouse and the Twelfth street gate in front of the Auditorium. The cost of the work only amounts to the cost of the labor of park board employees.

Indo-China Hotel Man to Face Trial in San Francisco

© INTERNATIONAL

MRS. MABEL MAY WITCHELL, upon whose complaint her husband, James Henry Witchell, was arrested in Chicago yesterday on a charge of violating the Mann Act.

James Henry Witchell, rice milling engineer of Saigon, Indo-China, arrested in Chicago yesterday on a charge of violation of Mann act in abducting Miss Helena Dasson, preferred by his wife, Mrs. Mabel May Witchell, now in San Francisco, will be brought back to San Francisco within the next fortnight, according to the latest developments in the case. Witchell is held in $5000 bonds.

A. P. Desouslavy, attorney for Witchell, who is said to be in this country on a mission to negotiate finances for a contemplated airplane line between Saigon and Paris, declares the entire innocence of his client of the charge brought against him. He refers to Mrs. Witchell as an "intensely jealous woman" and expresses astonishment that one of her prominence in the Orient should care to drag her family through such court proceedings. He attributes the new charge against Witchell to the failure of Mrs. Witchell to hold him on the divorce proceedings filed in the San Francisco courts last month.

In her complaint for divorce Mrs. Witchell named Miss Helena Dassan, whom Witchell declares is governess to this two younger children, as co-respondent. When Witchell arrived at the dock from China on his present mission, the papers were served on him by Mervyn Dowd, attorney for Mrs. Witchell.

Witchell was permitted to proceed to the east following the declaration that he was a British subject, and that it was not within the jurisdiction of the court to compel him to pay Mrs. Witchell $150 a month alimony or award to her the custody of the two younger children.

WOMAN SAYS HER MALE COMPANION IS AUTO BANDIT

William Lajorie Sought By Police On Strength of Story of Mrs. Moldenhauer.

The notorious foothill bandit who has held up scores of motorists on the boulevards east of Oakland is believed to have been trapped by the police of Oakland and San Francisco, with an arrest a matter of but a short time.

Behind the tip which same first to the police across the bay and which had directed the search for William Lajoie, 30, lies a story of a quarrel with a woman. Angered by the treatment she has received from the man with whom she has been living for six years, Mrs. Amelia Moldenhauer, 26, told the police that Lajoie has been responsible for a large number of crimes in Oakland and in San Francisco.

ABUSED WOMAN IS NEMESIS OF MAN

Lajoie, according to Mrs. Moldenhauer, took part in the Foothill boulevard holdups on the night of January 20, when bandits operated with unusual daring and secured a large haul from a number of parties of automobilists. The day following, the woman says, Lajoie and a man named Curtis were in a McCoppin-street house reading an account of the robberies when Curtis admitted their part. Lajoie, she says, warned him to keep quiet.

Shortly after, according to Mrs. Moldenhauer, Lajoie was implicated with another man known as Vincent Edwards in the assaulting of a girl in Pedro valley. It is said that the two men threw the girls from an automobile in which they were riding. When a warrant was issued for Lajoie he went to Portland, taking with him a quantity of liquor which he hid in the radiator and in the tires of an automobile. Police in San Francisco say he is responsible for scores of robberies.

WOMAN SAYS SHE MELTED STOLEN JEWELRY

Mrs. Moldenhauer says that she met Lajoie in 1914 at Crockett, where he was working. He took her to Detroit, where she left him when he abused her. After she had returned to San Francisco, Lajoie followed and later took her to Detroit again. During the past three years the two have lived at various hotels and apartment houses. Mrs. Moldenhauer says that several times each week Lajoie would come to her with a quantity of jewelry, which she would melt for him, and that he struck her in the face and knocked her down when she asked where he got it. Several of the man's companions, she says, are serving sentences for holdups.

The woman was in tears when she went to the police with her story. Lajoie, she said, had tried to kill her, and in self-defense she had shot him in the leg.

POLICE START QUIZ IN CARLSTON ROBBERY

On the strength of Mrs. Moldenhouer's story, Captain James Drew today started an inquiry to determine if Lajoie had any part in the Carlston burglary on July 17 last.

The Leon Brennan mentioned by her as a companion of Lajoie is in the county jail charged with being one of the gang that committed the Carlston job.

Ed Collins, another alleged member, is also in the county jail. The police have known that one man escaped and are working on the theory that it was Lajoie.

Lajoie's name has been mentioned before in investigation of the Carlston burglary, Captain Drew admitted.

STREET DEPARTMENT MEETS.

The regular Tuesday morning meeting of street department heads was held this morning in the office of Commissioner Edwards, where various problems in connection with street work were discussed.

Navy Base Site Presentation On Wednesday

As trustees for the nation, the congressional commission on naval bases, coming to Oakland on Wednesday of next week, will have formally given them, the 5340 acres in the Alameda site which the people of that city voted a year ago to deed to the government.

This has been decided by the joint committee on arrangements of the Oakland and Alameda Chambers of Commerce.

The presentation will be made in the Oakland city hall by Mayor Frank Otis of Alameda. Already he has placed the deed to the site in the hands of Secretary Daniels, so the ceremony at the city hall will be a reaffirmation of Alameda's gift and an official presentation to the United States.

As planned by the committee on arrangements, the visit of the Congressmen to the mainland will consist of an inspection of the site, a beginning of the hearing, an investigation of the industrial and housing conditions and entertainment at a luncheon and a dinner.

The commission will be brought from San Francisco by water in the morning, circling the site and landing at the city dock at the foot of Clay street. The Congressmen will then be taken to the city hall where the formal presentation of the lands will be made.

This will be followed by an informal luncheon in the Hotel Oakland and then will start the tour through Alameda for an inspection of the housing facilities. A special train will carry the commission to the site for actual viewing the land.

After site inspection, the commission will be taken on an automobile ride through the industrial and residential sections, including the Skyline boulevard, and will be entertained at a public dinner in the evening.

The Italian delegates proposed that the independence of the new state of Fiume be recognized by both countries, but the Serbian delegates, especially Anton Trumbitch, the Jugo-Slav foreign minister, strongly opposed independence for Fiume. They maintained that the port was Serbia's only safe and fit outlet to the sea.

It is asserted that Count Sforsea, the Italian foreign minister, made the Serbian delegation understand clearly that if an accord is not reached within a few days Italy intends to avail herself of the rights conferred upon her by the pact of London, recognized by France and Great Britain, and apply the clauses contained in the past in their entirety, without, however, giving to this solution any character of hostility against the Jugo-Slavs.

... injuring the public highways by an overloaded truck, and with a large number of truck owners, dealers and associations backing Johnson in his defense that heavy loads are not prohibited, a motor vehicle act violation case which is expected to have wide significance came to trial before Superior Judge James G. Quinn today. It was continued until next Saturday.

ATTORNEYS IN LINE.

Attorney A. F. Lemberger, representing Johnson, Attorney J. F. Vizzard of the San Francisco Draymen's Association, Attorney Arnold C. Lackenback, representing a motor car dealers' association, and Oscar T. Barber, attorney for a local automobile concern, defended heavy loading of trucks and declared it was necessary for the great volume of truck transportation.

That the provisions of the code that no truck may travel on the highway whose weight is more than 800 pounds to an inch width of its tires, applies only to the truck itself and that the load is exempted from this provision was Lemberger's plea.

CASE ON APPEAL.

The courtroom was crowded with a large number of men interested ... transportation and the motor car business.

The case came up on appeal from the decision of Justice P. C. Quinn of Pleasanton township, who found Johnson guilty of violating a truck too heavily loaded on the highway near Santa Rita.

MARTINEZ PLANS HUGE BAY DIKE

MARTINEZ, Nov. 9.—Local engineers have directed the attention of the chamber of commerce to a pln for building a dike across Suisun bay to conserve the fresh waters of the Sacramento river. The chamber, after investigations, intends making reports on the plan to government engineers. It is proposed that a dike be built from Chipp's island, near Pittsburg, across the middle grounds of Suisun bay to within a half mile of Benicia arsenal. It is pointed out such a dike would force the waters of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers to follow a defined channel to Carquinez straits, and would not allow salt water to back up over a great portion of waste Solano county lands. It is the opinion of several engineers who have investigated the proposal that the dike would reclaim a large section of land and would relieve Antioch and other cities of water supply problems.

New Solano County Hospital Inspected

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 9.—A large crowd attended the reception given by the Solano Board of Supervisors at the new County Hospital in Suisun valley when the building was formerly opened for public inspection yesterday.

The new building, which was recently completed as a cost of approximately $160,000, will be occupied by the inmates of the old hospital late this week. The building is one of the most modern in every detail. It embodies the suggestions of the State Board of Charities and Corrections together with the best points in hospital construction that could be obtained from inspection of other such buildings in the state.

SON FINED FOR ANNOYING FATHER

Father and son opposed each other in the police court today on a disturbing the peace charge brought by H. J. Westorff, the father, against Vincent Westorff, the son.

"Why," said the son, "I own half of the very bed he sleeps in!"

"And half of the hair on his old gray head?" asked Prosecuting Attorney Donohue.

The son, the evidence showed, owns half of a four-flat building in East Oakland. He was squabbling with his father over collection of rents and divisions of revenue.

"He beat on the door with a club and yelled at me something terrible," said the old man. "He climbed up a ladder and dropped in through the skylight in the roof. He raised an awful row."

"I was trying to serve a summons on him in a suit for division of revenue," said the son.

"You've no business to annoy your old father, no matter what the provocation; you can fight that out at law," admonished Judge Herbert D. Wise.

"You're fined $10 and ordered to stay away from his place."

Pastor and Wife to Celebrate Anniversary

Commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding Rev. and Mrs. John Stephens of the First Methodist church, Oakland, will receive the members of the congregation at an informal gathering in the social rooms of the church at Twenty-fourth and Broadway on Friday evening.

During the entire period of their wedded life Dr. and Mrs. Stephens have served churches in the bay cities and in Stockton. Dr. Stephens was installed as pastor of Simpson Memorial church, now Wesley church, San Francisco, in 1895, serving nine years. The following seven years were spent in the pastorate of Central Methodist church, Stockton. Returning to San Francisco, he was appointed to Grace church. After three years in this charge Dr. Stephens was named superintendent of the San Francisco district. Two years later he was appointed pastor of First church, Oakland, where he is now in his fifth year. Mrs. Stephens was formerly Miss Elizabeth Peters of Stockton. The musical program of the evening will be under the direction of the church choir.

$25,000 is Left Among Relatives

The will of the late Mrs. M. Jennie Armstrong, Berkeley, who died last month, was filed for probate today. It disposes of an estate valued at about $25,000.

The will leaves $500 to the Central Union church of Honolulu, of which Rev. Albert W. Palmer, formerly of Plymouth church, Oakland, is now pastor, for use in foreign missionary work in China; $1000 for the education and maintenance of Sherman Armstrong Jones, a grand-nephew; $500 to a niece, Clarisse W. Jones; $500 to a grand-niece, Mary Claire Weaver; $500 to a grand-niece, Ida Eleanor Weaver; $500 to a niece, Margaret Marshall Armstrong, $500 for the education and maintenance during minority of the five children of Mrs Louise Scoville; $500 similarly for the five children of a niece, Mrs Edith Talbot. The balance is divided equally between a sister, Mrs Ellen A. Weaver, Berkeley Inn, Berkeley; a nephew, Philip L. Weaver of Honolulu, and a niece, Henrietta W. Fangel, 2534 Piedmont avenue, Berkeley.

Textile Workers Will Fight Decrease

By HAROLD D. JACOBS,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Reports that textile manufacturers contemplate a general wage reduction as a step toward lowering prices to the public were received here today by John Golden, international president of the United Textile Workers of America, with the declarations: "We'll fight."

Golden declared that the "first persons who must accept a reduction in "wages" in the textile industry are the stockholders."

"Next come the extremely high paid executives," he said. "When all this is done it will be found there will be no reason for reducing wages of textile workers."

Referring to the Uncasville Manufacturing Copany, which reopened its Connecticut mill yesterday after its 200 employees agreed to a 20 per cent wage decrease, Golden said that if manufacturers whose plants are unionized attempt a similar move it will cause an endurance test.

Stage, in Wild Run, Scatters Itself, Others

LIVERMORE, Nov. 9.—There were a series of kaledioscope and exciting events on the State highway, two miles east of here, at 9 o'clock last night, this way:

Drivers towed a new 18-passenger auto 'bus for the Star stage line toward Stockton.

The stage swung out from behind its tow car and hit a machine carrying Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Baldwin of Turlock.

The tow line snapped and the runaway 'bus careened 50 yards down the road and went over a bank against a power line support.

The insulator of a wire carrying 60,000 volts broke and crossed lines, illuminated the countryside with gigantic flashes.

The lamps of Livermore went out.

After these occurrences an inventory was taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin were not hurt, but their car was damaged.

The stage had lost a wheel and was much marred, but was insured.

The power company had expensive replacements to make.

And Livermore used candle light.

Jury is Obtained For $20,000 Damage Suit

A jury was obtained today for the trial of the $20,000 damage suit of William Clausen against Sarah Aftergut for personal injuries suffered when the latter's car ran down Clausen on East Fourteenth street, January 4, 1920.

Clausen is attempting to prove that the Aftergut car was being operated carelessly and unlawfully when it struck him and badly bruised and cut him.

COUNCIL ORDERS AUDITOR TO PAY ELECTION CLERKS

Over the objection of the city auditor, the council this morning, by unanimous vote, ordered payment of $3012 with which to give $2 extra compensation to every official employed in an Oakland precinct at the recent election. By four votes the council can force payment. The auditor must now pay the demands.

The council also adopted a resolution ordering payment of $1905.50 to the Bay City Iron Works for a booster pump, over the rejection by the city auditor.

Auditor Williams held up payment on the ground that bids for this pump, and the award, were not in accordance with the regulations. Commisioner Soderberg said it is "to be regretted that claims for necessary work, promptly and efficiently performed, should be unnecessarily held up by the auditor and the city's credit with business firms jeopardized."

The application of H. C. Hill for a permanent garage near his apartment house at 465 Bellevue avenue was allowed, over the protest of Mayor Davie.

In order that members of the police and fire departments shall have funds often during the holiday season, a resolution was adopted that these employees be paid November 16 and December 16, as well as on their usual pay days on the first of the month.

New Line to Shorten Travel to Mexico City

Building of 36 miles of railway from Del Rio, Texas, to Allende, Coahuila, Mexico, will shorten travel by 24 hours between Oakland and Mexico City, it is announced by Trade Commissioner Cunningham in Mexico City to the department of commerce.

The company which will build the road will be known as the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway. The line will make a direct link with the Southern Pacific over which trains connecting with those from the Pacific coast and from Kansas City and Chicago will run.

With the Alameda county membership in the California State Conference of Social Work approximately one-tenth of the total, an active federation of the various social and welfare workers and organization is immediately to be attempted here. Among the conference leaders in this county are: Dr. Edna W. Bailey, county chairman, Mrs. Helen Swett Artieda, member of the state executive committee, Miss Lucy Stebbins, program chairman for the state convention in San Francisco beginning February 23 next, Dr. Agnes Claypoole Moody, Jay B Nash, Dr. Robert Legge, Mrs. Duncan McDuffie, Dr Jessica Peixotto, Miss Elizabeth Skeels, Judge Everett J. Brown, O. F. Snedigar and others.

The county federation to be organized will succeed the county chairman plan. Regular meetings will be held to discuss welfare measures and technic. A survey of the entire state as to delinquency, recreation, public health work, education, family and child welfare, industrial problems, relief work, and other phases of social problems, will be undertaken through the various units in which Alameda county will join. The fundamental purpose of the proposed federation is to eliminate waste and duplication of effort and strengthen public support of social work by making a unified appeal.

A series of conferences is shortly to be held in the bay cities, when Miss Helen Henry, state executive secretary for the Conference of Social Work, will meet with representatives of health, school, civic, library, charitable, juvenile court, child welfare, Americanization, playground and other workers, together with representatives from the Y. W. C. A., Red Cross and kindred organizations.

Dimond Postoffice Will Be Restored

Members of the Dimond Improvement club have been successful in efforts to have the Dimond branch postoffice restored. Lease on quarters at Hopkins street and Fruitvale avenue awaits return of J. J. Rosborough to the city for signature.

The association is now seeking immediate fulfillment of promises made by Commissioner Edwards that Fruitvale avenue should be repaired before the winter rains.

Kansas City Murder Suspect is Captured

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 9.—Denny Chester, 24, wanted in Kansas City in connection with the murder of Miss Florence Barton, society favorite, was arrested here today. Chester was captured in a hotel where he was masquerading as an army officer and had been chased by Kansas City officials to Los Angeles and as far back as Great Falls. His arrest resulted from a letter received here.

Police trailed Chester to his hotel, broke down the door of his room and found him lying on a bed with a revolver within easy reach.

Chester is wanted for the theft of an automobile, for jumping a bail bond and other crimes in various cities, according to local police.

SETTLEMENT FORESEEN.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A Rome despatch quotes the Corriere della Sera's Santa Margherita correspondent as saying there is every reason to hope that there will be a speedy settlement of the controversy between Italy and Jugo-Slavia, but if no decision is arrived at within three days the negotiations will be abandoned.

MINORS TELL MAJORS THEY ARE NEUTRAL IN BASEBALL WAR

HARD-HITTING FOUR-ROUNDERS WILL PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT AT AUDITORIUM TOMORROW

MAJORS MUST SETTLE THEIR FIGHT BEFORE MINORS WILL STEP IN

President Hickey Declares A. A. Outfits Will Keep Their Hands Off; Johnson to Fight.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9.—The minor leagues of America are neutral in the greatest baseball war of major league history.

This was the ultimatum laid down by the heads of the three Class AA leagues as leaderes of both major league factions reached here from Chicago. The major leagues must settle their war before the minors will adopt any new agreement to govern the majors and minors, according to Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American Association.

Hickey was backed in his ultimatum by W. H. McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast League, and David L. Fultz, president of the International League.

"The three Class AA leagues will keep their hands off in the major league war," said Hickey. "Peace must be declared and all differences settled before any one of these three leagues will agree to a renewal of relations."

After failing to reach a peacemaking basis among themselves, representatives of major league baseball here today looked to the minor leagues to bring about an adjustment of differences over the control of the national game.

The minor leagues, holding their annual meeting here, were looked to by some of the clubs to refuse endorsement of either the National or the American League factions in their war over reorganization plans. Instead, indications were that they might offer a basis of compromise on which all might get together and work in harmony.

This was the view expressed by Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington club, and of the "loyal five" in the American League, which opposed a committee of three to govern baseball as proposed in the Lasker plan.

STILL CHANCE FOR BASEBALL PEACE

"There's still a chance for peace in baseball," Griffith said. "It's up to the minor leagues to act as peacemakers. I think all want peace and I'm going to do all I can to bridge the gap. There are a lot of my friends on the other side."

Griffith said both warring factions had appointed committees to some here to see the minor league officials and that he was going to ask the minors to appoint a similar committee to meet with both. He explained that by meeting with the two major league committees the minors would have a chance to get the separate views of the belligerents and possibly bring the two sides together. Griffith doesn't believe the minors want to mix in the fight by taking either side. He feels that unless the minors are able to conciliate the two positions there will be no agreement by the minors with either major faction.

"If the war goes on," said Griffith, "it will be a good winter for the lawyers. Everyone in baseball will lose money, the public will get a bad taste and the final result will be that all will get together sometime."

EBBETTS SAYS FIGHT IS FOR PRINCIPLE

Charles Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club declared the twelve-club league was fighting for a principle. He said the two factions in major baseball in the past always have been deadlocked and that the new National League, in its proposal of a vote by club owners instead of by leagues, had in mind an arrangement that would work to the accomplishment of something good for baseball.

Thomas Shibe, president of the Philadelphia Athletics, today announced that the American League would put new clubs in Chicago, Boston and New York. Shibe would not name the interests to back them.

Players for these new teams would come from the former American League clubs in those cities that have gone over to the minors. He looks for three American League clubs to be created, even if court action was necessary. He pointed out that under the rules of the American League, players and franchises belong to the league and not to the clubs and that the three "bolting" clubs forfeited all rights to their players when they withdrew.

JOHNSON SAYS NEW LEAGUE IS IMPOSSIBLE

The new National League is an impossible proposition, Ban B. Johnson, president of the American League, declared in an interview today.

"We are going to go ahead with our own affairs, putting new clubs in Boston, Chicago and New York," Johnson said. "The National League never has had a stomach for a fight and we don't look for them to win this one."

EWING OPPOSED TO TAKING SIDES

Branch Rickey, vice-president of the St. Louis National League club, declared a baseball war now is ill-advised and pledged the Cardinals to "peace at any reasonable price."

J. Cal Ewing, representing the Pacific Coast League, said he believed the minors would favor appointing a committee of three to confer informally with the two major league committees. Ewing was opposed to the minors taking sides before the majors settle their differences.

TY COBB IS FOR BAN JOHNSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9. — "I'm for the American League and for Ban Johnson."

This was the emphatic declaration today of Tyrus Cobb, star outfielder of the Detroit team, commenting on the action of three of the American League club owners in pulling away from the American League organization and joining with the National League.

"From the player's viewpoint, it looks to be as though the whole rumpus is due to politics and personal animosities on the part of the minority owners who have withdrawn," Cobb continued. "Ban Johnson's administration has been a constructive one. The progress of the American League under his guidance has been healthy and steady. It has grown into the lead under Johnson's guidance.

"A twelve-club league would not be successful. History has proven that. I believe that when those who are now backing it sit down and consider it from a business viewpoint they too will reach this conclusion.

"It is natural for the National League magnates to want to join hands with the insurgents from the American League. They have seen the junior league advance to leadership and of course it is good business for them to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery of the American League if possible.

"But first, last and regardless of what happens in baseball, I am for the American League."

ROOM IS ROBBED.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 9.—A sneak thief entered the room of Rowen E. Harris at 2319 Webster street, last night and stole a suit of clothes.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9.—(United Press)—Lee C. Fohl and Clarence Rowland were gossip's favorites for the St. Louis Browns managership.

George Tebeau, former owner of the Kansas City Blues, passed the word that "Denver is ripe" for a Western League franchise.

Thirteen young players from the Western League will go south with the majors next spring—a record.

Larry Cutton, Brooklyn scout, and Secretary Bancroft of the Reds, were among baseball's old-timers mixing in the lobbies. Like all conventions, delegates had to have badges, programs and credentials.

Harry Neily, Chicago baseball writer, looked over the hotel pressroom with its eight typewriters, plenty of copy paper, chairs, messenger call boxes and announced it a "world series layout."

SAILORS AND MARINES TO PLAY

The Beach Park gridiron on the Valejo waterfront is being placed in shape for the big football classic on Thanksgiving Day, when the Sailors and Marines from Mare Island will settle their 1920 dispute.

TRIBUNE LEAGUE NEWS--CHATTER

By EDDIE MURPHY

There will not be any games played next Thursday by the teams of The TRIBUNE Mid-winter league. That was decided last night when most of the managers announced that it would be impossible to get their teams together. Most of the managers favored playing off the postponed games on Thanksgiving Day and President Fred L. Krumb has issued orders that the games postponed last Sunday will be played Thanksgiving.

The Class B games, which were scheduled for last Sunday, will take place next Sunday, while the Class A clubs will go by their regular schedule. Following is the schedule of games for next Sunday:

CLASS A DIVISION

Alameda Beths vs. Coast Tire and Rubber Co., at Lincoln park, Alameda.

Halton-Didiers vs. California Cotton Millers, at the Coast league park.

Crystal Laundry vs. C. L. Best Tractors, at San Leandro.

CLASS B DIVISION

Espees vs. Melrose Merchants, at High and E. 10th streets.

Central Oakland Merchants vs. Oakland Moose, at Key System park.

Crystal Laundry vs. Allendale Merchants, at Allendale playgrounds.

Modern Woodmen vs. Hayward Natives, at Hayward.

Peet Bros. Soap Co. vs. Elmhurst Merchants, at Ninety-first avenue.

CLASS C DIVISION

R. W. Tutt Hardware vs. C. L. Best Cruisers, at San Leandro.

Andresien All Stars vs. Melrose Athletic club, at Melrose.

Fruitvale Cubs vs. Grove Street Tigers, at Elmhurst.

Yankee All Stars vs. C. L. Best Steel Co., at Thrasher park.

Joe Devine, manager of the Calgary club, champions of the Western Canadian league, is taking a big interest in The TRIBUNE league games. Joe grabbed several good youngsters from the league last winter, and is hanging about ready to grab some more. To add interest to the Class A battle for being the leading batter in the league, Joe Devine says he will give a pair of spikes, a glove and a bat to the player who has the best Class A batting average at the end of the season. That's the pepper, Joe.

Several of the teams in the Class A division will be strengthened for next Sunday's games. The Best Tractors have signed Tom Kelly to play the outfield. Tom had a good season with the Gilroy club of the Mission league. Pete Starasinich will also join the Tractors next Sunday.

Rube Silver, former manager of the Vallejo Buffaloes, says that the managers in the Class A division of The TRIBUNE league are overlooking a good youngster in not grabbing Coon Minney, who lives at Vallejo. He describes the kid as one of those kind who can hit a ball hard and burn up the paths, as well as gather them in in the outfield. Minney can also pitch. The young outfielder is willing to come down and show what he can do.

The Halton-Didiers club, which is leading the Class A race, looks to be the best bunch of players that Manager Manuel Duarte has ever assembled to represent the Isle City. In Boldt, Freddie Maas, Truck Kues and Austin Ross, Duarte has a fine quartette of fly chasers. Walter Keeley, Jack Conger, Babe Danzig and Tommy Scanlon is one of the strongest in the league. As for the battery department, the Halton-Didiers are as well off as any club in the league. The veteran Al. Ross is behind the log, with Lane Shultis, a youngster, and Babe Hollis, a season chucker to shoot them at him.

Billy Bolesworth, the outfielder who drew his release from the Oakland Moose team, is not going to be out of a job very long. There are several managers in the Class B league who are trying to sign Billy up. Bill is one of the hardest working players to don a suit in the Class B league and his playing has been of Class E calibre and some times better. The boys are saying that "Shorty" Hale will regret the releasing of him.

Frenchie Clement, who requested his release from the Central Oakland Merchant manager, is another who will not be idle long. A manager called up last evening to get some information on the peppery catcher, and the chances are that he will be in one of the Class B games next Sunday. Frenchie is one of those catchers who has the entire team [illegible]

Have you ever watched a left-handed catcher perform? If you haven't, then you had better take a trip out some Sunday morning to where the Yankee All Stars will play. Bianchie, who does the catching for that club, is a left-handed thrower and we watched many right-handed catchers who failed to look half as good as he. Some of the right-handed batters at the plate feared that they might get beaned when Bianche threw to the bags, but the catcher can show pretty good control of the old crooked arm.

The Crystal Laundry team will certainly be strengthened by the addition of the Rewher brothers. Clade will play the short patch, while the addition of Ray will be in the outfield.

The Hollister baseball fans tossed close to a hundred dollars at Walter (Dutch) Holstrum for Iwnning the final game of the championship series of the Mission league, with a long clout. The drive which Dutch made was good for a triple, at least, but Dutch ran as far as first base and turned back to get his favorite bat, as the crowd made a dive from the stands for it. But the men of the Hollister chamber of commerce talked Dutch out of the bat, and it is now holding a prominent place in the window of the Hollister chamber of commerce. Dutch and all the other members of the Hollister club will attend a banquet at Hollister next Thursday night, and each player will receive their cut out of the series, as well as fobs and other trophies put up for the winning club. Johnny Gillespie, Pete Starasinich, Phil Apperson, Freddie Maas, Goldensen, Babe Pierotte and Paul Codington are other local boys besides Holstrum who played for Hollister.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

By MAURY PESSANO

Walter "Dutch" Holstrum, who joins the California Cotton Millers Sunday, was the big hero in the final game of the series that was played between Hollister and Gilroy at Watsonville. Dutch hit a homer in the final inning with the bags loaded, giving his club the championship game. He not only won the game with this long drive, but he also got a couple of hits that kept the Gilroy fans worried. Walter is a dangerous man with the stick, and is going to be a big help to the Millers in The TRIBUNE league. Manager Cotton is going to use the big fellow around the difficult corner. This will mean that Ed Handley will be shifted to short. Phil Apperson and Gussie Smith, two other stars with the Hollister club, will join the Millers this week.

Paul Codington, another local boy, was a hitting star in the Hollister-Gilroy game. Paul got a couple of smashes, and did some great work around the third sack. Goldenson played short for Hollister and hit two right on the nose. His playing around the short patch for the Mission league champs has been a feature throughout the season. For a big fellow he is very fast and covers plenty of ground.

Freddie Maas and Ollie Burns will join the Halton-Didiers this week. Both boys have been playing down the Mission league. Maas played left field for the Hollister club. He will be used in left by Duarte, while Burns [illegible] play one of the other outfield positions.

Phil Koerner, manager of the Coast Tire and Rubber club, is happy today. Now that the series between the Hollister and Gilroy clubs is over, Koerner will have three of his stars in the fray Sunday, when John Gillespie, Frank Sears and Jerry Coleman join the Rubber boys. Gillespie will be the chief flinger. He and Fodder Dolan should bring home a lot of wins for the Tire boys. Frank Sears will cover the initial sack. Lee Cunningham, who opened the season for the Tire boys, will be carried by Koerner.

The Melrose Athletic Club has a lot of hard hitters. Sunday, in the game with the Tutts at Elmhurst, the Melrose boys found the shoots of three of the Hardware boys' best hurlers for twenty hits. Three of the club men sent out four hits each. Combadalade, short patcher for the winners, was one of the youngsters to get four clouts. He got a homer, triple and two doubles. Johnson got a homer and two doubles.

Next Sunday afternoon, at the Oakland Coast league park, one of the best games of the season should be witnessed. The Halton-Didiers will leave their home lot to tackle the California Millers. Manuel Duarte, manager of the clothiers, will use Lane Shultis on the hill, while Frank Cotton has Dutch Rock. Dutch has already worked against the Alameda clothiers, who found him easy in the pinches. The big blonde is working out every day, and expects to be in great form.

Alameda Bethlehem Tug-of-War Team Defies Them All

The Alameda Bethlehem Shipbuilding tug-of-war team is growing over-anxious for the opportunity to meet an opponent and W. E. Day, athletic superintendent at that yard, has come out with a challenge on behalf of the Beth team to any tug-of-war team in the State. Day says that all the teams are trying to dodge the Beths since they won the shipyard championship from the Moores. Day is preparing a challenge to be sent to the Oakland police and fire department tug-of-war teams, as well as all those representing shipyards. Tom Costello is captain of the Beths. The Beths would like in particular to meet the police team for which big Jim Fleming is anchor man.

FANS WHO LIKE FANCY BOXING NOT LIKELY TO REMAIN OUTSIDE

Rough and Tumble Gents Are Hired to do the Battling, With Some Knockouts Promised

By BOB SHAND

"I suppose all you lovers of high-class boxing will be going to prayer meeting or staying home tomorrow night," chirped Broadway Bill as he slid into a seat in the backroom where the boys were congregated and a law-abiding bartender wasn't charging more than four bits a shot.

"What ya mean, stay away?" asked the galleryite.

"Oh, nothing," said Bill. "Only I seem to have heard you chattering about being a lover of fancy boxing and being against the sluggers. But I guess you are like the rest of them. I know a lot of fans who rave about the pecking banties and feathers who could go 10,000 rounds without even hurting each other. That's what they call real boxing, but the only time they rave about them is the next day or maybe the day after. They're raving at 'em during fighting hours.

"Yes, sir, you don't ever see the fans up on their feet shouting like crazy people when a pair of your educated self defense artists are functioning. But let Bill Shafer, who doesn't know anything about boxing, and Nathan Thomas, who knows even less, start fanning the air with haymakers and the excitement starts. The buys who rave about the clever boxers are swinging on their neighbors in their excitement and they don't even notice that the man behind them has banged them over the head with a chair. But the next day they will be telling you about the fancy boxing of Benny Vierra and Babe Herman and deploring the sad fate of the fighting game that tolerates such slugging matches as the Shafers and that kind put up.

Fancy Boxing Does Not Make a Hit

"I even saw in the paper last week that while the Jimmy Dundee-Young Brown fight was interesting enough, it was no clever boxing exhibition. Maybe some folks would have preferred to see the kids with pillows on their hands fighting according to the book. Jimmy would say now you lead with your left and then count one while I counter with my right. That's what the little book says. I said "Maybe" some folks would like that kind of boxing which is ethical and everything like that, but there never was a crazier or better satisfied gang of fight fans assembled in the auditorium than the customers who stod on their chairs and yelled when the Brown-Dundee team threw science to the winds and started slugging. The fancy stuff is all right for the benefit shows and the smokers, but your average cash customer wants fighting—not boxing.

"And take it from me that knows, there is going to be more real fighting at the Auditorium tomorrow night than the boys have been treated to since they started holding fight shows at the municipal building. A slant at the card gives me a hunch that there will be two and maybe three knockouts and there isn't a battle scheduled that doesn't figure to be brimming over with action.

Shafer and Thomas Should Be Sensation

Bill Shafer and Nathan Thomas are down among the preliminaries, but they are going to draw big from the shipyards. Last time out the fans almost tore the roof off the building. Thomas bounced Shafer off the floor several times in the first two rounds and only Bill's mean looks and line of chatter prevented the colored boy from knocking him for a row of cottages in the second round. The finish of the fight a few seconds from the end of the fourth found Mr. Thomas reclining on the floor all in and darned near al lout also. That was one time when a man was both out and in at the same time. They threaten to repeat tomorrow, as there is bad blood between them.

Tim Kelly and Pat Boyle are back again. There are no harder hitters in the middleweight ranks than this pair and I'm including all the territory that will be ruled over by Mr. Harding next March. Pat and his sore hands had a nice workout with Larry Fremont last week and Manager John Burdick says Patrick's paws are strong enough to flatten the Kelly boy. That remains to be seen, as Milt Moore said the other night when he let another gent gaze on four nines and charged him in the neighborhood of forty bucks for the privilege.

Main Event Promises to Be Rough Party

The main event promises to be a rough affair with two rough and ready gents in the leading roles. Last time Barry and Anderson entertained it took half the Sacramento police department to pry 'em apart and they were under the ring and battling like wild cats when a flock of cops reached under with their night sticks. The boys were given a free taxi ride from the pavilion while the customers money back, claiming that they couldn't see the fighting that took place under the ring. Barry has been knocking 'em silly on the bush circuit the last few weeks, while Mistah Anderson's most notable achievement since the Sacramento affair was a victory over old Tham Langford up north a couple of weeks ago. The party promises to be rough this evening.

Johnny Sudenberg qualifies as a four-rounder by accepting a match with Battling Ortega. They all get that way soner or later. Johnny needs the dough and Ortega needs the exercise, which is the motif of the match, as the society editor would say. Of course, Sudenberg might pull a surprise and Governor Cox might ask for a recount.

Benny Vierra Will Get a Real Test

Babe Herman and Benny Vierra have finally been paired off. It was a cinch some smart matchmaker would grab this plum and Simpson beat the other to it. Herman looks about the best boy of his weight around here, but the way the Vierra kid has been scrapping of late there is no telling just how good he is. It took Benny a long time to get a serious tumble from the critics, but they have finally realized that he is a real fighter and able to hold his own with the best of them.

Caesar Attell, the monied man from Third street, is going to take a whirl at Kid Finney and Caesar admits it is no match, as he towers away above the Finney kid. Caesar has been writing letters to the papers telling the sporting editors that when they got tired of watching tramps perform to match him with the Finney boy and he would show 'em something. Tonight's the night for the showing.

Caesar Attell Used to Be Very Careful

When the three Attell boys, Able, of Pollow fame; Monte and Caesar, were all fighting Mrs. Attell used to say that she always dreaded the night Able fought because he might get hurt and she never went to sleep the nights Monte fought, in case something happened to him, but when Caesar fought she went to bed with an easy mind because she knew he would never get hurt. However, the youngest member of the famous family has shown a little more fighting spirit since he "came back" and he hasn't been taking any brodies.

"And to round out the program we have Joe Ketchel, the newest K. O. king, and Georgie Eagles. Ketchel has stopped Ralph Rivers and Louis Leonard in successive weeks and he says he will make it three in a row tomorrow.

"But as I was saying, the fancy boxing fans will remain away, so there won't be any parking room within four blocks of the Auditorium.

Baseball Gets Hard Wallops But Survives

Who will be next to deliver a wallop at Old Kid Baseball? The old boy proved himself to be a tough guy when he lived through the war and came back stronger than ever. The grand old game was going along great and fans all over the country were speaking of how it held its popularity throughout the war, and then came another wallop. Scandal among clubs in the Pacific Coast and other minor leagues were the first blows delivered, and then came the scandal in the majors. The scandal has not yet died down, and as fans were wondering if baseball would survive after a cleanup, along comes another batch of bad news from the major leagues. The owners of club in the American and National leagues must think the scandal will not hurt their game enough, so they have gone out and started a fight among themselves, and if matters don't straighten out pretty soon, there will be reason to believe that next season will be one of the worst for baseball.

WILL THE MINORS SPLIT?

Today brings the meeting of the minor leaguers at Kansas City and it wouldn't surprise in the least to see splits among magnates of several minor leagues just the same as happened in the American and National. According to reports sent out after a canvass among the minor magnates gathered at Kansas City yesterday, the majority are against the Lasker plan and favors being ruled by the same old national commission, with the exception that a representative of the minor leagues be appointed. We are now going to wait and see if the minors will lead a hand in trying to kill their own game, the same as the majors showed signs yesterday of doing.

Minor Leagues Will Reject Lasker Plan

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9.—War clouds looked dark for the proponents of the Lasker plan for baseball reorganization when the presidents and club owners of the twenty-two minor leagues of the nation met here today to vote on the proposed civilian tribunal as the supreme governing body of organized baseball.

When the committee of three appointed by the "New National League" organized yesterday in Chicago arrived here to present the Lasker plan for the consideration of the minor leaguers, indications were that it would be overwhelmingly defeated. The minor league leaders declared themselves capable of conducting their own affairs. Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American association; David L. Fultz, head of the International league, and A. R. Tierney, president of the Western and Three I leagues, all recognized leaders in minor league affairs, were not backward in expressing their disapproval of the Lasker plan.

"To have the major leagues select the officials to govern us would be merely to go back to the old system from which the minors withdrew last winter," President Hickey said.

"The major leagues do not have to select the members of the new commission for us. We are capable of taking care of our own affairs. Twenty-one minor leagues finished the 1920 season and thirty-seven are ready to start next season.

"We employ more players than do the major leagues combined; we have at least as much money invested, and never will consent to a scheme by which we would have no voice in the selection of the men to handle our affairs."

With a revolutionary movement sweeping through the major leagues, the minor leaguers themselves started a campaign involving a shake up within their own organization.

The movement contemplates the removal of John R. Farrell, of Auburn, N. Y., who has been secretary and treasurer of the association since its formation 20 years ago, and the election of M. H. Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., as his successor. Sexton for a score of years has been a dominant factor in minor league affairs. For several years he has been president of the National Association of Minor leagues, an honorary office without salary. His supporters claim to have enough votes to insure his re-election. It is planned to vote him a salary of $7500 and move minor league headquarters from Auburn to Chicago.

Exposure of crookedness in the world's series of 1919 has been of greater benefit to the minors than the major leagues in the opinion of President Fultz of the International league.

Tech-Fremont Will Clash on The Gridiron

By BUD MORIARTY

When the cuckoo whistles four tomorrow afternoon at Bayview Field, Eighteenth and Wood streets, Fremont High school ruggers will be lined up opposite Technical High school waiting for the gun to start one of the most doubtful frays of the San Francisco-Oakland High School Athletic League. Doubtful because [illegible] confidence in the camp of the Purple and Gold fifteen of late, and unless they snake this they will receive a trouncing. Coach Daddy Street's combination are working on another angle, having lost two games to date. [illegible] body is working for victory, thinking of victory, but not overconfidently talking victory.

Fremont would chalk up more points if they learned the gentle art of dribbling. This element of the rugby pastime has been overlooked by most of the local secondary schools in their contests. A fast backfield awaits the leather if the Green and Gold scrum can hook it out, this being doubtful as they are too light for the Tech men. Gibson to Trelli to Ellison to Wearry or Reed seems to be a winner provided the forwards take the lead out and fight. Captain Jordan at rear rank is a man of fighting calibre to reckon with.

Coach Andy Hardin will probably enter Lowes and Hennison at front rank tomorrow. Hennison put up a sterling exhibition in the Cogswell-Tech fracas last week. The rest of the club will probably remain intact except for Campeau, who will play either at rear rank or breakaway. This gent is a big rough-boned fighter. Pop Ludders, Tech fullback, has been nursing a charley horse along, but he will be able to enter, as will Dow, center three, who [illegible] in practice.

C. L. Best Cruisers Keep On the Top

The C. L. Best Cruisers stayed at the top of the heap in the class C division of The TRIBUNE League by defeating the Grove Street Tigers 14 to 0. L. Kardoza pitched a five-hit game for the Cruisers. The hitting by A. Kardoza, who got a pair of doubles, and also that of Pills, who hit three safe ones, was a feature. The score:

Berkeley "Y" Has A Fast Unlimited Basketball Team

Coach H. L. Thompson of the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. unlimited basketball team thinks that he has the best Y. M. C. A. team about the bay after watching his boys perform at Crockett. Although they hadn't played very much together, the Berkeley boys traveled to Crockett and handed the Crockett Community Center club a 41 to 27 beating. The boys showed wonderful teamwork for a first game, their passing being fast and good. Allen Tocher, the tall center who was with the Spartans for the past two years, is now performing with the Berkeley Y five. Coach Thompson worked several subs into the lineup. The bright stars were Babe Nevin, Allen Tocher, Bridgen and Williams. Thompson's team will soon be ready to meet any of the unlimited teams about the bay.

The fellows who represented Berkeley Y at Crockett were T. Ross, Babe Nevin, G. Ross, Iverson, Allen Tocher, Techelel, Bridgen and Williams.

Grand Jury Ready to Submit Report On Baseball Scandal

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—A report on its investigation of charges of corruption in Pacific Coast baseball league games in 1919 may be made by the Los Angeles county grand jury today, it was stated by Frank W. Stafford, the deputy district attorney directing the inquiry.

Mr. Stafford declined to advance an opinion as to whether indictments would accompany the possible report or say whether any more witnesses would be called.

Fremont and Neeson Tangle At Vallejo

[illegible]

Petaluma fans will come here this evening to witness the four-round battle between Freddie Adge of the egg town and Scotty Diest of Mare Island. The battle will be one of six bouts to be featured at the Airdome arena by the Vallejo Athletic club. James Neeson of this city and Larry Fremont of Oakland will furnish the main event.

NAVY YARD SHOW

Much interest is being taken in the bout between Lester Sullivan and Young Murphy of this city, which will be staged at the Mare Island navy yard tomorrow as a feature of the dedication of the new recreation center for the station employees. Sullivan is to retire from the arena after the battle tomorrow.

EDDIE SHANNON WINS

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 9. — Jack Thompson of Philadelphia and Porkey Lewis of Oakland, welterweights, boxed a 12 round draw here last night.

GOSSIP of GOLFERS

The recent match at Ingleside between the golfing pros in which considerable momentary remuneration was involved goes to prove the sportsmanship in golf and among golfers when the Blacks and Espinozas were asked whom they wished to referee their match in which an adverse decision might mean so much they declared that any competent official would suit them or they would play as they usually do in ordinary matches without one. The fact that the man who officiated in the double capacity of referee and course steward did not have a single appeal of complaint from [illegible] the players is sufficient justification for the claims that golf is on a plane of its own in the sporting world. The match is sure to be the forerunner of other challenges in the near future. The success of the Esperanzas in their preliminary canter against the hitherto invincible Scotch combination should bring Macdonald Smith, Bob Lager and others into a challenging mood.

Charles L. Foley of Claremont and California and Sam Conlan of Olympic and Lincoln Park clubs, both employees of the same banking concern, have arranged to play off for the city championship on Thursday, Armistice Day, instead of Sunday as was formerly announced. The match will be well worth seeing as both players are credited with extra determination to win the bank championship as well as the city championship. The match starts at 9:30 and 2:30 p. m. Bobby Byrne is to officiate at this important contest.

Christie Mathewson is Recovering His Health

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—After a year's fight against tuberculosis, Christy Mathewson, one time major league star pitcher, today was reported recovering at Saranac Lake. Although he still spends his days reclining in a darkened room and his strength will not yet permit of the fresh air cure, the affected right lung has improved under gas treatments, his fever has vanished and he is gaining in weight and strength, his physician said.

Torrance Land Act Will Be Discussed

Henry J. Weeks will discuss the Torrance land title act voted on during the 1914 referendum, and which has for its object the insurance of land titles by the state, at the meeting of the Merchants Exchange this evening.

Weeks declares that the act is one which can be used voluntarily and [illegible] the abolition of all private title companies. According to Weeks, the law provides that a property owner may come into court, determine what is against his property and have issued to him a state guarantee of title, which holds against all claimants. This process, says Weeks, does away with all recording as now done.

Brother Leo Will Be Lions' Speaker

Brother Leo of St. Mary's College will be the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Oakland Lions Club at the Hotel Oakland tomorrow noon. In the absence of Le Roy Goodrich, president of the organization, who left yesterday for a ten day trip to Wyoming, Secretary Frank Woodward will be in charge of the luncheon.

Alameda Soccer Teams in Exciting Contest for Honors

Hard fought games were the rule in the 100-lb. and unlimited leagues of the Alameda City School soccer leagues. Three of the games played resulted in tie scores and one game was won by the close margin of one goal.

In the Unlimited league, Washington and Porter played their third tie game. Next Friday these two teams meet again. Haight unlimited team sprung a surprise on the Porter school team by holding them to a tie score in the first game and winning the play off by a score of 1-0. Standing of teams in Unlimited league:

| | Won | Lost | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Washington | 1 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Haight | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Lincoln | 0 | 1 | .000 |
| Porter | 0 | 1 | .000 |

Thursday afternoon the 100 lb. [illegible] from Porter and Washington played a 1-1 tie game.

Standing of the teams in 100 lb. league:

| | Won | Lost | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Haight | 1 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Porter | 1 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Washington | 0 | 1 | .000 |
| Lincoln | 0 | [illegible] | .000 |

The week commencing November 8 will be the decisive week in both the 100 lb. and Unlimited soccer leagues. Double headers will be played every night except Friday to determine the champions of the two leagues.

Stanford Heroes Are Given Royal Welcome

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 9.—With a [illegible] to 0 win over the University of Washington, the victorious Stanford football team returned to the campus from Seattle last night. The entire Stanford student body was at the depot to greet the team when it arrived home.

Speeches were made by Coach Powell, Captain Wilcox and other members of the team. Yell Leader Wendell Kinney led the Stanford rooters in giving the Cardinal yells.

The Washington contest was the last game the Stanford varsity will play before the clash with the Blue and Gold on California Field November 20. Each team has won two conference games and lost none. This will be the Big Game of the season in every sense of the word.

Starting the season with the mediocre team, Coach Powell has developed a fighting organization that has upset the dope in its last three starts.

Coach Powell started his boys on the final lap of their training today with a light workout to limber the men up after their long trip north. Lights have been installed on the field so that the early darkness will not interfere with the length of the practice period.

FOOTBALL CLAIMS VICTIM

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. [illegible]—Stanford Grill, 17, player on the Decatur, Neb., high school football team, died here yesterday from injuries received in a game September 29. He had played in two games since he received the blow in the side, which resulted in his death, being responsible for his team winning both.

"for clean oil in a clean engine"
CALOL
ZEROLENE
We use CALOL FLUSHING OIL ZEROLENE

The motoring public has been quick to appreciate

OUR new Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service for motorists has won immediate approval. Many motorists have come to us for Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service since our first announcement last week.

It shows that motorists want to maintain their cars in perfect running condition, clean and well lubricated, and that they appreciate a service that does the work for them thoroughly and quickly for a nominal charge. It saves them the trouble, time and inconvenience of doing this necessary but dirty work themselves.

No automobile can operate at its best when lubricated with dirty oil, diluted with gasoline. Fresh oil added to the old dirty oil does not help much.

The engine and crankcase should be flushed clean at frequent intervals—regularly. It is the only remedy.

The garages listed below are now equipped to do this work thoroughly and quickly for a nominal charge, and in the modern way—using Calol Flushing Oil, the correct cleansing agent—and refilling with Zerolene of the correct grade for your car.

This treatment given once to your engine will result in immediate better performance. Done regularly it will lengthen the life of your car.

TODAY: Bring in your car for Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service.

MORE BOMB THREATS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Police last night guarded the apartment house at Fifth avenue and Eighty-first street in which Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Elihu Root and other prominent families live, as the result of a bomb threat telephoned by an unidentified woman.

ARMY MAN TO RUN PRISON.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 9.—Col. Claude B. Sweezey, graduate of West Point, 30 years in the army, was today appointed warden of the Maryland penitentiary by the State board of prison control. Colonel Sweezey is now commanding a regiment in California.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

"Tanlac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than in years," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan of Peabody, Kansas, one of the most prominent stock dealers in the Middle West.

"It has not only made a new man of me, but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all of my friends about Tanlac, but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awfully run-down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and couldn't take any interest in my work or anything else. My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect.

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if any one doubts it, just tell them to see me."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley by The Owl Drug Company stores and Eberly's Quality Pharmacy, Alameda.—Advertisement.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—Lillian Tharp, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. Lester E. Warner, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

The Spirit Juggler

(These remarkable revelations are written by Miss Molly Wynter, the famous Medium in the Mask, whose amazing seances set all London talking. Miss Wynter tells exactly how the effects were produced which seemed so baffling, and today she lets readers into the secret of some of her weirdest mysteries).

By Miss Molly Wynter

(The World Famous Medium)

CHAPTER V.

There are singularly few materializing mediums in this country, and this fact probably accounts for the tremendous interest aroused by my performance before Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and other investigators. The production of a ghost is naturally regarded as the highest point of mediumistic achievement, but the reader may wonder why more of the alleged mystics do not include the production of a "spook" in their ordinary repertoire. The reason is that it requires a great deal of nerve to pass off a bogus ghost as the genuine article.

Far be it from me to suggest that the average medium does not possess a fair share of nerve. Some of them are more than liberally equipped in this respect, but while they can carry on with less convincing "phenomena," the majority prefer not to take the larger risk of juggling with their own or other people's bodies.

Sooner or later every materializing medium meets with a sceptic who will break the circle and clutch at the supposed ghost. In every such case there is trouble for the sceptic or the medium; generally the former fares worse. It is an accepted article of spiritualistic faith that if you touch a ghost you injure the medium. May I suggest that this depends largely upon the force with which the ghost is touched?

Theory and Practise

Theoretically, a ghost emanates from the body of the medium, and if you touch the spook it flies back home so quietly that the medium may never recover from the shock. How convenient! When someone seizes the ghost, and refuses to let go until the lights are turned up, it is customary to find that the adventureous grabber is holding on to the medium. But does this satisfy the believer that the medium is cheating? Certainly not. As Mahomet could not go to the mountain, the mountain had to come to Mahomet. In other words, the medium's body had enveloped the ghost merely for the purpose of protection. And what of the ropes with which the medium had been bound to prevent her moving? They lie scattered on the floor, untied. Why? The explanation offered by the medium is that spirit friends untied her. But if no one had seized the spook the medium would have said, "The ghost could not have been me, because I was unable to move." It is impossible, even for mediums, to have it both ways.

I have explained how I used a ghostly confederate to hoodwink newspaper men, and how a clergyman paid me to stand ghostly sponsor for the spook that he impersonated; now I want to tell you of my favorite goblin—one that I play myself.

Producing the Ghosts

Those who have attended the seances given at my apartment will recall the conditions under which my ghosts are materialized. The drawing-room is divided by a pair of folding doors. The audience sit in the larger portion of my room, and the remainder forms a kind of miniature stage. If both the dividing doors are folded back the whole stage is open to view, and this part of the room is closely inspected before and after each seance.

When it comes to the time for me to produce a ghost I close one of the folding doors. In the center panel I have had a hole drilled, just large enough to accommodate a piece of clothes line, and at the same height from the floor as my neck.

I first pass the clothes line through the hole in the door, and ask one of the sitters to hold the end that comes out in the room. The other end I bring around the door, and ask someone to tie it around my throat in any manner he or she may please, and with as many knots as desired.

This being done, I ask the other person to gently pull his end of the rope until I am pulled around behind the closed door and close up to the drilled panel. When the clothes line will not pull through any farther, it is obvious that the knots around my neck are stopping it.

Everything in Order

I now invite someone to inspect the conditions, and to say whether or not everything is in order. So far there has been no deception, and the examination is therefore satisfactory. Before returning to his seat I ask the investigator to turn down the light, and the person in charge of the rope to keep tight hold of it, and, if he feels me moving my head, to say so out loud.

In a few moments a "ghost" appears in the open doorway. It glides round the visible half of the stage and out in the room. It touches the faces of the audience with a damp glove, and behaves generally as all good-mannered ghosts should do. Still the man at the end of the clothes line is convinced that the medium has not moved, and yet the ghost is me.

When I think the audience has had sufficient, I instruct my "keeper" to release the rope, so that I may turn up the lights. Then I walk out in the room, pulling the clothes line after me, still tied around my throat as at first. Marvelous, is it not?

Like all good things, the secret is absurdly simple, yet it has puzzled very nice people merely because it never occurred to them that a woman would be audacious enough to attempt such a bluff.

What Actually Happens

This is what happens. When I have been pulled around behind the closed door, out of sight of the audience, and after everything has been examined, I cut the clothes line with a knife, freeing myself, and leaving the knotted ends in position against the door. The unsuspecting stranger at the other end of the clothes line cannot pull the rope through the door, because the knots prevent such a thing. Consequently, he is prepared to swear I am still "under control." Now I extract a wig and drapery from beneath my skirt, and adventure forth as the spirit of Nell Gwyn or some other of my many spook characters.

So far, all has been easy, but now comes the little bit of "nerve." I carry on my person a duplicate rope. I tie one end of this around my neck, using the same number of knots as I can feel on the ends hanging against the door, and allow the loose end to lie on the floor. Then I call out, "Don't move, anybody. Quick! Release the rope, I want to turn up the lights."

The goaler leaves go of the rope immediately. The important point is that no one knows what to expect. I pull in the original clothes line, make it into a bundle, and hide it in a concealed pocket. Then I poke a few inches of the duplicate rope through the hole in the door, and turn up the lights. The switch is just far enough away from the door to account for the loose rope end being pulled nearly through the bored panel. I walk over to the man who tied me, and ask him to undo his knots. The little bit of protruding clothes line is an artistic end that causes me infinite amusement. Someone always goes over to examine it. Why they do so I have not the faintest idea, and I am perfectly sure they have not, either. And so we have laid another ghost.

Industrial Court Is Favored By Labor

MANILA (By Mail).—Jeaquin Balmori, president of the Philippine Federation of Labor and locally called the Gompers of the Philippines, has come out in an unqualified indorsement of the Court of Industrial Relations as established in Kansas by Governor Allen. Mr. Balmori has submitted to the Bureau of Labor a memorandum urging that a similar court be created here. He believes the court will prevent strikes and lockouts and will enable industry to proceed as usual pending the adjustment of disputes.

Employees of 100 factories, including all the large tobacco factories, are included in the unions represented in the federation.

Blue Bird Bureau

Hail, all you Goodfellows, and answer the call of expectant children!

They await you, sure that you will respond, knowing that the Christmas spirit that makes them want to be remembered will be equally strong in prompting you to give. They come, some timidly, some confidently, questioning the Blue Bird as to Christmas. There are the youngsters who have asked before—and received—and those who have only heard of what Goodfellows do at Christmas time. These come in shyly, their words are halting, but their wants are real and their faith in the Goodfellows of Oakland is a thing that cannot be resisted.

Year after year as the holiday season approaches the Blue Bird has tried to be a medium through which the kiddies whose parents cannot afford to make merry in the approved Christmas fashion receive the happiness due them. During the balance of the year their real needs are looked after. If they want clothing, Goodfellows are told and they usually respond; but at Christmas—Christmas is the time for toys, candies and presents that bring a different light to the eyes and smiles to the lips. It is the carefree time of the year. Misery can be forgotten, tomorrow can be looked forward to with more hope if on Christmas day the children are happy.

And did you ever stop to think what a little thing makes a small child happy? A doll, a Teddy bear, a wagon, a toy, and CANDY—why, for days they will live on the happiness of Christmas day. It is looked forward to on the drab, ordinary days as the most wonderful thing in the world, and it is the Goodfellows who have made it so for many a small boy and girl.

The plan has been each year for Goodfellows to get in direct touch with those who want to be remembered. The children depending on Blue Bird for their Christmas have written and come into this bureau, telling their wants, and the Goodfellows are asked to see them, find out what they need and see that on the "day of days" they are not forgotten.

Christmas morning, with no full stocking, nothing to make it "different," would break the heart of many a baby, and it is to Goodfellows that the Blue Bird turns this Christmas, as in the past, and as it will turn in the future—sure of response.

Forgetting holidays for the minute—a mother of seven children asks for some little clothes for a little stranger due to arrive "almost any day." She says it is hard to save money for the extra one coming, and has asked the Blue Bird for help.

---

Then there is another mother, whose husband has been very ill and woh is just now beginning to work. She needs clothes for her little family. There are three girls, 3, 6 and 12, and the older one needs a coat badly. She says she hasn't been able to buy her one for a long time. One of the boys, 13 years old, has been ill, too, and needs a warm suit of clothes.

THE TELEPHONE SITUATION

In the engineering of a telephone plant—switchboards, conduits, cables, pole lines and general mechanical equipment—we have always tried to anticipate the growth of a community and provide therefor by advance construction. This course has enabled us to more promptly comply with requirements for service with better construction and at an ultimate expense less than that involved in waiting to meet demands as they arise.

In the war period we were unable to maintain this reserve plant, as the very things we needed for telephone purposes were required and necessarily taken for government purposes. The demand for telephone service did not decrease and our reserve facilities were practically absorbed in meeting it.

As every business man knows, the problems of reconstruction following the war have been acute and prolonged to an entirely unexpected degree. Unusual conditions are prevalent throughout the entire manufacturing, mercantile and social world. The telephone industry has had to meet all the difficulties and handicaps of retarded production, distribution and transportation.

This advertisement is not meant to be one of apology, but one of explanation and even accomplishment. In the face of an unprecedented demand for telephone service in the last few months, hampered by the exhaustion of our reserve plant and difficulty in securing materials, we have added more telephones thus far this year in the State of California and the city of San Francisco than in any similar period of telephone history.

In the city of San Francisco in the nine months ending September 30, 1920, we have added 7134 telephones. In the nine months ending September 30, 1917, we gained 1465 telephones. In the first nine months of 1920 we added 29,357 telephones in the State of California. In the same period of 1917 we gained 8512 telephones.

In the city of San Francisco we have over 4000 orders for telephones which we cannot fill. In the State of California this figure is 21,000. The condition is nation-wide, as is the tremendous demand for telephone service.

The Telephone Company regrets the inconvenience of prospective subscribers. It is as anxious to give service as the patron is to receive it. The Company is doing all in its power to remedy conditions and furnish service in accordance with normal standards.

Colds Banished by Sing-Herbists

Fall is the time of coughs and colds—that destroy one's stamina, cause loss of weight, headaches and are embarrassing and annoying. Such colds and coughs have been successfully treated for thousands of years by the Sing Herb Specialists. The method of treatment is the logical one—the region in which the cold has settled is reached by administration of the proper herb remedies, and the congested condition is at once relieved. Then the organs involved can function properly—and your cold is gone. Besides, you are in a measure protected from the recurrence of the cold. If you are suffering from cough or cold, a trial of the Sing Herb Treatments will convince you. [illegible]

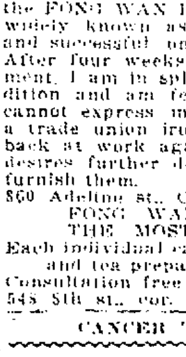
LETTER OF GRATITUDE FROM TRADE UNION IRON WORKER



W. Gorr.

Oakland, Cal.
For about four and one-half years I suffered from Dysentery. I gradually grew worse and finally became so ill that for 3 years I was unable to work. I tried numerous doctors and spent four months at various hospitals without gaining relief. At least five different doctors wanted to cut me open to find out what was the matter but I knew I was physically unable to stand it. I was in despair. My friend asked me to try the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST, widely known as the most reliable and successful on the Pacific coast. After four weeks of his herb treatment, I am in splendid physical condition and am feeling fine. Words cannot express my gratitude. I am a trade union iron worker and am back at work again. If any person desires further details I will gladly furnish them. WILLIAM GORR,

Italia Garibaldi to Tell Of Italy, Her Native Land

Signorina Italia Anita Garibaldi, granddaughter of General Guiseppe Garibaldi, famous patriot and deliverer of modern Italy, arrived in San Francisco last week, on a lecture tour that has taken her to most of the large cities in the United States. She will speak in the First Congregational church, Berkeley, tomorrow evening, delivering her famous lecture "Italy of Yesterday and of Today."

Coming to New York some eight months ago, after four years spent in active service on the Italian front as a Red Cross nurse, followed by eighteen months' [illegible] in various parts of France and Belgium while she was engaged in reconstruction work, Signorina Garibaldi is taking her first vacation since the beginning of the world war.

Signorina Garibaldi, along with her seven brothers, cast her lot with the allies immediately upon the declaration of hostilities in 1914, previous even to Italy's entrance into the war. Her brothers joined France's battle line. She went as a Red Cross nurse. When Italy entered the war, the Garibaldis were relieved from the French service and went to Italy, joined the Italian army and were placed in the thickest of the fighting. She had charge of a hospital at Parfoundru, France, and remained there during the war.

It was while here that she saw her two brothers fight and die heroically for their country and it was here that she and some of her companions, gathering together odds and ends of furniture, and pews from a deserted church, kindled a meagre fire in celebration of the signing of the Armistice.

$47,000 ASKED IN OIL LEASE SALE

Forty-seven thousand dollars compensation is asked by A. L. Irish in a suit just filed against Edwin M. Elam for alleged breach of contract in the sale of a half interest in oil and gas leases.

Herbert, Sophia and Mamie Stewart today filed suit asking that the will of Frank Stewart be annulled on the grounds that he was of an unsound mind when he willed all his property to Leslie Stewart.

Emma B. De Rome is suing Earle A. Rawitzer to recover $20,000 on a promisory note.

The Western Pacific railway has instituted proceedings to condemn 18.7 acres of land in Washington township belonging to Lena Hardwick, wife of Frank A. Hardwick, for a right of way.

Elwood T. Hidden, a minor, through John J. McArthur, filed suit against W. R. Condues for $10,957 damages for injuries sustained by young Hidden when he was run down by Condues' automobile at Sixteenth and Telegraph avenue May 30, 1920.

Two Alleged Narcotic Peddlers Get 50 Days

George Hartmann and Ah Wing were before Police Judge Samuels today on a charge of having narcotics in their possession.

"Were you men selling this stuff to drug addicts?" the court asked

Hartmann shook his head.

Ah Wing moved his lips to frame the whisper:

"Me smokum hop fifty year No selle; to muche likee."

"A hundred dollars or fifty days," said the judge to both.

Arraigned on a similar charge were Robert Spiller and Bettie Spiller. They had drugs in their possession and were found guilty. [illegible] date

OFFERED POISON, HE SAYS.

"I'll give you poison!" was the response John C. Barber received when he asked his wife, Ruth, for money with which to buy his meals he alleges in a suit for divorce filed in the Superior Court. That his wife also went riding with a mythical cousin and refused to cook for him or their two-year-old daughter Ruth, are other allegations made by Barber. They were married January 27, 1917, and separated November 1, 1920.

SHIRTLESS THIEF BLUSHES IN COURT

"You are charged," began Judge Herbert D. Wise in police court today, "with stealing a silk shirt, value $30, and with theft of other articles of wearing apparel. Stand up and plead."

Maury S. Crapps stood up in the prisoners' cage. His coat was turned up at the collar and buttoned up tight about his chest. He shivered and looked thoroughly "fussed."

"Guilty, your honor," he said.

"A thirty dollar silk shirt!" exclaimed Prosecutor Fred Donohue. "That must've been a knock-'em-dead piece of fabric, believe me."

The youth looked more wretched still.

"Let's have a look at the dazzler," said Donohue.

"I—I'd rather not, sir," said the youth, turning crimson red. There were ladies in the courtroom who wondered at that splendid blush.

"Come, come," said Donohue. "I'd like to see a $30 shirt."

"And so would I," said William Hennessey, who wears silk himself every now and then.

The youth squirmed and writhed and slowly unbuttoned his coat, stammering excuses and protests as he did.

Then everybody laughed.

He had no shirt at all!

"I wonder what he did with the evidence," mused Donohue as they led the boy away. "Probably saving it till he gets out of jail."

New Ship Company Uses Oakland Port

Another step in the recognition of Oakland as a world port is made in the announcement of Luckenbach Steamship company, that it now will accept shipments from New York and Philadelphia for Oakland, on through bills of lading [illegible] ship line representative that this step probably will be followed by the docking of Luckenbach ships in Oakland as soon as suitable docking arrangements can be made.

Already Baltimore ships of the Pacific Mail have begun docking in Oakland.

The slump in foreign exports also has been an ill wind that has not blown wholly to Oakland's disadvantage. The desire of the ship companies to expand in the face of lighter traffic has turned attention to home ports and interport line development in which direction Oakland offers tempting advantages.

Denies She Dished Mate's "Puppy Love"

Mrs. Leonora D. Edwards, wife of William H. Edwards, deputy county assessor, admitted to Judge L. S. Church in her suit for divorce today that she broke a plate over her husband's head, but denied that this was because he was making "puppy love" to her.

Edwards said he tried to kiss his wife goodbye on going to work and that she told him she wanted no "puppy love" and offered him the plate instead.

Mrs. Edwards charged that when her husband was ill he told her he longed for a young lady of his acquaintance to care for him.

SILENCE SHROUDS MERGER OF TWO BIG OIL CONCERNS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Official silence shrouded large organization developments in the California oil situation today, developments which already have divorced the Associated Oil Company from the Southern Pacific, and which, it now is reported, are to consolidate that company with the Standard Oil.

Associated and Standard Oil offices were besieged with questioners today.

In the absence of K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard, H. M. Storney, vice-president and general manager, referred inquirers to the Associated and Southern Pacific officials without comment.

At the Associated offices S. P. Henderson, assistant general manager, is in charge, but could not be reached. No statement had been given out there. President Paul Shoupe is in New York with A. C. McLaughlin, vice-president.

Southern Pacific officials pointed merely to the statement some days ago announcing the separation of the Southern Pacific and the Associated.

Notwithstanding the official silence the reports that the Standard was to absorb the Associated in a huge oil merger were generally believed to be well predicated and a formal statement of the plans for the development was awaited, presumably from New York.

He will represent Stanford at the twenty-second annual conference of the Association of American Universities which will be held in New York November 17, 18 and 19.

President Wilbur will return to the campus in about two weeks.

LIVERMORE MAN BACK FROM 'WAR' WITH HIS BRIDE

LIVERMORE, Nov. 9.—Roland Pratt, a former Livermore boy, arrived Sunday from France with his wife, whom he married here, and their little son. He went to France over two years ago and served in the engineering corps. He remained there for over a year after his discharge from the service. He reports that the devastated districts of the north of France are being rapidly rebuilt, that the railroads there are being modernized and that the people are otherwise adopting American ways. The cost of living is not so high there as here, he says. He is undecided as yet as to just where he will locate.

Both Sides Testify in De Charon Suit

To show that the Countess Etta R. De Charon received more than $16,000 from the estate of her father, which she invested in the apartment house properties now worth $105,000 for which the Count Frederic De Charon is suing, Attorney John D. Ripey of Lawson, Mo., brother of the defendant, took the stand in Judge Koford's Court today.

Other witnesses introduced to show that the apartment houses were reputed to be the property of the countess were Miss Hogue, a teacher, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, who said that the count admitted he gave his wife a deed to the property, and Harry Murata, janitor.

To offset testimony against the character of De Charon given by El Mingle, Judge Carl D. Crook and A. M. McDuffie of Kingman, Arizona, the prosecution introduced Ray B. Harris, mining stock broker, who said that the count had a reputation for honesty and integrity.

Tardieu Says Tiger Didn't Oppose Foch

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Andre Tardieu, former French high commissioner to the United States and a member of the French peace delegation, today denied that ex-Premier Clemenceau had opposed the appointment of Marshal Foch as generalissimo of the allied armies. M. Tardieu's statement was called forth by the statement which Marshal Foch delivered against the former premier in the Matin yesterday. M. Tardieu insisted that instead of opposing Marshal Foch, M. Clemenceau had always favored him for the supreme command.

Extension of Versailles Avenue Would Relieve Alameda Traffic Congestion

Map of streets in eastern end of Alameda indicating how extension of Versailles avenue will give access to business district of Alameda from Oakland by way of Fruitvale bridge.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 9.—Considerable interest is being manifested by the Eastbay automobilists in the proposed extension of Versailles avenue to allow another entrance to the Alameda business center from Oakland and Fruitvale. The project is now before the City Planning commission and will be presented to the council for action at its next meeting.

The proposed extension of Versailles avenue was first advocated by the Chamber of Commerce in order to relieve the present traffic congestion between Alameda and Oakland. The new plan calls for extending Versailles avenue two blocks at its northerly end thereby permitting entrance over the Fruitvale bridge, along Versailles avenue to Central avenue and then to the business portion of the city.

The city planning commission investigating the extension consists of L. M. King, chairman; C. C. Adams, William Locke, Al Latham, W. J. Hamilton, H. F. Schlichting, Captain . G. Tibbetts, C. E. Hickok, Burnett Hamilton, C. E. Hewes, R. E. Bosshard and William Varcoe.

At the present time the northeasterly entrance to the city is over a devious course owing to the blocked entrance way. The new scheme will extend Versailles avenue from Buena Vista, across Fernside boulevard, to Harrison street and the bridge.

Clothes Crook Tries New One, Gets Wardrobe

T. Jernigan, 824 Thirty-eighth street, is faced with the painful necessity of completely outfitting himself and family with clothes.

Jernigan hates to contemplate the cost. But the necessity is there. The present Jernigan wardrobe is as bare as a long buried bone.

It came about like this:

During a temporary absence from home, a man drove up in a delivery car. On it was a freshly painted sign:

"Old Clothes Bought—Best Prices Paid."

Neighbors saw the driver get out and go to the Jernigan home. Presently someone opened the door and let the driver in. Within half an hour the man began frequent trips from the Jernigan home to the delivery car at the curb. Each trip his arms were laden with the Jernigan clothes.

"My," said the neighbors, "the Jernigans are selling a lot of old clothes. Must be going to move."

Not that Jernigan knew of, however. It was a new "stall" for a daylight burglary of clothes. Knowing no one to be home the thieves worked it by sending one man into the house to admit the "clothes buyer" and thus avert suspicion while the thefts were going on under the eyes of the law.

Germany Not to Press Plea to Enter League

By NEWTON C. PARKE.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Germany has decided not to press for admittance into the League of Nations at the Geneva meeting beginning November 15, but will await the proposals of President-elect Harding of the United States for a new association of powers, according to information in well-informed diplomatic circles today.

A neutral diplomat was authority for the statement that this decision was prompted partly by fear that Germany's request for admission would be rejected and partly by a desire for closer co-operation with the United States. So far Germany has not sought admission to the League of Nations, but it was understood that Sweden, acting in behalf of Germany, is ready to propose the immediate admittance of Germany. Sweden counted upon the support of Premier Lloyd George, who has been showing an attitude toward Germany more lenient than that of France.

There are indications that Germany's decision is satisfactory to France. The semi-official newspaper Temps has been urging the league not to admit Germany even if the Berlin government applied. This newspaper advocated delay on any German request until the attitude of the United States was finally delivered, which will be some months hence.

Among the nations seeking admittance at the Geneva meeting are Finland, Bulgaria and China.

The Japanese delegation has arrived at Geneva, but despatches from that city say that the Japanese are silent regarding their proposal for racial equality. Belief is growing in Paris that the Japanese will not press their demand for equality of races in view of the immigration negotiations now passing between Tokyo and Washington.

Two Autos in Crash At Grade Crossing

John H. Batcher, manager of the Shaw-Batcher company, his family, and J. B. Simons of Symon brothers, wreckers, were principals in a automobile smash in San Bruno Sunday night, details of which were at first suppressed. Batcher's wife and two daughters were with him when his machine drew up before lowered railway crossing gates at the Bay Shore line in San Bruno. Symon, driving rapidly, approached the crossing without seeing the gates until too late, and his limousine ploughed into the Batcher car, throwing both motors from the road and wrecking them. The victims of the wreck received minor hurts only.

IMPORTS GROW.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The value of manufactured imports from Germany for the ten months of the current year was more than $85,000,000, as compared with $245,000 in 1919.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Where are you going, Wiggie?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, of the bunny rabbit gentleman one morning, as she saw him take his tall silk hat down off the clothes tree, and lift his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch from the piano.

"I am going over to see Susie Littletail," answerer the bunny rabbit gentleman. "You know she has the chicken pox, but I think she must be getting better now. However, she has to stay in bed, so I thought I'd go over and amuse her."

"That is very nice of you," said Nurse Jane. "Here is a little jar of grape jelly for Susie. Give it to her with my love."

"I shall," promised Uncle Wiggily, and away he started from his hollow stump bungalow, carrying the glass of grape jelly in one paw.

"I hope I do not meet any Fuzzy Fox or Bushy Bear, who might take this jelly away from me," thought the bunny, as he hopped along.

However, he had no bad luck, and soon he was at the burrow house where Susie lived. Sammie had gone to school, his own mother having time, now, to put up a lunch for him.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Get it, quick!"

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, I'm so glad you came," called out Mrs. Littletail, as the bunny gentleman came in. "If you are going to stay and amuse Susie, I can go to the store."

"Yes, hop along," said Uncle Wiggily in his most jolly voice. "Susie and I will get along splendidly while you're away."

So Mrs. Littletail hopped to the seven and eight cent store, and Uncle Wiggily sat down near Susie's couch, for she was well enough to be sitting up.

"Shall I read you a Bedtime Story, Susie?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily!" laughed Susie, as she ate some jelly. "You may read me a Couchtime or an Easychairtime Story if you please."

"I'm afraid there aren't any such stories, though perhaps there ought to be," said Uncle Wiggily, also laughing. "But what else would you like me to do, Susie?"

"Oh, I'd love to have a lifter!" cried the little rabbit girl.

"A lifter!" exclaimed the bunny gentleman. "Do you mean a stove lifter, Susie?"

"Oh, of course not, Uncle Wiggily!" and Susie sort of giggled. "I mean a red or green lifter—one that goes away up in the air."

"You don't mean an airship, do you?" Mr. Longears wanted to know. "I hardly think you could play with that."

"No, I mean a toy lifter—a circus balloon—that's it. I couldn't think of the name at first. Please get me a lifter balloon, Uncle Wiggily. I can play with that in the house."

"A lifter balloon you shall have!" cried the bunny. "But will you not be afraid to stay here alone while I go get it?"

"Oh, not at all!" answered Susie.

So Uncle Wiggily hopped himself away, and soon he reached the toy store, where he bought a big red lifter balloon for Susie.

"Keep tight hold of the string, Uncle Wiggily," said the monkey doodle gentleman who sold the bunny the balloon.

"I will," promised Mr. Longears, and, in a little while he was back at the hollow stump bungalow. How Susie's eyes sparkled when she saw the balloon!

"Oh, what a lovely lifter!" she cried, reaching out her paws.

"Be careful to keep tight hold of the string," Uncle Wiggily warned her.

Susie promised that she would, but when Uncle Wiggily was sort of dozing off in his chair, not having need to amuse Susie now that she had the balloon, all of a sudden the rabbit gentleman was awakened by hearing Susie cry:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Get it, quick!"

"Get what?" asked Uncle Wiggily, jumping from his chair.

"My lifter! My balloon! I let go of the string and it's sailing away!" cried Susie.

Mr. Longears looked up just in time to see Susie's toy balloon sailing out of the open window. Out and up it sailed, and Susie was so excited she hardly knew what to do.

"I'll get it for you," promised Uncle Wiggily. "Keep quiet, Susie, or more chicken pox spots may break out on you. I'll get the balloon!"

The bunny rushed from the house. There, caught in the branches of a tree outside, was Susie's lifter balloon. The string was dangling down, but quite out of Uncle Wiggily's reach.

"But if I go up on the porch roof I can get it," thought the bunny. Back into the Littletail house he went.

"Where's my balloon?" asked Susie

"Caught in a tree outside. I'm going out on the porch roof where I can reach the string. I'll climb from the window," said Uncle Wiggily

Out of the window he climbed, and then he was able to reach the string and pull down the balloon. Just then came Mrs. Littletail.

"Where's Uncle Wiggily?" she asked Susie, not having seen where the bunny gentleman was.

"He's up on the roof," the little rabbit girl answered.

"Oh, Susie!! I hope you weren't so peevish that you chased Uncle Wiggily to the roof," said her mother, sorrowful like.

"Oh, of course not!" laughed Susie. "He just went there to pull down my lifter balloon that got away from me."

Then Uncle Wiggily came down with the red toy, and Susie was happy again, and her mother said the bunny gentleman was a dear. So if the postage stamp doesn't stick itself on the roller skate to race down the street with the express wagon, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the nails.

CAMERA MADE NO HIT, BUT SUBJECT DID

"She hit me over the head with her vanity bag; she called me names and consigned me to hot places, and it was the best I could do, and me a pretty strong man, to put her out of my place."

The difficulty was between E. F. Stephenson, photographer, and Natie Bushnell, who sat for a series of photographs and then refused to pay for them.

"They were atrocious," complained the woman. "They were simply awful. I could have done better work myself.

"Not with the subject I had to work on," was the photographer's retort.

Judge George Samuels intervened.

"You say she refused to pay the bill?" questioned Prosecutor William Hennessey.

"Yes, sir; and she disturbed my place, too."

"Defendant is found guilty," said the judge. "Sentence will be passed November 12."

MONKEY CHEWS CAPTOR'S EAR IN KNOCKOUT FIGHT

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—A pet monkey owned by J. B. Baldwin, 422 Macdonald avenue, has considerable respect for the city pound master and the police force today. Frank Meador, the pound master, is nursing a sore ear as the result of an encounter last evening in which Meador and the monkey fought to a finish and the monkey was whipped.

The monkey escaped from the back yard of the Baldwin home and when discovered was running amuck in a chicken yard owned by Paul Beedy on Fifth street. The monkey had pulled the heads off two of Beedy's roosters when the police and the pound master arrived. Giving chase to the monkey they cornered him in a barn. The monkey attached himself to Meador's ear and hair and it was necessary to deal a knock-out blow with a club before the animal could be detached. It required considerable effort to revive the monkey, and the animal was still feeling indisposed this morning after having been returned to his master.

MOTHER CAUSES DIVORCE.

Mrs. Flora Reef was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Henry J. Reef by Judge T. W. Harris today after it was testified that Reef insisted that his mother came first and that he did not prevent her from mistreating the wife. They were married in 1910. Property matters were settled out of court.

SHIPPING BOARD CUTS EXPENSES; SEEKS NEW BIDS

Call for new bids for shipping board supplies on the Pacific coast is to follow the rejection of all bids submitted October 15 as unsatisfactory.

In conjunction with remarks upon the rejection of the bids, Admiral Benson has commented at length on Pacific Coast criticism of the board policy in selling its surplus supplies.

This criticism, declares the Admiral, has arisen apparently out of drastic steps taken by the board to cut down the personnel of its force in the supply and sales divisions.

According to Benson, the board found that it was costing approximately 53 cents for every dollar collected by the sales force and a representative of the Emergency Fleet Corporation was sent west to reorganize the office with the result that 369 heads were lopped off. The efficiency of the organization has not been impaired, it is declared.

As a result of the large proportion of costs found in selling, a new policy which eliminated selling in small lots, was inaugurated and an attempt is now under way, it is indicated, to find a single Pacific Coast bidder willing to take the whole surplus. This action also brought protests from smaller bidders who had been buying advantageously, Admiral Benson indicated.

The value of Pacific Coast property of thhe corporation is fixed by Admiral Benson at approximately $15,000,000.

NEW TEETH TO FIX UP MAN 146 YEARS OLD

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 9.—Turkey's 146-year-old man, Zora Mehmed, reputed to be the oldest man in the world, is ill with indigestion. This is the first time Zora has ever been ill. He complains that it is because of a set of false teeth.

Zora has always been a hamal, that is a carrier of heavy weights, ranging from 200 to 1000 pounds. When he was 45 years of age, that is, during the Napoleonic wars, he tried to lift, on a bet, 500 pounds with his teeth and ruined them. He went along until about 1850 without any teeth and then he obtained a set which has worn out. About 20 years ago he got another set. He claims these teeth have given him indigestion, which has finally landed him in the hospital.

"When I get a new set of teeth I shall be all right again for another half a century," he said.

Until his present illness Zora was employed as a hamal at the Turkish naval base. He was born at Bitlis, in Turkish Armenia, in the year 1774, just before the American revolution, but does not remember that event. Zora has a son aged 90 and a young daughter aged 50. His heart and eyes are still good and he looks like a man of 70. He offers his passport as proof of his age, as well as the birth records in the mosque at Bitlis.

Searles Will Contest Goes to High Court

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—The Supreme court has been appealed to in the contest for the $30,000,000 estate of Edward F. Searles, wealthy recluse of Methuen and New York. Counsel for the will, by which Arthur T. Walker of New York was left the bulk of the estate, have appealed from the decree of the Essex county probate court which allowed as issues for trial by jury charges of Albert V. Searles, a Boston artist and nephew of the testator, that the will was obtained by fraud and undue influence and that the recluse was of unsound mind when it was made. Albert V. Searles was given $250,000 under the will, with the stipulation that he would forfeit all claim if he attempted to contest.

The young wife is said to have joined him at Denver.

OILS, MOTORS AND STEELS ARE AGAIN UNDER PRESSURE

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. — There was little change at the opening of today's stock market from recent unsettled conditions. Pressure against oils, motors and steels was resumed. Rails were mixed, losses ranging from fractions to two points in Nickel Plate, Baltimore and Ohio, Atlantic Coast line of the Missouri Pacific and Pittsburgh and West Virginia, while Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, St. Paul and Reading were firm to strong.

Foreign exchange conditions were more reassuring, the London rate recovering two cents.

Buying of the better class rails and oils and further recovery of British exchange infused stability to the market later, but not before new low records for the year had been made by various speculative issues. Prominent among these were General Motors, Pierce Arrow, Vanadium, International Paper and several tobaccos and sugars. Shippings, steels and equipments rallied 1 to 2 points.

Shares of the cotton carrying roads, notably Louisville and Nashville and Atlantic coast line, were reactionary, but grangers made moderate response to yesterday's excellent crop report. Call money was firm at 9 per cent.

The market became more irregular at midday, investment rails reacting after extending their gains of the morning. Steel, copper and food shares also became heavier, especially the sugars, on reports affecting their dividend status.

Heaviness of U. S. Steel, which registered its lowest price in several years, was the disquieting feature of the latter dealings, when rails and oils also declined. The closing was weak. Sales approximated 1,200,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Rallies in foreign exchange led to higher prices today for wheat. Buying found offerings light. The absence of selling pressure was ascribed largely to the drastic nature of recent declines. Opening quotations, which varied from ¼ off to 1½ advance, with December 1.84 to 1.85½ and March 1.82½ to 1.83½, were followed by gains all around, although interrupted by a transient severe setback.

Subsequently all deliveries fell to new low figures, the lowest in four years. The close was heavy, 6¼ lower to 7½ net lower, with December 1.77 to 1.78 and March 1.75 to 1.75¼.

Corn showed firmness, opening unchanged to ⅜ lower, including December at 81¼ to 81½. The market scored slight gains on most deliveries.

Oats started unchanged to ⅜c lower, May, 57½ to 57½ and then gradually hardening.

Corn—No. 2, mixed, 88@89½; No. 2, yellow, 90@91½.

Rye—No. 2, 1.58½@1.59.

Barley—82@97.

Timothy seed—5.50@6.75.

Clover seed—12.00@20.00.

The close:

Wheat — December, 1.77; March, 1.75.

Corn—December, 73; May, 73.

Oats—December, 49¾; May, 55¼.

Pork—November, 22.20; January, 23.75.

Lard—November, 18.27; January, 15.49.

Ribs—November, 11.00; January, 13.05.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The cotton market was irregular at the opening today, initial prices showing an advance of 11 points to a decline of 4 points. Selling by spot houses early was absorbed by Wall Street interests and professionals who were buying on prospects of a general squeeze in the south within the next day or two. The market thus acted barely steady after the opening but was nervous. Some reports from the south told of increased offerings but offsetting this foreign exchange was steadier. At the end of the first twenty minutes the market although active had not changed materially from initial levels and ruled about 15 to 20 points under last night's close.

The market was weak in the last hour, prices at one time showing net losses of 72 to 97 points under heavy selling by Wall Street and liquidation by early buyers. The close was weak, at a decline of 45 to 60 points.

Spot cotton was quiet today, 60 points lower at 20.15 cents. No sales.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 9.—Spot cotton opened in limited request. Prices steady. Sales, 6000 bales. American middling, 20.25; good middling, 17.60; full middling, 16.50; middling, 15.25; low middling, 11.45; good ordinary, 8.50; ordinary, 7.50. Futures opened steady.

Along the WATERFRONT

Twenty-five vessels entered the Golden Gate during the past twelve hours from different ports off shore and along the coast. Many of the coasters arriving were farbound during the past week. [illegible] feet, on coasters, came in, besides a valuable cargo of furs, whalebone and oil on the power schooner Herman from the Arctic regions, and a large cargo of merchandise and many passengers on the steamer Cuba from Baltimore, arrived.

With the arrival of the Pacific Mail liner Cuba yesterday afternoon, at 4:55 o'clock from Baltimore, Captain Paul C. Frantz was met at the dock by his bride, whom he married at Baltimore on October 9, a few days before sailing. As the rules of the company forbid the masters of its vessels to carry their wives on a voyage, she came here by rail. Among the passengers was Henry White, president of the Cambridge Press, and Edward Towse, a Honolulu publisher and writer. The Cuba will dock at the Oakland municipal dock, where she will discharge a cargo of steel for a local shipyard, and will sail again for Baltimore on December 19 with a full cargo. This is the first vessel of the company to come here for the Pacific Mail Company, which has just established the new route between this and the Atlantic port, via Panama canal.

The steamer West Apaum of the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Company is due this week to dock at the Port Terminal to load a cargo for the Atlantic coast. She will be followed by the steamers Cape Henry, on November 18, and the West Haven about December 1. This company will despatch steamers regularly from this port to the Atlantic ports via Panama canal, and return here with eastern cargoes.

After being on the beach in the Nehalem river for several days, the motor schooner Oregon was floated at high tide yesterday, and is enroute [illegible]. She will take on a load of lumber for Oakland, and after unloading here will be placed on the drydock for inspection.

With the barge Charles Nelson and the four-masted barkentine Aurora, in tow of the steam schooner Saginaw, left here yesterday for Puget sound. The Aurora loads lumber for Australia, while the Nelson and Saginaw take lumber to Oakland. Both craft have been at the Sunset lumber dock where they unloaded lumber.

The salmon pack at Rogue river, Oregon, amounted to 25,000 cases this season, and the canneries have closed down for the season. The last of the pack, 700 cases, reached Marshfield yesterday on the power schooner Tramp, and will be shipped to this port by coasting steamers.

The power schooner Princess Morin arrived at San Diego from Lower California with six tons of live lobsters. Some of the cargo will be shipped to this port while the balance will go to the local canneries at the southern cities. This season's catch of lobsters has been much larger than other years since the season opened a few weeks ago.

The schooner Bertie Minor which arrived here October 19 from Rarotonga with 420 tons of copra to Burns & Philp Company, will sail for the same port tomorrow with a cargo of general merchandise. Capt. V. Chevalier will take the vessel out this trip, Captain Christensen, her old commander, remaining ashore for a vacation.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Custom House: Capt. E. S. Reed, steamer Lyman Stewart; Capt. L. C. Drewson, steamer Brick Coutr; Capt. V. C. Chevalier, schooner Bertie Minor; Capt. J. R. Holland, oil barge No. 93; Capt. John Palm, gas schooner Avon; Capt. J. Aysgough, gas launch Annie.

The column of heights gives the elevation of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey Chart Soundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths, unless preceded by the minus sign or dash (—), when the numbers are subtractive from depths given on the chart.

Note—In the above tabulation of tides, the daily tides are given in the order of their occurrence, commencing with the early morning tide in the left hand column and the succeeding tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur, the fourth occurring the following morning.

Sham Battle and Barbecue Arranged For Celebration of Armistice Day

Big Parade Precedes Program Slated for Thursday

The second annual observance of Armistice day after the great day itself when news of Germany's surrender was flashed over the wires on November 11, 1918, will be marked by a big parade, followed by services and a barbecue at Lakeside park, a sham battle at Idora park, services at the Allied Memorial center, at the Joaquin Miller "Hights," and at Ye Liberty playhouse, where the American Legion musical show "Pep" is running all this week in Oakland.

More than a ton of meat, several hundred pounds of coffee and thousands of loaves of bread have been donated by Oakland dealers for the big barbecue at Lakeside park. While war veterans will be given first place in the "chow" line, the barbecue will be open to the public.

The services at Lakeside park will be held just following the barbecue at the Lakeside bandstand.

JOHNSON MAY ATTEND

Among the speakers will be Mayor John L. Davie, Fred B. Mellman, commander of Oakland Post of the American Legion, and Donald McClure, commander of Argonne Post of the American Legion. The committee in charge of the affair today was awaiting a reply from an invitation tendered Senator Hiram W. Johnson to attend the services as orator of the day.

Four hundred wounded men, who are Federal vocational students in Oakland, have been given the place of honor in the line of march. Those who are able will march with the rest of their comrades, but the larger number of them will ride in automobiles.

Fifty nurses who served with the Red Cross during the war will be another group of honor. Other nurses of the army or navy who can parade have been asked to communicate with Miss Jeanette Spears at the American Legion headquarters.

ORGANIZATIONS LISTED

City Auditor Harry G. Williams today announced the following partial list of organizations which will participate in the parade:

Detachment of troops from the Presidio, detachment from Mare Island, Oakland Post of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Grand Army of the Republic, Allied Flyers, Federal Vocational Training Students, Reserve Officers' Training Corps of the Oakland high schools, Women and Girl Workers of '65, Salvation Army, Young Men's Christian Association, Oakland lodges of Elks, Eagles, Native Sons of the Golden West, Moose and Red Men; British-American War Veterans, United Spanish War Veterans, French, Chinese and Italian colonies, Boy Scouts and Junior Naval Legion.

Other organizations planning to march are requested to notify Chairman Williams at once.

"PEP" RUNS ALL WEEK

"Pep," the American Legion musical show, with 125 local people in its cast, which is running all week at Ye Liberty playhouse, opened last night triumphantly. Jointly with the American Legion, the Allied Flyers' club is represented in the production. A special matinee will be given Armistice day as a feature of the day's events.

As its title indicates, "Pep" is overflowing with the spirit of the day. The music is adapted from the scores of seventeen light operas. Two specialties of the production are a violin obligato by Cliff Durant, played to Mrs. Patricia Henshaw, and by Eddie Drew, red-headed yell leader at the University of California.

The stadium at Idora park will be the battlefield for the sham battle to be staged by the army recruiting service Armistice day afternoon with a whippet tank from the Benicia arsenal. In the center of the field will be a lonely house; from its roof and from its windows doughboys will try to prevent the attack of the tank. But the tank will gradually creep up on the dwelling, topple it over and scatter its defenders.

STARTS AT 2:30 P. M.

Surrounding the house will be barbed wire entanglements, trenches and other defenses, all of which will be overcome by the tank. The battle will start at 2:30 p. m.

A list of the names of 140 of Oakland's hero dead will be placed in a steel vault for preservation at the Allied Memorial center at special Armistice day services to be held at the center tomorrow. The center is at 546 Lakeshore boulevard.

At these services Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church will be the speaker and Miss Rosalie Harrison will be soloist. Deputations from the army, navy, Red Cross, Salvation Army and other patriotic bodies will be present. The services will take place at 11 a. m.

The Joaquin Miller club will make a pilgrimage to the Joaquin Miller "Hights," where they will hold services in honor of Joaquin Miller's birthday anniversary. The birthday date is November 10.

POET TO BE SPEAKER

The celebration will be held in front of the Abbey. Charles Keeler, Berkeley poet and author of "Sequoia Sonnets," will be principal speaker. Mrs. Henry Wetherbee, called by Miller "The Princess of the Pines," will give her reminiscenses of the poet.

Mrs. Abbie Miller, widow of the poet, will recite several of the poems, and Miss Juanita Miller, the poet's daughter, will entertain visitors with songs and dancing.

For the lower end of the county the celebration is jointly in the hands of the Pleasanton and Livermore posts of the American Legion. A dance will be held tomorrow evening in Pleasanton, exercises in Pleasanton Thursday morning, and a grand ball in Livermore Armistice day evening.

A parade will form in Pleasanton at 10 o'clock, in which members of the Livermore and Pleasanton American Legion posts will march together with a delegation of Livermore Boy Scouts.

DANCE AT LIVERMORE

The exercises will be held in Foresters' hall, with Judge W. H. Donahue, who recently returned from a trip to Europe, as speaker. At the services Victory medals will be presented to service men who have applied for them. At noon an army feed will be served from a rolling kitchen, with Jean Volponi, veteran cook, in charge. The dance in Livermore in the evening will be held at the Sweeney opera house.

In Berkeley tomorrow evening the American Legion post will take an active part in the ceremonies to be held at the Burbank school, when twenty-six aliens, who have completed the Americanization courses of the Berkeley public schools, will be awarded their citizenship papers.

A feature of the evening will be the appointment of a "sponsor" for every new citizen, whose duty it will be to look after his ward and furnish him with whatever additional citizenship information he may require.

The newly-organized band of the Berkeley post will play at the services.

All schools of the county will close on Armistice day, and all classes and offices of the University of California will be closed. The banks of the county all have announced their intention to close in observance of the day, and many of the business houses of the district will also be closed.

JAPANESE CLAIMS HE WAS WORSTED IN TWO FIGHTS

Appeals to Police For Protection, Saying Life Getting Far Too Strenuous.

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.— Claiming that he was kicked and hit with rocks by Fred Grace, clerk, residing at 1905 Virginia street, A. Murakami, Japanese, of 1919 Francisco street, called on the police for protection last night.

Murakami claims that a week ago Grace and a companion sat behind him on a train coming from San Francisco and laughed at him. When he alighted from the car at Virginia street and Shattuck avenue, Murakami declares he asked Grace if he was directing his laughter at him, to which the latter is declared to have replied: "You can take it as you like."

A fight then ensued in a vacant lot, the Japanese said, during which he declares Grace struck him with rocks and kicked him. The same offense was repeated again last night, says Murakami, when both he and Grace were returning to Berkeley on the same train.

Grace denies the charges, declaring that Murakami started an argument over the veracity of reports on the Japanese situation appearing in the press of the bay section. Murakami, he states, struck the first blow, hitting him with his cane. Patrolman J. J. Fisher detailed on the case could find no witnesses to either argument and advised Murakami his recourse was in swearing out a warrant against Grace.

Send Picture of Your Boy or Girl Prodigy to The, Tribune

SAMUEL RZESZENSKI, eight-year-old chess player, who has beaten leaders in the game in Europe and will seek to conquer America.—Underwood & Underwood Photo.

How many prodigies are there in Oakland?

Is there a little prodigy in your home?

In a day when boys and girls are astounding their elders by the ease with which they translate Sanscrit, kick a football, or draw a bow across the sobbing 'cello, it is to be assumed that Oakland has its proportion. The TRIBUNE would like to introduce the youthful genius of the city to the slower-going adults, to give the budding prodigy a prod toward fame, and to supply that inspiration which comes with the publication of meritorious work.

Send the picture of your prodigy to The TRIBUNE, a description of what it is that he or she does exceptionally well, a sample of the work if possible, and the introduction is made.

Proof that Oakland has some genuine prodigies is shown in the report of school work here during the past year when special attention was given to more than 1300 especially gifted children. These are the statistics that remove the assumption and supply the proof. The infantile genius is here and it is time to remove the bushel from his aspiring light.

Today, if you please, meet Samuel Rzeszenski, a boy with a cane and a stupendous knowledge of chess. Sam arrived in this country from Europe where he has defeated leaders in the game in Holland, Germany, Belgium and France. He is 8 years old and can play more than that many games at once and defeat each of his opponents. Sammy is going to play in this countrq. Except for the fact he carries a cane he is a lot like other kids.

GIRL SPEEDER TO HAVE NO LICENSE FOR ONE MONTH

Alameda Minister Runs Foul of Berkeley Parking Law And is Fined.

BERKELEY, Nov. 9. — Miss Zelma Dainty, 19-year-old college girl, will be forced to walk to her classes as the result of Judge Robert Edgar suspending her license for thirty days. Miss Dainty was charged by Officer H. P. Lee with going 30 miles on College avenue. She pleaded guilty this morning, declaring that she was late to class. She resides at 2522 Hillegass avenue.

Rev. Henry Shires, Alameda minister, paid a fine of $10 for parking his automobile within fifteen feet of a fire hydrant at Bancroft way and College avenue. He resides at 1718 Alameda avenue.

Shires' violation of the law was reported by Mayor Louis Bartlett. His car was parked directly in front of a hydrant in a congested residential district. Ignorance of the law was given by the minister for an excuse for his action.

FERRY DRIFTS AN HOUR

More than 1000 commuters and casual passengers on the Southern Pacific ferry Newark drifted for an hour Monday evening on the bay. Tugs towed the vessel to the Alameda pier. Engine trouble caused the breakdown.

Neglect of Teeth Is Positive Uncleanliness

Decay in teeth is disease breathed out and offered to others. It takes constant watchfulness to insure not giving offense unconsciously.

When a tooth is badly decayed, Dr. Barber restores the crown of the tooth to its natural shape, building it up with porcelain so skillfully and matching the color and polish so truly that the repair cannot be detected.
